MURDEROUS TRIO

Triangular Brawl in a Chicago Sporting Resort in Which Gun and Dirk Plays Figured.

Col. Chinn, Kentucky Horseman; Tom Mulqueen, a Denver Gambler, and Fred Hayes, a Monte Thrower.

They Wanted to Kill Each Other and Drew Long Knives and Wicked Looking Guns.

Friends Seized Them and Prevented a Tragedy, But the End is Probably Not Yet.

CHICAGO, June 4.—It has just become known that within the past twenty-four hours Col. Jack Chinn, the Kentucky horseman and slayer, Tom Mulqueen, the Denver gambler and killer, and Ned Hayes, the monte thrower and bad man, met in a triangular brawl in which gun and dirk plays figured.

That there was no murder committed is due in part to the scene of combat, a well known sporting resort on Monroe street, which at the time of the row was filled with the sporting friends of all three of the belligerents, and their prompt interference alone stayed the flow of blood for the nonce.

That the end is not yet, and that ere the suspension of hostilities, one of the three will bite the dust, is conceded by the men who know the character of the combatants.

Chinn and Hayes have long been bitter enemies for reasons known only to themselves, but had not met before for nearly ten years. Last week Chinn returned to Chicago from the Pacific coast, where he had been for a few days after Hayes got into town. The latter grabbed Chinn dropped into the Monroe street resort where, with his backs toward the Kentucky killer, Tom Mulqueen and Ned Hayes were engaged in a heated discussion about Denver affairs. Chinn, as soon as he espied Hayes, made for him.

As he reached his side the discussion between Mulqueen and Hayes had warmed up to such a pitch that the lie was passed by Hayes to the man from Denver. Col. Chinn heard it. "Kill the rat, Tom," the Kentuckian shouted, drawing a murderous 44-caliber weapon from his pocket and passing it to Mulqueen over the bar. The latter grabbed for the firearm and drew back to let it go, but a dozen arms soon entwined the two of the Denverite and the gun was wrested from his grasp.

A dozen more took hold of Hayes and dragged him out of the saloon, while a number of Chinn's friends forced the man from Harrodsburg into a heated room where he was held pinioned till Hayes was gotten out of the way. Hayes' wrath knew no bounds and while being dragged out of the place he vowed that he would even matters with Chinn.

Friends tried to calm the maddened man. He wiggled away from his friends, however, and bolted for a weapon of some sort with which to kill Chinn. Hayes soon returned with a dirk as long as his arm under his coat. Col. Chinn was standing at the bar surrounded by a crowd of his friends. Hayes made straight at him, but was intercepted within five feet of the Kentuckian.

Chinn saw the glistering knife Hayes had drawn from the folds of his coat, and immediately went for his lone remaining weapon, a long narrow blade which he drew from a niche, and probably prepared for it, in he making of his dress shirt, back of the collar. Both men were being firmly held. They struggled fiercely to free themselves, but the combined strength of their captors was too overpowering.

SHE WANTS A DIVORCE.
An Old Woman Will Sue for Divorce from Her Youthful Husband.

NEWARK, N. J., June 4.—Something of a sensation has been caused by the announcement that Mrs. Walter H. Bosch, formerly Mrs. Alfred Lister, would begin proceedings for a divorce from her husband, who is 25 years old. The charge will be based on the alleged intimacy of the husband with the plaintiff's married daughter, Mrs. Emma Sanford.

Mrs. Bosch is 70 years old, and after her first husband either fell or jumped overboard from a vessel bound for the West Indies in 1890, she married Mr. Bosch, who had been her husband's secretary. The marriage took place in 1892. Mrs. Lister says she married Bosch because he knew all the details of her husband's business, which was extremely complicated. She weighs over 200 pounds, while Bosch is small, slender and of light weight.

DESTRUCTIVE WIND STORM.
St. Louis, June 4.—Advices from Tuxpan, Mexico, state that a terrific windstorm passed over the village of Yahuaclica, about seventy miles back in the country, one day last week, destroying a number of store buildings and dwellings and killing ten persons and wounding fifteen others.

McGinn Will Retire.
CHICAGO, June 4.—Congressman McGinn will not be a candidate for re-election. This week he will take charge of the Twenty-second street electric line. Mr. McGinn is president of the company which is to operate the road under a lease.

Marriage in Paris.
PARIS, June 4.—Lady Victoria Blackwood, the youngest daughter of the British ambassador, the marquis of Dufferin, was married today to the Hon. William Lee Plunkett, eldest son of Lord Plunkett, archbishop of Dublin. The ceremony of the bridegroom officiated. Lord Dufferin gave his daughter away.

Refused to Quash It.
MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—Judge Russell in the district court today refused to quash the indictment for embezzlement against William S. Sweeney, former vice president of the defunct Northwestern Guaranty Loan company.

BOARD OF ARBITRATION.

Col. Kiefer Has a Scheme for Settlement of Labor Disputes.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A plan for adjusting labor differences through a national board of arbitration has been formulated by Representative Kiefer, of Minnesota. The bill provides for the appointment by the president of three commissioners of arbitration.

The commissioner of labor is made ex-officio a member of the arbitration board. The governor of a state in which a labor controversy occurs is also a member. The board of arbitration thus consists of five members.

In order to secure the offices of the board, application is first made to the governor, the form of application being set forth in the bill. The application may be made by employers or employees. In the latter case it must be in behalf of at least fifty employees of an organization having 1000 members throughout the country.

If the governor is satisfied that a conflict exists which cannot be amicably settled, he applies to the national board of arbitration to take charge of the question. The board assembles in the state capitol, hears evidence and arbitrates the difference in the usual manner. Its decisions are made as binding as those of a federal court of law. Provision is also made for enforcing the decision of arbitration. Pending the hearings of the board the governor is clothed with powers to preserve the peace and suppress a strike.

Mr. Kiefer appreciates that the state right argument will be raised against the bill. He has conferred with a number of lawyers, however, and he is hopeful of having the bill conform to all constitutional requirements.

FAILURE AT ST. JOSEPH.
A Large Grocery House Gone Into a Trustee's Hands.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 4.—Steele & Walker, the largest wholesale grocery house on the Missouri river, has gone into the hands of a trustee. The failure grew out of the recent failure of A. N. Schuster & Co. Liabilities are large but not yet known.

Great crowds are around the First National bank and Central Savings bank, both of which are largely owned by the men interested in the Schuster and Steele & Walker failures. Both banks are holding time deposits.

Later—the liabilities of the firm are placed at $250,000. It is claimed that the assets will exceed this amount by a good sum. In making the assignment nothing was reserved except the homestead of Mr. Steele, both of the Walters and their residence property to secure the liabilities. This firm was composed of D. M. Steele, S. A. Walker, J. W. Walker and has been regarded as one of the strongest in the West. D. M. Steele having been rated at from $750,000 to $1,000,000.

TO STRAIGHTEN A TANGLE.
South Dakota's Apportionment Law to be Tested.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—A Watertown, S. D., special to the Journal says: Doane Robinson has begun mandamus proceedings in the supreme court against Auditor Mahoney of Codington county, to test the validity of the apportionment act.

After one legislature had been elected and served under it, a fatal defect was discovered in that a majority of the whole senate had not voted for it. Some counties propose to hold elections under it and other, under the old law. These proceedings are brought to straighten out the tangle.

REVOLUTION IN CHINA.
Imperial Troops Defeated Several Times by Banditti.

LONDON, June 4.—A dispatch to the Times from Tientsin, China, says that the revolution in the provinces of Kirin and Manchuria is extending greatly. Mounted banditti, armed with repeating rifles, have defeated the imperial troops in every engagement and have occupied several important positions, including the Sarsung arsenal in which 100,000 rifles were stored.

The situation is so alarming that Viceroy Li Hung Chang is gathering a large force of troops to suppress the rebellion.

DORAN WILL NOT AGREE.
Nothing Yet Settled About the St. Cloud Registration.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—[Special to The Herald.]—Mr. Baldwin says a compromise is being urged from Stearns county for registration of the St. Cloud land office, but Doran will not agree upon any candidate who is satisfactory to him.

Maj. Baldwin expects this week to call up and pass his Chippewa pine land bill, and also anticipates a favorable report on his bill to dam the Mississippi at Grand Rapids.

Bank Wreckers Sentenced.
INDIANAPOLIS, June 4.—Judge Baker in the United States court overruled motion for a new trial of the wreckers of the Indianapolis National bank and sentenced F. A. Coffin to ten years and Percival Coffin to five years in the penitentiary. The sentence of Albert S. Reed was suspended. It is believed he will not be sent up. T. P. Haughey, president of the late bank, will be sentenced tomorrow.

Murders Surrendered.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 4.—John Stanley and Clarence Cox, accused of one of the bloodiest crimes in the annals of Tennessee, surrendered themselves to Sheriff Fox at the county jail. They are charged with killing Henry Snodderly, a rich Union county farmer, 90 years of age, and his wife on the night of Feb. 8.

The Second Batch of Testimony Taken Concerning the Operations of the Sugar Trust.

All the Democratic Members of the Finance Committee Deny the Trust Dictated the Tariff.

Secretary Carlisle Gives an Emphatic Denial to the Story Circulated as to His Actions.

Congressman Warner Says He Was Told the Sugar Trust Would Defeat the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Senator Gray, as chairman of the special committee to investigate the alleged operations of the sugar trust in connection with the tariff legislation, today submitted to the senate the second batch of testimony taken before that committee concerning the examination of all the Democratic members of the finance committee, including Senators Voorhees, Jones, Harris, Vest, McPherson and Mills, and Secretary Carlisle and Hon. John Dewitt Warner of the house of representatives.

Senator Mills denied all knowledge of the reported secret interview of Secretary Carlisle on the sugar question, and said that he had never seen or heard of Mr. Carlisle since he had left the senate. THE Center of ATTRACTION

Is the Glass Block Store

It isn't everybody that can make a success of the Dry Goods business. Some natural advantages must be possessed. Without these essentials you might as well expect to kindle a fire with brick-bats as to make and hold a trade—grapes don't grow on thorns here more than in Judea—but the tree is still known by its fruit. Just now the people seem to have "Caught On" to the fact that the bargains we offer can not be matched anywhere or ANYWHERE, and best of all, we know it. The markets of America are open to us first. Then come the smaller dealers at the Head of the Lakes. The outlet is at the Glass Block.

WAS HYPNOTIZED

Signor Perugini is Sizzled Up by Lillian Russell as Anything But a Model Husband.

The Prima Donna Wife Tells About Her Woes and Vainly Regrets the Recent Marriage.

Up to Date Lillian Has Had Three Husbands and She Explains Why She Married.

She Has Longed for a Homelike Man, But Has Not Succeeded in Getting One.

Lillian Russell has caused a stir in New York by a letter to the dramatic editor of the New York Press, in which she gives her reasons for desertion of Perugini. The letter makes interesting reading. Miss Russell says:

"I blame only myself. This frank confession should soften if not avert criticism. In the discussion over the present unhappy turn of my domestic affairs many people believe that the fault is mine. They are right. I made the mistake, and I am suffering its just punishment. It matters not that Signor Perugini is ten years older than myself, and that while he was gathering experience of a social as well as artistic nature in Europe and our own country, I was diligently studying my profession.

"My first marriage was an error, which has kept repeating itself most miserably ever since. I was wedded at 16 to a man much older than myself and of wholly dissimilar nature. I advanced beyond and separated from him. The incongruity of the union is proven by comparison of his present position in music and that which I have been.

"My second marriage was congenial. My husband was an artist, a composer of ability, and with tastes entirely in unison with my own. We were very happy together, and the ambition of a life was to be a husband and wife who lived as I could perform. This was an ideal union, which lasted for three years without a cloud to mar the perfect sunshine of felicity. But one day my husband arrived in England to make arrangements for my season in London. He was immediately arrested on a charge of bigamy. The shock of finding that he had another wife and that our union was illegal was very great. I obtained a divorce and have never seen him since.

"No woman needs the protection of a husband so much as one who has earned a reputation in comic opera. However assiduous we may be in our devotion to art, it is the fashion of the times to make light of the singers of light music. Realizing this fact, I listened with an attentive ear to the overtures of Signor Perugini. I was attracted to him by what seemed to be his spirituality. He appeared to be an ideal man, a gentleman, and one whose every instinct was toward art. I suppose that I was hypnotized. I can explain it by no other argument. After eight years of loneliness I fancied that I found a sympathetic companion. His friends, Mr. Lillian Nordica, Mrs. Agnes Booth and many others, were constant in their praises of him, and their congratulations to me. The night before our wedding I sat many hours meditating gravely over the step I was about to take. But the eulogies of his friends and the grace of his manner finally overcame my better judgment, and so we were married.

"Without alluding to matters that can be more properly discussed by my lawyers than by myself, I wish to explain certain circumstances which must excuse, if not condone, my inability to further recognize as a husband one who has forfeited all claims to that title.

"Allow me to preface this statement by declaring by belief that when a woman marries a man who is her superior in mental, in social and in professional renown and in the ability to earn money, reasonableness, as well as the natural affection of her sex, should require her to render him obedience and respect. But when a woman takes a husband who is her inferior in professional reputation, intelligence and income, she has, it seems to me, certain rights which she ought to regard with consideration.

"On this question Signor Perugini and I differed immediately. Forgetting that he had had no engagement for several years and I employed a my company, that he had no income except what was paid him by my manager, that he had no special reason for existing, this pretty gentleman at once asserted the privileges which, if he had been worthy the name of husband, I should have gladly yielded to him. I was soon to learn that I had married a bitter old to avoid that seemed irreparable. But to avoid scandal I should have been a kindly and considerate sister to him had not developed characteristics which were not to be endured by any woman of spirit.

"Our honeymoon was begun in strife. At breakfast next morning after the wedding, Signor Perugini laid down the law to me in an imperative and offensive manner. He insisted that I should cut the acquaintance of my friends and cultivate the society of his associates. He declared that the household should be conducted in future according to his wishes, with no reference to my own. He demanded the discharge of all my servants, including my maid, who has been in my service for nine years, and who is absolutely invaluable to me. Signor Perugini and I disagreed on these points; but for the sake of that domestic peace, which no one prizes more than myself, I did not openly contradict his wishes, but temporized. In the practice of complete rupture by diplomacy, my life was completely wrecked. Signor Perugini had been a bachelor so long that he acquired the set—not to say cranky—ways of men who have never been brought under the civilizing influences of women. He had fixed habits and a testy temper. He was unreasonably jealous. In the practice of her art a prima donna is compelled to smile on the stage upon performers who, by the librettist's directions make love to her. Signor Perugini disclosed an appalling lack of art and common sense by objecting to methods which, in order to carry out my part in the opera, I was forced to adopt.

"Further than that, he never complimented my performance, but was insistent that I should praise his own. Now, I do not care for flattery. If I do, my best in singing and acting, and the effort is rewarded by applause from the audience. I am satisfied without seeking further commendation from my companions in the company. I did not want Signor Perugini's praises, but I did object to his constant solicitude for compliments on his style of singing, which, having an acute sense of the humor, I could not but find ridiculous. At the end of each act he would give me credit to me for the applause of the audience, but would always ask: 'What do you think of my singing? Wasn't it very fine? To which I felt compelled to say: 'No, Jack, it was not.' This made him angry, and Signor Perugini is angry. He has a nasty temper.

"I had an annoying experience of this in Philadelphia during our recent engagement. After the performance one night some friends who I have known for many years gave me a congratulatory supper in the hotel parlor. There were about a dozen guests, gentlemen and ladies, and among them was Signor Perugini. He was, of course, invited, but his place at the end of the table remained empty. Embarrassed by this discourtesy from my husband, I immediately asked the waiter if he knew where Signor Perugini was. He replied that my husband had told him to take Signor Perugini to the cafe. I sent a request that he should join us, and the waiter returned with the statement that Signor Perugini had told him to say that he had been sent to the cafe, and that he would make their acquaintance. That night he came into my apartments and acted in a brutal manner, which destroyed my last sentiment of respect for him. In extremely and natural indignation at his conduct I intimated to him that he could no longer maintain even the semblance of marital companionship. The next day when we returned to New York he must not come to my home, but would be compelled to take up quarters elsewhere. Whereat he became still more angry, and in a manner tried to assault me and shrieked that he hated me from the first.

"I have said reason to believe this statement, for now that it is all over I am informed that Signor Perugini declared at the Players' club, before a public company, that he intended to enter my opera organization only to marry me, and that his object in that marriage was merely to obtain a permanent engagement at a good salary.

"This is a plain, and to me a very unpleasant statement of the facts that have forced me to separate from a husband in whom I was much deceived.

"It was my own fault. I blame myself for everything, but for nothing. I made a grievous mistake and I have been sorely punished for it. But I would wish the public to know that I was encouraging and sympathetic toward all my efforts to provide it with musical entertainment for many years, should know that I tried my best to be a good wife to a man who has no right to marry any woman. Yours respectfully, "LILLIAN RUSSELL."

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

West End Woman Wants a Widow Prohibited From Writing Sweet Letters to Her Husband.

Rev. Mr. Keithley, the New Presbyterian Pastor, Filled the Pulpit Yesterday Morning and Evening.

He Will be Ordained on Friday—Church Social With Military Drill by Young Ladies.

There is trouble again in the Finlander settlement at the west end of town which threatens to dissolve the marital relations of a once happy family in that vicinity. Mrs. Emma Hill has a grievance against Mrs. Maggie Hendrickson, a blooming widow whom Mrs. Hill claims is attempting to steal the affections of her husband. She states in proof of her charge that she has in her possession certain love letters which she found in her husband's pocket, written by the fair hand of her rival. She says that they are very sweet, and express too much fondness for a casual acquaintance and she wants a stop put to this sugary correspondence, before the wily widow completely captures the heart of her liege lord.

Mrs. Hill was at police headquarters early this morning looking for Judge Himelbach to see if something could not be done to adjust the matter and restore harmony in her household.

Filled the Pulpit Yesterday. Rev. Mr. Keithley, the new pastor-elect assumed his duties at the Presbyterian church yesterday, filling the pulpit morning and evening. On Friday morning at 2 o'clock the Duluth Presbytery will meet in Westminster church for ex-ordination of the new pastor and in the evening of the same day his ordination and installation will follow, conducted by Rev. A. W. Ringland, D.D., A. H. Carver and others.

Presbyterian Entertainment. The Presbyterian Sunday school entertainment has been postponed from Wednesday until Saturday evening of this week. Capt. Williamson is drilling Company N, consisting of sixteen young ladies for the occasion and the militia boys will have to look to their laurels, for the young ladies are to be very proficient in marching tactics.

West Duluth Brawl. Miss Gene Shuck, a lady 27 years old, sister of Mrs. Oscar Buckle, died on Saturday of typhoid fever. The deceased was a professional nurse of large acquaintance in the city. The remains were yesterday taken to the Garden City for burial.

Dame Kumor has it that a prominent young druggist, of West Duluth, will pay homage to the god of Hymen some time next month and bid adieu to his bachelor friends.

Invitations are out for the Columbia ball to be given on June 13.

John Winnick, the contractor, finished his contract on the Gottwald & Hanni building today.

Hon. E. E. Farnum, of Warsaw, N. Y., was a guest of Scott & Clafson on Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Boerner left today for Monticello to spend a month with relatives and friends.

A. F. Olund and wife go to Minneapolis this week for a short visit.

Cash Bagley is expected to return from Chicago this week.

John Brady went to Barnum today to purchase a farm.

Dr. Barberick, wife and child, of Boston, is a guest of his brother, Timothy Barberick.

L. Neuman left on the Omaha this afternoon for Chicago, called there by the death of a child.

Mrs. E. Hough, of Barnum, spent Sunday in West Duluth among friends.

Dr. Forbes delivered his lecture on Abraham Lincoln at the Methodist church last evening in the presence of a large audience.

WHEAT SLIGHTLY HIGHER.

The Market Opened Strong and Ruled Steady Until Afternoon.

The wheat market opened strong here this morning, with prices 1c in advance of Saturday's close. The wheat visible report showed a larger decrease than expected, it being 1,385,000 bushels, and the market was more encouraging. The English visible, however, showed an increase of 1,342,000 bushels. The market held steady throughout the morning, with trading in futures about equally divided between July and September and with good business in cash stuff. Mills took large quantities of wheat to arrive and out of store, the former at a premium of 15c over the latter. The best business done in cash wheat for many days. Shortly after noon the market showed signs of weakness and closed off closing higher than Saturday for cash and July, 1c higher for September and 1/2c higher for December. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard cash 55 1/2c, June 55 1/2c, July 55 1/2c, September 55 1/2c, December 55 1/2c, No. 2 northern, cash 54 1/2c, No. 3 do, 54 1/2c, No. 1 northern, 54 1/2c, No. 2 do, 54 1/2c, No. 3 do, 54 1/2c, No. 1 white, 54 1/2c, No. 2 do, 54 1/2c, No. 3 do, 54 1/2c.

CRIPPLE CREEK ALIBIS DENIED

Reign of Terror Exists There and Women and Children Going to Places of Safety.

General Belief That the Deputies Will Advance Against the Strikers on Bull Hill Tomorrow.

Gen. Palmer, Who Has an Established Reputation as a Fighter, Will Lead the Deputies.

Sheriff Radford, of Los Animas County, Made a Demand Upon Governor Waite for Troops.

Cripple Creek, Col., June 4.—A skirmish took place today near Midland toll gate between three miners and five deputies, who were sent out from the main body at Divide as pickets. Several shots were fired on both sides. Jack David, a miner, was shot in the arm and a deputy was seriously wounded. The deputies were forced to retreat. Besides taking Henry E. Woods, president of the Victor Townspeople company, into custody, the strikers last night seized Clarence N. Finch, county superintendent of schools, and D. Watkins, a Colorado Springs school teacher, and they are now held prisoners on Bull hill as hostages for President Caldwell or any other miners who may be arrested.

A reign of terror exists in this city. Women and children are being sent to places of safety. The general belief is that the deputies will advance against the strikers on Bull hill today or tomorrow. It is reported that Gen. Palmer, who built the Denver & Rio Grande railroad and has an established reputation as a fighter, will be in command of the deputies' army, with Charles Adams in direct charge of the cavalry. The deputies are making a threatening demonstration today by the arrival of several hundred coal miners from Fremont county and now numbers about 1300 men.

The deputies are still in camp at Divide and it is not expected any more will be made against the miners on Bull hill for twenty-four hours, although owing to the reticence of those in command nothing definite can be learned.

Preparations for war are going rapidly forward at Colorado Springs, arms and ammunition being sent in daily. One hundred thousand rounds of ammunition shipped from Chicago Saturday, arrived today. Rifles and revolvers are coming in daily, and further shipments are expected from Chicago tomorrow.

Sheriff Radford, of Los Animas county, has made a demand upon Governor Waite for troops. He says 500 coal miners are making threatening demonstrations at the camps in that county, and that his forces are inadequate to control them.

CRITICAL IN INDIANA. The Miners Say No More Coal Cars can Go Through.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 4.—A special to the News from Shelbyville, Ind., says that the striking miners are bringing in reinforcements from outlying mines as fast as signals. They expect to have 500 men there by the middle of afternoon and say no more coal cars shall be allowed to go through.

The state militia under command of Gen. McKee is at Sullivan, eight miles away, having gone there by orders of Sheriff Mills. The situation is regarded as critical.

Obituaries. ROSCHKE, June 4.—Professor William Roschke, a prominent coal economist, is dead. Professor Roschke was born at Hanover Oct. 21, 1818.

BOSTON, June 4.—Ex-Governor Charles Collins, of Rhode Island, died today in Brookline at the residence of his brother-in-law, the Rev. Samuel W. Duncan, D.D.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—A dispatch received by the state department from La Libertad announces that the revolutionists in San Salvador have triumphed completely, and that President Ezeta has fled the country.

Gen. Grosvenor Renominated. CINCINNATI, June 4.—A Times-Star special from Athens, Ohio, says: Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor (Rep.) was today renominated by acclamation by the Eleventh district convention.

Lowrie Bell's Successor. WASHINGTON, June 4.—The president today sent the following nomination to the senate: Charles Neilson, of Maryland, and second assistant postmaster general, vice Lowrie Bell, resigned.

For sale at what I call a sacrifice: 5-room house upon the corner of Sherman street and Togo, at Lester Park, at $1500, $1000 cash, balance in monthly payments or to suit. Geo. H. Crosby, 314 Palladio Building.

Commenced the Examination. C. A. Towne, Rev. A. W. Ryan and H. T. Abbott were recently appointed a committee to examine into the curriculum of the Duluth high school for the purpose of seeing if it ranks high enough to be placed on the accredited list of the university of Michigan at Ann Arbor. The committee this morning commenced that task.

TROUBLES IN WEST VIRGINIA. Militia Officers in Consultation With the Governor.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 4.—The drum house at the Davis mines on Morris creek, thirty miles above here, has been burned by strikers. A trestle on the Chesapeake & Ohio was burned Saturday night.

The officers of the Second regiment of state militia are in consultation with the governor and adjutant general in regard to the situation at Winifrede. Trouble is hourly expected, as the Winifrede miners intend they will not quit work and the strikers are determined to compel them to do so.

BROKE HER CRANK PIN. Steamer Orion is Laid up and Will be Until Sunday.

The Booth steamer, Hiram R. Dixon, is in port with a broken crank pin. The accident was first noticed this side of Two Harbors about 1 o'clock Sunday morning as the steamer was nearing Duluth. Repairs will be made by Sunday, when the boat will resume regular trips.

In the meantime the steamer S. B. Barker will take the Duluth trips, and the Barker's runs. Capt. Hector, of the Dixon, will command the Barker while she is on the north shore route.

Imman's tug Bob Anderson went into commission today. She has been thoroughly repaired from stem to stern, and a new rudder put in.

The wheat rate remains the same, but the business being done at 2 1/2 cents to Buffalo. The lumber and ore rates remain stationary with good business doing.

The Neosho is in for fuel. While here she will be inspected. She will carry a cargo of ore from Two Harbors.

For some time all the coal being received in the East came from the West Virginia mines, from which place Cleveland was shipping quite a large amount. Now, however, the source of supply has been shut off by the threats of the striking miners.

One boat Cleveland has gone up to 33 1/2. One boat was charged that amount for coal in Duluth, while another was charged 33 for the same kind of coal.

INCREASE IN THE LIST.

Business in the Police Court Lively This Morning.—Deaths in the majority of the cases were caused by the fact of Judge Powell newly sans whiskers, they having disappeared over Sunday. Andrew Newton was up on a charge of beating A. J. Almsed out of a board bill. The accused pleaded not guilty and was placed under $50 bonds to appear for trial June 6.

Joseph Dolan, charged with disorderly conduct, failed to appear, whereupon bail in the sum of $10 was declared forfeited. Lavina and Obadiah Emberson pleaded not guilty to similar charges. They put up $10 bail until this afternoon when their trials come off. On motion of the city attorney, the charge against Carl and John Nickel, of maliciously destroying property, was dismissed.

William Hunter, John McLean and James Lynch were sent up ten days each for drunkenness. Henry Johnson, Ole Lindberg and James McFarlane received suspended sentences for similar offenses. G. P. Myers, second offense, went up for thirty days. Barney Lawler, third offense, will have to remain in jail sixty days. By that time the mosquitoes will not bother much.

THE DISTRICT COURT

June Term Will Open Tomorrow Morning
With Three Judges Sitting and a Fairly Long Calendar.

Some of the Prominent Cases Which Will be Tried—Only One Continued Criminal Case.

Owen Farguson Contest the Condemnation Proceedings of the Duluth Transfer Railway—Other Matters.

The June term of district court will not be a long one, there being but 156 cases besides the tax and criminal cases. There are four city tax cases and eleven state cases, all continued from last term. There is but one continued criminal case, that against F. E. Kravenbuhl. The case will not be touched, this term, as Kravenbuhl is stilljourning in that mysterious region called "parts unknown," waiting till the clouds roll by. Among the civil cases of note are those of Lucy A. Pomeroy, who claims to be the wife, by a common law marriage, of Nebemiah Hulet, and who claims a dower right in his estate. One of the cases is an appeal from the order of the probate court denying her a homestead right in the estate, and the other is an appeal from the order of the probate court refusing to set aside the will. Both cases were on the April term calendar and were continued. They will probably come up this term and will consume a good deal of time. Davis, Kellogg & Severance have been retained by the heirs.

The case of John J. Frey against the West Duluth Light and Water company, to set aside the company's franchise, is on the calendar, but some efforts have been made to settle it out of court.

Then there are any amount of personal injury suits against various corporations, aggregating in the amounts asked $75,000 to $100,000. The grand jury convenes at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The condemnation proceedings of the Duluth Transfer railway likely will receive a hard contest. The separate answer of Owen Farguson was filed this morning. The public necessity of the road is denied. The transfer company has been without right, should be compelled to purchase the property required in the same manner as any private individual.

In the matter of the assignment of Hans A. Sandwith the assignee has been ordered to pay a dividend of 54.15 per cent.

The Smith-Peck company made an assignment Saturday to H. H. McElahan, their attorney. Besides the assets, which are not such as to be immediately realized upon, the stockholders are able to take care of the company's debts.

INVESTIGATIONS ALL OUT.

No More Tickets Available for the Excursion

on the North West.

The last invitations to the North West's excursion were given out this afternoon. Of course the number of tickets had to be limited, and by the time the various bodies of Duluth, Superior and the Twin Cities had been supplied with tickets, no more could be obtained. No children will be allowed under any circumstances. The inspection of the boat from 11 to 12 o'clock Friday morning is public, however, and tickets may be obtained on that. Every preparation possible is being made for the reception of the big boat. The Seventh avenue dock, between the Northern Pacific and Northern docks, is receiving a new plank.

Capt. Bragg's Lecture.

Tomorrow evening Capt. C. P. Bragg will give his lecture, "Our Flag and Its Defenders," at the Pavilion. He will illustrate it with seventy views on a canvas twenty-four feet square. Portraits of famous generals, battles, etc., will be shown.

Herr Carl Riedelsberger will assist, rendering several selections, one of them a famous French composer's arrangement of "Yankee Doodle" and variations.

His Wheel Run Away.

Yesterday while G. H. Anderson was coasting down Piedmont avenue on his bicycle, the vehicle got beyond his control and despite his toiling for brakes, ran wild from Twelfth street for about five blocks. At that point, the runaway bicycle was ditched and one pedal broken off. Today Anderson is creeping around with a bruised thigh and a few square feet of skin scraped off.

Gus Redstrom has sworn out a complaint charging James McGee with assault. The trouble took place on a sand scow and was caused by a dispute over wages.

The board of education has published a call for bids for the erection of the superstructure of the Bryant school, a 16-room building. Bids will be received up to 8 p. m., June 10.

A report from the Emergency hospital this morning, stated that all the small-pox patients were doing nicely.

The Ballat Turner hall on Saturday evening was attended by a fairly large crowd of young people. Emil Appichagen was master of ceremonies. Muhlbaue & Trautvetter's orchestra furnished the music.

The Metropolitans defeated the Athletics at Glen Avon on Saturday afternoon by a score of 15 to 7. Paddock and Chapman for the Metropolitans, and Watson and Judson for the Athletics were the batteries.

The birth of a daughter to L. S. and Jennie W. Forrester, 128 West Third street, has been reported to the board of health.

The board of health has been notified of the death of Amanda Nelson, aged 24 years, at St. Luke's hospital, of typhoid fever.

A reception will be tendered to Frederick Warde by the Knights of Pythias tomorrow (Tuesday) night at Pythian hall. All knights in the city welcome.

A gasoline stove explosion called the attention of the city to a similar position on the corner of West Superior street this morning. The flames were extinguished before any material damage resulted.

First papers have been issued in the case of the district clerk to Alex Peterson, of Finland.

Deputies Dash and Hansen this morning left for Stillwater, taking with them William Mattson, who will stay there on the relative case.

The Duluth, Missabe & Northern spur of the Franklin mine was completed last Thursday and immediately the mine commenced shipments over the new road. Previous to the product of this mine was shipped over the Iron Range.

W. B. Stephenson, formerly road master of the Duluth & Winnipeg, has been appointed to a similar position on the Chicago & Northwestern road, and left Cluquet on Tuesday of last week for Hampton, Franklin county, Iowa, which will be his headquarters.

The topic for the consideration of the Social Science club meeting at the Congregational church tonight is "Scientific or Theoretical Socialism." B. C. Church will read his postponed paper on "Profit Sharing."

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the First M. E. church parlors.

The West Superior Driving park yesterday, about 400 people witnessed the game between the Duluth Baseball club and the West Superior team. The score stood 12 to 8 in favor of the Duluth team.

Bonds releasing the tugs Pathfinder, Adams and Fiske have been filed in the United States court. They were libeled for a coal bill of last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Nicol have taken the Lester Park hotel and will keep it open this summer.

W. C. Sargent's logs on the north shore are being put in the lake and rafted to the city.

The dense smoke on the hill drove the mosquitoes down into the city last evening and they were as annoying on the streets as they usually are in the woods.

Last evening George Lanning, who had just come down from Virginia with Mr. Vary, manager of the American Express company, was arrested on a charge of embezzlement.

SHE LEFT HER HOME.

Police Yesterday.

Last Friday morning near 2 o'clock, Ena Dubriel, a 17-year-old French girl left her home at 1074 West Superior street without the knowledge of her parents. She left a note saying that they need not look for her as she had left for good. The police were notified and the city detectives found her the city Saturday.

An investigation of the case leads to the belief that the girl is not to be blamed for leaving, her home surroundings not being what they ought.

There is said to be another possible reason for her leaving, however. She has been seen quite frequently in the company of a well-known married man whose attentions to young girls have brought him into considerable prominence of an undesirable character. It is said to have been through this man that the police found her. It has been suggested that it is about time this individual was taught a lesson for he flouts his depravity before the public gaze with reckless disregard as to what may be said of him. A little interference on the part of the police, who cannot but be cognizant of what is the talk of the whole city, might be effectual.

Minneapolis Newspaper Men Coming.

B. J. West, Jr., manager of the Duluth Dry Goods company returned this morning from Minneapolis where he has been several days. He says that a number of newspaper men including A. J. Blethen, L. Swift, Jr., and others will come up Thursday night to see the North West.

Dancing Parly at Lakeside. Saturday evening a very pleasant little party was given in the old Hunter residence by Mr. and Mrs. Rothermal and Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. West. Nearly thirty couples were present.

Dancing was the chief amusement and light refreshments were served. Quite a number went out from the city and all report a most pleasant time.

Will Not Be Lively. The council holds its regular meeting tonight. This morning none of the aldermen were to be seen around the city hall and the prospects were for a decidedly quiet and brief session this evening. Still enough funny work may be done in the secret committee meeting this afternoon to make tonight's meeting interesting.

BOSSSED BY BISHOPS

Rev. Dr. Naylor Pays His Respects to Bishop Fowler at a Baltimore Methodist Ministers' Meeting.

The Absolute Powers Exercised by the Methodist Bishops in America Denounced in Severe Terms.

Dr. Naylor Said the System Crushed Manhood, Made Widows and Orphans and Created Sympathants.

BALTIMORE, June 5.—"Bishops must not be bosses" was the way the Rev. Dr. Henry R. Naylor paid his respects to Bishop Charles H. Fowler in his address in the Methodist ministers' meeting on the subject of limiting the power of Methodist bishops. The story of Dr. Naylor's removal from his former position as presiding elder of the Washington district to the South Baltimore Methodist church, of which he is now pastor, is well known. The removal was made by Bishop Fowler in the annual meeting of the Baltimore conference in Frederick in March.

Dr. Naylor had not served as presiding elder in Washington the full time allowed, and he did not want to be transferred. He was unusually popular with the churches, and a majority of them openly rebelled against the action of the bishop in sending Dr. Naylor to Baltimore and passed resolutions requesting that such action be reconsidered. The bishop did not comply.

Dr. Naylor said that a bishop had removed a preacher from one appointment to another with the avowed intention of crushing him. Before the year was out the preacher had died of a broken heart, leaving a widow and orphans. Dr. Naylor said the system crushed manhood, made widows and orphans, created sympathants and murdered the religious. "The idea is," said Dr. Naylor, "that when a man follows the Methodist ministry he surrenders his will. I have never seen a church or a man when I would surrender my will. Who is the church? Are not the 12,000 ministers' wives if they are not in the church? What are the 25,000 ministers' children if they are not a part of the church?"

John Wesley, the founder of the Methodist church in America, was a Royalist who considered George Washington a rebel, said Dr. Naylor, and his instincts were toward a monarchial form of government. Hence when he appointed the first bishops for America it is strange he gave them absolute powers. It might have been wise and necessary then when there was only one conference. But now, with nearly 100 conferences and 12,000 preachers, it was unwise and unjust.

HE SAW KATIE'S GHOST.

A Murderer Terrorized by His Victim Appearing in His Cell.

JERSEY CITY, June 5.—Low means and sobs in the cell of Bernard Altenberger, murderer of Katie Ruppel, were heard late last night by Keeper Terwilliger, as he was making his rounds in the county jail. Slipping up to the cell the keeper looked in and saw the murderer crouching in one corner trembling violently.

"I have seen her," he said greatly agitated. "Who have you seen?" "I have seen Katie," he replied in a broken voice. "She came right up to me. There was blood on her neck and blood on her face and she stood by my bunk and looked at me sorrowfully. I could not speak, though I tried, for my tongue was glued to the roof of my mouth. At last she pointed a finger toward the wall and I saw in the wall the fire of justice." She faded from my vision and then I cried out.

When told that he had been dreaming, Altenberger said he knew who he saw. He awakened and that he had seen the murdered girl's ghost. The rest of the night he tossed nervously on his bunk. It is understood that insanity will be the line of defense.

ITALIAN CABINET RESIGNS.

Rome, June 5.—In the chamber of deputies today Premier Crispi announced that the cabinet had resigned. The king has reserved his decision in regard to accepting or refusing the resignations of his ministers.

The resignation of the Crispi cabinet was the outcome of the conference at midnight of the ministers, who discussed the smallness of the majority by which Signor Crispi's proposal to bring about financial reform was adopted by the chamber of deputies.

The vote by which the premier's motion was adopted was 225 to 214, a majority of only 11.

Tree Daubing in India.

CALCUTTA, June 5.—An investigation into the tree daubing which has been taking place in the Behr district shows that it is in some degree due to the fact that the cattle have been rubbing against the trees, and that traveling medical men have in some places daubed the trees in order to produce a feeling of alarm among the people and so enable them to obtain alms.

Distress at Pullman.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Pullman strikers are in a sore straits for food. The supplies have not been coming in rapidly of late and many have been turned away from relief headquarters because there was nothing to give them. The merchants in the vicinity of Pullman have given credit so extensively that it is impossible for them to do much more. The town is in a state of distress. It will contain offices for all the city officials, police headquarters and lock up, fire hall, etc.

ARE READY FOR PEACE.

Miners Will Accept the Settlement Arranged by Governor Waite.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., June 5.—State Organizer McIntosh, of the Western Federation of Miners, says that the miners have accepted the settlement arranged by Governor Waite and Messrs. Hagerman and Moffatt in good faith and are ready for peace.

Many of the Cripple Creek mine owners are not disposed to abide by the terms of the agreement made at Denver last night by Governor Waite, representing the Miners' union, and J. J. Hagerman and D. H. Moffatt, representing the mine owners. The excitement is greater than at any time since the beginning of the trouble.

Another train of deputies was sent to Divide today with a Gatling gun, which was brought in Chicago. Sheriff Howers declares he will arrest all strikers who have broken the laws by their action at Bull Hill.

The miners will meet today to consider the agreement made by Governor Waite. It is not expected that the troops will reach Cripple Creek before tomorrow.

SUGAR SCHEDULE VOTING.

The Schedule Will Go into Effect on January 1 Next.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The voting on the sugar schedule began in the senate promptly at 1 p. m. The first vote was on the Jones amendment, fixing the date when the sugar schedule should go into effect and the sugar bounty be terminated on Jan. 1, 1895. The vote resulted: Yeas, 40; nays, 31. The amendment was adopted. Mr. Peffer voted with the Republicans, Allen and Kyte with the Democrats. Hill did not vote.

Four amendments offered by Mr. Manderson and one by Mr. Allison were rejected. Senator Chandler expressed his belief that senators had speculated in shares of the sugar trust while the tariff question was pending. He said no vote should be taken until the investigating committee had probed the whole subject of undue influence.

The House.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The house has adopted a resolution to vote on the Bradley bank tax repeal bill tomorrow after the call of the committees.

SETTLEMENT MAY BE MADE.

Prospect of an Early End of the Coal Strike.

PITTSBURGH, June 5.—It is stated upon reliable authority that at the meeting of the executive officials and district presidents of the United Mine workers, now in session in Columbus, a communication will be received from the Illinois operators to attend the Cleveland conference of miners and operators is held. The Illinois operators will attend.

This is exceedingly important, as the refusal of the Illinois and West Virginia operators to attend the Cleveland conference was the cause of its failure. It is stated that President McBride has expressed a willingness to accept the Democratic party and 60 cents for Ohio.

THE CRUISER MINNEAPOLIS.

She Started This Morning on Her Preliminary Trial Trip.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—The United States cruiser Minneapolis started down the Delaware river from Cramp's shipyard in a driving rainstorm at 10 o'clock this morning on her preliminary or builders' trial trip.

After having her compasses adjusted, the Minneapolis will tomorrow pass out the Delaware capes, and if the weather conditions are favorable she will be given a long run up and down the coast. The principal object of the present trial is to find out just what the ship is capable of accomplishing.

TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Illinois Troops Prepared to Go to Williamson County.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 5.—The situation at Carversville, Williamson county, is still serious. The sheriff there has again notified the governor that he cannot handle the mob, which now numbers 200. President Parker, of the Cairo Short line, has notified the governor that the decision of the lower court, imposing a fine of $75 each upon these officials for operating cars without vestibules. It was argued and submitted.

Before the Supreme Court.

ST. PAUL, June 5.—The Minnesota law requiring street car vestibules during inclement weather is now before the supreme court on the question of its constitutionality. It came up on the appeal of Superintendents Hoskins, of St. Paul and Smith, of Minneapolis, from the decision of the lower court. Imposing a fine of $75 each upon these officials for operating cars without vestibules. It was argued and submitted.

Not This Week.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—[Special to The Herald.]—It is said in the interior department today that the St. Cloud land office appointment will not be made this week. Secretary Smith has left the city and will not return in time to act on it until next week.

The Catholic Foresters.

ST. PAUL, June 5.—The convention of the Catholic Foresters, with over 400 delegates present, met in this city today, all parts of the United States and Canada being represented. Besides the delegates many visitors are here.

Grand Rapids City Hall.

P. E. Shipley, of this city, commenced work yesterday on the new city hall at Grand Rapids, Itasca county, and will have it completed in a couple of months. The building will be 35 by 50 feet, two story high, brick veneer. It will contain offices for all the city officials, police headquarters and lock up, fire hall, etc.

NAMING THE TICKET

The Ohio Republicans are Gathered in State Convention at Columbus to Name Their Ticket.

S. M. Taylor Will be Renominated for Secretary of State and O. T. Corson for School Commissioner.

Hon. Bellamy Storor Was the Temporary Chairman and Delivered an Address Scoring the Democrats.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 5.—The delegates today to the Republican state convention held district meetings at 2 p. m. and transacted routine business. This being the off year but little business is manifested in routine affairs. The offices to be filled and the men who will be nominated are: Secretary of state, Sam. M. Taylor school commissioner, O. T. Corson; member of the board of public works, Charles E. Groce, being from Champaign, Geursey and Pickaway counties in the order named.

Franklin J. Dickman, of Cayahoga, for renomination as supreme judge, has positioned in Judge John A. Shank of the circuit court, residing at Dayton, and Judge John A. Price, of the common pleas, as the result of the result as to judge is in doubt. Dickman filled almost a full term by appointment and was then elected one term.

The convention was called to order by J. C. Bonner, a manufacturer of Toledo, who is chairman of the state central committee. On account of the $1,000 penalty for McKinley last fall the convention has 860 delegates. This is the fortieth annual Republican convention in Ohio.

Chairman Bonner's opening speech was to the effect that the country is commercially and industrially depressed. He quoted Buchanan to show that it was also in a similar condition while he was president and alleged that what the country needs is a regular business management. The people are the shareholders and want a new board of directors. He closed with a eulogy of McKinley and then introduced the temporary chairman, Hon. Bellamy Storor, who said:

The Republican party goes before Ohio and the whole country, not in penitence, but in confidence and in self respect. Deep has been the distress, but we are not discouraged.

The Republican party goes before Ohio and the whole country, not in penitence, but in confidence and in self respect. Deep has been the distress, but we are not discouraged.

Suit Against Fidderson.

Jacob Graf has sued August E. Fidderson for $5000 damages, alleging that on March 13, 1893, Fidderson kicked, beat and bruised him and shot two bullets into him. The parties were up in the municipal court some time ago, each accusing the other, and they were dismissed. The trouble arose out of a dispute over a girl.

Republican Judge Elected.

QUINCY, June 5.—Official returns from the twelve counties of the fourth supreme court district show that Carter (Rep) has a majority of 4230 in the district. He carries every county but Menard, which gave Bonney 80 majority. The prohibitionists and Populists, who hold the balance of power in the district, voted almost unanimously for Carter.

Tornado in Nebraska.

CALLOWAY, Neb., June 5.—A tornado last night totally wrecked Grand Army hall and blew the Episcopal church off its foundation and badly twisted it. The Methodist church is in the same condition. The brick schoolhouse, barns and outbuildings in the town were badly demolished, but most of the business blocks and residences as far as learned escaped serious damage. No person was badly hurt as the storm was seen in time.

Glaves for Governor.

LEWISTON, Me., June 5.—The Republican state convention has re-nominated Henry Glaves for governor.

Gathering of the Clans.

On Friday and Saturday of this week with a Saturday matinee, the "Gathering of the Clans" will be presented at the Temple. Less than two years ago this great spectacle captured the town and filled the Temple nightly. Since then there have been numerous requests for its repetition. Professor Walker has been in the city for two weeks rehearsing the dozens of dances. Many new features will be added including some clever solo dances.

MARINE NOTES.

Grain Situation Continues Unchanged—Some Casings for a Dredge.

The grain situation on the lakes is slow and not very strong. One charter for wheat to Buffalo at 2½ cents was made yesterday. The ore and lumber business is much stronger, although rates do not rise.

The Clyde Iron works yesterday shipped to McMullen & Morris something over twenty tons of shafting and gearing for use on their new hydraulic dredge in Allouez bay. Some of the castings are quite large, weighing over 1500 pounds. The same kind of machinery has been in use at Chicago for some months, but this will be the first application of the new hydraulic method at the head of the lake. Superintendent Webster says the repairs on the steamer Dixon will be completed by Saturday.

The North West's Trip.

BUFFALO, June 5.—Promptly at 9 o'clock this evening the steamer North West, of the Northern Steamship line, starts for Duluth on her maiden trip. She is expected to reach her destination in fifty-six hours, including four stops. Nearly 100 first class passengers are booked for the trip from Buffalo and as many more will embark in Cleveland and Detroit. No freight or second class passengers will be carried on her way up. The North West will formally open the lake channel in the Saul, being the first vessel to pass through. She will return to Buffalo next Monday.

ARE NOT DISTURBED

Democratic Managers of the Tariff in the Senate Not Disturbed by the Latest Report.

Do Not Fear an Amendment Providing for the Repeal of the State Bank Tax.

Southern Democrats, Most Interested in the Tax Repeal, Would Not Imperil the Tariff Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Democratic managers of the tariff in the senate are not greatly disturbed over the information that an amendment will be offered providing for the repeal of the state bank tax. They do not believe that it would be pressed by those who have the deepest interest in the success of the repeal. The Southern Democratic senators are the ones who are the most concerned about the repeal of the state bank tax and they also constitute the element in the senate most interested in the passage of the tariff bill and it is not believed that they would agree to imperil the tariff bill or to delay it in any way by pressing in connection with a rider, a measure which they consider of only comparative importance.

The friends of the bill recall, in discussing the possibility of such an amendment, the fate of Senator Lodge's silver amendment, and also recall the fact that when the silver repeal bill was before the senate during the extra session an amendment for the bank tax repeal was introduced but not pressed. They argue if, at a time when a majority of the senators friendly to this measure were opposed to the bill then pending, the amendment was not strong enough to hold its place, it will not cut a more important figure in the pending tariff legislation.

PLACED IN CLASS B.

Well-Known Cyclists Who Lose Their Amateur Standing.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Racing wheelmen who have given the slightest cause for suspicion as to their amateur standing are being carefully watched by the League of American Wheelmen racing board, and as a result of the board's meeting the following well-known riders have been declared Class B men: J. E. Alexander, R. E. Cushing, T. B. Delams, W. J. Edwards, A. L. Hubbard, A. Jarman, O. Oyle, A. C. Pillsbury, H. C. Smith, A. Schwall, F. C. Wolf, O. Zeigler, Jr., San Jose, Cal.; W. F. Foster, W. H. Taylor, Ipswich, Mass.

LOSS OF FOUR MILLIONS.

Awful Destruction of Life and Property by the Frazar River Flood.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 5.—Four million dollars worth of property has been lost by the Frazar river flood, and there is yet no sign of abatement. A prominent railway official thinks the loss of life and property is much greater than the conservative estimates are now so high. The bridges, trestles and tunnels and track along the Canadian Pacific have gone and the company has over 2000 men at the scene of danger working night and day. From Revelstoke to the sea 310 miles of the railway is a watery waste.

The last point above Vancouver which can now be reached is Ruby creek, eighty-two miles distant. Thence all is water.

Bismarck Very Weak.

BERLIN, June 5.—Prince Bismarck continues to decline rapidly, and his weakness following his last illness. The prince will proceed to Varsen, his summer home, on June 15. His physicians have hopes that the ex-chancellor will be stronger.

St. Paul, June 5.—The May court martial has closed its deliberations. It is stated on good authority that the court martial has found Lieut. Maney not guilty of the specification relating to the murder of Capt. Hedberg, but guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer. The sentence will not be known until announced by the reviewing authority.

Died From Poisoning.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 5.—Five boys, whose ages ranged from 5 to 12 years, inmates of the Catholic Sisters' Mercy home in this village, have died from poisoning, the result of eating berries picked on the playground of the institution yesterday. Seven more boys are critically ill from the same cause.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.

An Inoffensive German Fatally Beaten by a Young Tough.

PITTSFIELD, Ill., June 5.—Saturday night while going home Henry Schlemmer, an inoffensive, hard-working German, was assaulted and robbed. He immediately informed the police, stating he recognized a young man named Willie Morgan as one of his assailants.

Yesterday while Schlemmer was going to vote at the judicial election he was met by Morgan and again assaulted and bent and kicked in such a manner that he died shortly after. Morgan, fled, but he was captured and is now in prison. He was brought in threats of lynching were indulged in. There is still much excitement.

THE DALTONS HAVING FUN.

Made a Policeman Dance in the Street in Oklahoma.

GUTHRIE, O. T., June 5.—United States Marshal Nix has received the following letter dated June 1 from Cushing, the scene of the deadly fight of last September:

"The Daltons were in town today. After doing some trading and paying for all goods and groceries, they started to ride out, when they caught sight of Ike McCoy, of the Sac and Fox police. They made him dismount and dance in the street. They took off his cartridge belt and thumped him over the shoulders with it a few times. They did no damage or violence, but rode away laughing."

SIoux CITY TO OMAHA.

A New Line Projected and the Great Northern Interested.

OMAHA, June 5.—A new road is projected from Sioux City south through Nebraska to Omaha under the title of the Eastern Nebraska & Gulf. It is generally conceded in Omaha that the scheme is backed by the Great Northern and Illinois Central jointly.

The Great Northern's object is to be connected with the competitor of the Union Pacific for Northwest business and the Illinois Central wants a slice of the Western business. The Missouri Pacific is also believed to be interested.

Kelly's Navy in Egypt.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., June 5.—The bunch of the Commonwealth army, generally designated as Kelly's navy, reached Grand Tower in this (Jackson) county Sunday afternoon. They were not usually hospitable Egyptians and when they departed from the wharf last evening no tears were shed. Kelly sprang a surprise on the people by inviting them to a wedding in which one of his major (the cliff) and his favored typewriter, Miss Anna Hutton, were the central figures. Because of no license the ceremony was deferred.

Had His Wealth Hidden.

LEWISTON, Me., June 5.—A man has been discovered that Joseph A. Sawyer, the Monmouth farmer, who was so mysteriously murdered two weeks ago, had at the time of his death about $12,000 in cash, notes and bank books secreted in various places about his house. It was found by the heirs hidden away in keys, old stockings and closed, and the detection of the murderer seems as far off as ever. The offer of $1000 reward by the town and heirs has stimulated effort, but nothing has been discovered.

Outrage in Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 5.—Somebody threw a bomb into the saloon of the N. Y. 183 Eighteenth street, last night, wrecking the entire front of the building and badly smashing things inside. Noffs and his bartender, Fred Heiler, were cut by flying pieces of wood and glass. Noffs made a statement to the police that the bomb was thrown by a woman who is now Noffs's wife.

An Audience Alarmed.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A fire in a flower store adjoining Hall's Casino last night created considerable excitement among the audience. They left the place with some confusion, but the performance was resumed within ten minutes and the audience returned.

The Money Court Martial.

ST. PAUL, June 5.—The money court martial has closed its deliberations. It is stated on good authority that the court martial has found Lieut. Maney not guilty of the specification relating to the murder of Capt. Hedberg, but guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer. The sentence will not be known until announced by the reviewing authority.

Died From Poisoning.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., June 5.—Five boys, whose ages ranged from 5 to 12 years, inmates of the Catholic Sisters' Mercy home in this village, have died from poisoning, the result of eating berries picked on the playground of the institution yesterday. Seven more boys are critically ill from the same cause.

Favorable Crop Report.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 5.—The Northern Pacific weekly crop report is very favorable, showing rain in nearly all sections along the line and wheat eight inches high in North Dakota. The report covers Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Manitoba.

IS A GRAND VICTORY

The Republicans Have Cause for Jubilation Over the Returns From the Election in Oregon.

Judge Lord, the Republican Candidate, Elected Governor by Not Less Than Fifteen Thousand Majority.

Two Republicans are Elected to Congress and a Republican Chosen as Mayor of Portland.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 5.—Yesterday's election in this state was a grand victory for the Republicans. Judge Lord (Rep.) for governor, is elected by not less than 15,000 plurality. The counting is slow and in the city count will not be completed before Wednesday night. At an early hour this morning only 1000 votes out of about 16,000 in this city had been counted. Of these Lord received 538, Galloway (Dem.) 260, and Pierce (Pop.) 202. If this ratio is kept up Lord's plurality in this city will be 4500.

For congress, in this city, Ellis (Rep.) has 514, Kelley (Dem.) 206, and Waldrop (Pop.) 180, or mayor, Frank (Rep.) 509, Inman (Dem.) and Pop. 391, Honeman (Ind.) 96. The entire Republican legislative ticket in this county is elected, and from meager returns outside this city it is believed the Republicans will control all of the branches of the legislature.

Owing to the flood this city is entirely cut off from Eastern Oregon and not a word of election news has been received from more than one-half the state. The Second District (Rep.) for congress in the governor, but his plurality will not be short of 2000. Hermann (Rep.), for congress in the First district, will have at least 1500 plurality.

George P. Frank is elected mayor of this city by at least 1000 plurality.

MEETS WITH APPROVAL.

A Citizen in Whose Breast The Herald's Editorial Strikes a Responsive Chord.

"The position taken by The Herald in an editorial last evening," remarked J. F. Hobbes to a reporter this morning, "relative to the secret sessions of the common council, seems to me is one of the most correct with popular approval, and the protest has been filed none too soon. Indeed one of the remarkable things about this unusual and undemocratic method of transacting the business of the city is that it has been permitted to quietly drift into a settled practice—a practice diametrically opposed to a representative government—without general disapproval. There is, I think no question but what the citizens are entitled to the individual opinions of the several aldermen upon all matters coming before the council, and these opinions cannot be obtained so long as they are given under the rose. It is important to know, not only the result of a deliberation but the reasoning which brought about the result.

"I can see some reason why men without ideas or legislative ability should want to shield their conduct by a unanimous vote which is usually had in these evening confirmation sessions, but cannot understand why aldermen of integrity, force and good judgment should wish to do so. On the contrary it is to their interests, who direct and control the better action of the council, that their individual force and good judgment should be put to the test. This method is prejudicial to the aldermen individually and to the public in general. A councilman cannot afford to deliberately place himself in a position which invites the suspicions of the uncharitable, especially when that position is indefensible from any legitimate standpoint. "While it may be true that each alderman is zealously working for the best interests of his ward and the city, that fact should affirmatively appear at every session of the council. I believe it is a good plan to give an alderman at least two methods in the council, if he is especially fitted for the position, but under the method now in vogue I do not know how the people are to judge of his qualifications. Speaking for myself, I will say without any hesitation that I will not vote for a man for alderman whose individual record in the first term is buried in the mysteries of the secret chamber.

"An evening session of the council is now and then may be defended, but as a rule no good can come from star chamber unless the people cannot be trusted with a knowledge of their own affairs."

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Poundmaster Will Probably Begin an Exterminating War on Unlicensed Dogs in the Near Future.

S. A. Richards, of the Blast Furnace Company, Resigns to Become a Superintendent at Sharon, Pa.

Congregational Church Will Hold Its Annual Meeting on Thursday Evening—Edward Kringle Recovering.

Although the city authorities have for the month past warned the owners of dogs to procure licenses for their canine pets it is reported that but two licenses were granted for this purpose in West Duluth up to the 1st of June. The dog catcher has been vested with the proper authority and it is said will start out pretty soon with blood in his eye and a pistol in his pocket to do terrible execution among the canines in his district. Henry Woods the pound master has also been appointed dog annihilator and if his work as pound master can be taken as a criterion there will be great weeping and gnashing of teeth among this species of quadrupeds. If the people discover their favorite pugs taking a hasty ride in the patrol wagon they may straightway guess to what sad end they have come through their neglect.

Will Leave West Duluth.
S. A. Richards, who has been prominently connected with the Minnesota Blast Furnace company for some time, has gone to Sharon, Pa., to accept the superintendency of a furnace at that place. Mr. Richards is said to be one of the best furnace men in the country and it is understood that to his reputation as an iron worker in great measure may be credited the recent sale of pig by the company here to Eastern manufacturers.

West Duluth Briefs.
Sever Quam, a workman who was digging for sewer connections near the intersection of Central and Grand was badly bruised and injured by a cave in of the ground above him.

Born, to Frank Hansler and wife, of Hazelwood Park, a girl.

The Duluth militia companies will have a battalion drill the latter part of the week, probably Friday, in West Duluth. Fourth avenue west has been selected for the maneuvers of the troops.

Edward Kringle, who was so seriously injured at Merritt & Ring's mill a short time ago, is still improving and has been sitting up some the past few days. His recovery will be a great almost miraculous, as he was very badly injured.

The appointment of Capt. J. R. Randall was not unexpected and seems to give pretty general satisfaction about town.

The annual business meeting of the Congregational church will be held this week in place of the regular Thursday evening service. The election of a pastor, officers of the church and Sunday school and other matters of a business nature will be transacted. The yearly reports of various branches of church work will also be presented.

Company G will hold a special drill this evening.

William Haley, of Duluth, while riding down Central avenue yesterday on his bicycle fell and broke his left leg.

T. D. Libby has returned from a visit with his family in Minneapolis.

D. P. Harrington, of Milwaukee, is in the city.

George Crawford, of Antigo, Wis., was here yesterday.

R. T. Berins, of Iowa City, Iowa, is visiting friends in the city.

R. A. Wans, of Marshfield, Wis., is here with a view of becoming a resident of West Duluth.

L. M. Bryden, of Ashland, is in the city on business.

R. S. Filer, of Hancock, is in the city.

J. A. Kirkwood, of Rainy Lake, is here on business and at the same time visiting his family.

P. McDonnell is in St. Paul on business connected with his Moorhead contract.

The people of West Duluth will have the opportunity of listening to Rev. Dr. Thoburn at the Methodist church this evening. No admission fee will be charged and all are invited to attend.

The regular review of the Knights of the Maccoches will be held Wednesday evening, June 6. All members are requested to be present.

Low Round Trip Rates via the St. Paul & Duluth Railroad.

THE OLD-FASHIONED STYLE

of pill gives you a feeling of horror when you see it and when you feel it. Like the "Blunderbuss" of a former decade, it is big and clumsy, but not effective. In this century of enlightenment, you have Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pills, which cure all liver troubles in the most effective way. For Indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness, Headache, Sick and Bilious Headache, nothing has been found to equal these pills of Dr. Pierce's invention.

Mr. SAMUEL BARKER, Sr., of No. 121 Superior St., Duluth, Minn., says: "I have tried many other pills, but none have done me more good than Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pills. They have done me more good than any other medicine I have ever taken."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pills are sold everywhere. They are the only pills that can be taken with safety and without danger.

SHARING THE PROFITS.

B. C. Church Tells How It is Done at the Imperial Mill.

At the meeting of the Social Science club last night B. C. Church, of the Imperial mill, read a short paper on profit sharing as adopted by the Imperial mill.

"Three years ago," he said, "with a view to advancing the interests both of the men and the company, certain amounts were set aside from the profits by a vote of the stockholders and given to the workmen. Last spring it was decided to make the dividends on a percentage basis, and it is probable that that method will be continued."

"The dividends were according to the length of service and the amount of wages of the employee. Thus, of two men working for the same wages the one who has served the longest time will receive the larger dividend. No dividends are given to any employee of less than a year's service. If a man quits of his own accord his time starts when he returns. If a man is laid off through no fault of his own the time off is not counted against him."

"In 1912 a paid-up life insurance policy was given every man and the amount of the yearly payment deducted from his dividend. All policies except those of unmarried men were renewed this year. In addition to this we carry a blanket accident insurance policy on all employees, by which when injured a man receives half his wages, his doctor bill and $500 in case of accidental death."

"Last year ninety participated in the company's dividends while but fifty-six participated the year before, so it would seem that the method is appreciated by the employees. There has been but one small strike since the method was introduced."

"Some of the men have added as much as 15 per cent to their wages by the dividends declared. It has given the workmen more interest in the work, and gained their good will. One excellent feature gained is the stability of the force. The men recognize the fact that the longer they stay with the company the better their positions."

"The subject of the chapter in Washington Gladden's book read last night was 'Scientific Socialism.' The object toward which we are striving," says Gladden, "is to secure a modification of the present wage system so as to secure equal relations between workmen and capital. The plans for the change are unlimited. Communism relates to the distribution of wealth, believing that every man should share alike in the world's wealth. Socialism deals with the manner of getting wealth, believing that the government should control everything and that a man should receive for his work labor checks, which he could exchange for the product of the labor of others. Nihilism believes in nothing. Everything must be destroyed, no government must exist, and each man should do as he sees fit."

"There are two conflicting schools, individualists and those who believe in the co-operation of individuals. The latter are socialists. The complaint against individualism is that it tends to make the rich richer and the poor poorer. Each man crowds down and out the weaker brother, and the result is the survival of the fittest."

"The account given by the socialists of the present state of affairs is not true, and their fundamental fallacy is that labor is the source of value. As this is false their structure built upon such a foundation must fall."

"The difficulty with the plans of socialists is that they undervalue the mind and character. They make the laborer the most entitled to return, ignoring the value of the mind's product because it is not tangible like the product of muscle. If the day's labor of the unskilled workman is to be made the standard of wages, as some propose, the difficulty will be in finding out how many times to multiply the sewer digger's wages to get the wages of the skilled workman."

"Communism, or equal distribution, violates the eternal law of justice, 'to every man according to his work,' by giving the worthless and dissolute the same reward as the industrious and worthy. Neither socialism or communism would produce men, and that is the test which must be applied to all proposed plans."

"In the general discussion which followed for want of an exponent, the cause of socialism went by default. Judge White made a vigorous talk, in which he defended individualism as opposed to socialism."

"Individualism," said he, "is the only way of producing character. The charge against it is that it produces and aggravates selfishness. It produces selfishness just so surely as it produces self seeking. There never was a cant so disgusting as the cant of socialism."

Another thought that it was of no use to draft beautiful and visionary plans, but that we would have to rub along with our present state until we by experience discover the way out. When individualism and socialism meet, then will the millennium appear?"

The next chapter in Gladden's book, which is also the last one, is on "Christian Socialism." That will end the season the club's discussion, unless the members by a vote decide to continue them, in which case several meetings will be devoted to the discussion of municipal reform.

TERM WILL BE SHORT.

Dismissed.

From all appearances the June term of district court will be one of the shortest and mildest held in a long time. A calling of the calendar this morning, thirty-three of the 156 cases were continued. Thirteen were dismissed or notices of dismissal made. There are fifty-one cases left for the jury and seventy-six for the court. Following are the cases as fixed:

Continued—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 12, 15, 17, 19, 20, 21, 23, 25, 36, 37, 39, 35, 41, 42, 57, 76, 78, 112.

Dismissed—18, 37, 44, 59, 53, 120, 135.

Judge Ensign will take the calendar in Room 1, while Judge Lewis will sit in Room 2 and Judge Moer in Room 3. Motions are being heard this afternoon, after which the week's setting of jury cases will be made. The jury will commence tomorrow morning.

Judge Lewis gave the usual charge to the grand jury, seventeen being present. D. G. Cutler was appointed foreman and they retired in charge of E. F. Mitchell. A special venire of twenty-seven petit jurors was drawn.

Besides the cases already continued or dismissed there are a number of others in which motions are being heard this afternoon. The jury will probably finish up its part of the work in two or three weeks.

The Hulet will cases were continued.

WHEAT STRONGER TODAY.

It Opened Higher and Closed at the Low Point of the Day.

The wheat market opened strong this morning at 4 1/2 advance over yesterday's close for July and held fairly steady during the first hour, when an advance of 1/4 was made, placing July at 4 1/2, and September at 4 1/4. The market eased off and ruled quiet, with July at 4 1/4 and September at 4 1/4. The first hour was good, and the rest of the business was fairly divided between September and December and cash stuff. The close was at the low point of the session, 1/4 above yesterday, as follows:

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.—
June 5.—An area of high barometer has extended southward to the Upper Missouri valley, causing increasing pressure with cold northwest winds in the Northwest and the Upper and Middle Missouri valleys and the Western lake region. The pressure is lowest in Western Montana.

Shower clouds occurred in the southern portion of the lake region in the central valleys, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota, and continue this morning in Eastern Kansas.
Depth of water in Saint Ste. Marie canal this morning, 10 ft. forecast, falling.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 44 degrees; maximum, yesterday, 61 degrees; minimum yesterday, 47 degrees.

Restricting Immigration.
A Washington dispatch says that the plan of a non-partisan commission to prepare a comprehensive code of laws restricting immigration has been informally discussed at a gathering of prominent Republican representatives. The members met casually in one of the house cloak rooms, but the discussion took such an interesting phase that about twenty members were drawn into it. The cloak room doors were closed, and the informal talk nearly developed into a caucus.

It was the general expression of such men as Messrs. Reed, Dooliver and Cannon, that the immigration question should be wholly divorced from politics. In order to accomplish this it was suggested that no res could create a national commission of fifteen members, representing all parties, so that the political effects of any restrictive code prepared would not be borne by any one party.

The commission would consider the entire immigration question, changing and amplifying old laws and suggesting new ones. The case submitted would be passed on by congress, and in this way broad restrictive measures might be secured without exciting bitter party animosity.

It is to be hoped that such plan will be carried out. The restriction of immigration is highly necessary to protect the labor of America from continued excessive competition. The arrivals of immigrants have been decreasing greatly during the past year, owing to the fact having become known in Europe that industrial depression prevails here and work is hard to get. For the same reason many who came here from foreign countries have returned home. But let the present situation change and the wheels of industry resume their revolutions, with plenty of work offered at good wages, and the rush to this country will be great. Not only will those who have been here return but they will bring friends with them and the labor market will be again glutted.

This is one feature of the situation. The other is that America is still made a dumping ground for the pauper and vicious classes of European countries. They send us their pauper, criminal and defective classes, and many get through the immigration inspection at New York and other ports, despite the existing laws. The trouble is that the laws we have now are ineffective. They do not restrict sufficiently. Neither will any satisfactory law on the subject be passed until the question has been wholly divorced from politics, and a non-partisan commission be appointed to prepare a measure dealing with the subject.

Duluth to Omaha.
A new railroad from Sioux City south through Nebraska to Omaha is projected, according to an Omaha dispatch today. It is also stated that the scheme is being backed by the Great Northern and the Illinois Central roads jointly, and that the Missouri Pacific is interested. This is a railroad project in which Duluth may properly take considerable interest, because its construction would give this city a new through line to Omaha in connection with the Great Northern system. It would not be the most direct route between Duluth and Omaha that can be found, but it would be as short, if not shorter than the existing line and would furnish desirable competition.

A direct line between Duluth and Omaha is greatly needed, and its construction will not be delayed for many years. Omaha is nearer to Duluth than it is to Chicago, and the business men of Nebraska are anxious to obtain direct communication with this city, so as to secure the benefits of lower freight rates between Omaha and the East via the great lakes route. At the same time closer commercial relations would be established between Duluth and Omaha and all the points along the route, with mutual ben-

State Aid for Sectarian Purposes.

An important hearing is to be given at Albany tomorrow and Thursday by a joint committee of the New York constitutional convention, in the matter of state and municipal aid to sectarian schools and ecclesiastical institutions. In New York state large appropriations are annually made for such institutions, and hence the question attains an importance there which it does not have in other states like Minnesota, which do not make such appropriations, and which are debarred by their constitutions from doing so, even if popular sentiment favored the granting of such aid, which it does not. At the meeting in Albany tomorrow the National League for the Protection of American Institutions will be represented by its law committee, and they are to speak in favor of the proposed amendment to the constitution withdrawing state and municipal appropriations for sectarian schools. They also favor the taxing of churches and church property. Frederick R. Coudert, Col. George Bliss and others, it is said, will appear and speak for the continued appropriations and the exempting of church property from taxation.

The total value of church property in New York state is $10,123,608. The denominations which are the chief beneficiaries of the tax exemption roll are these: Protestant Episcopal, $3,142,613; Roman Catholic, $2,769,478; Presbyterian, $2,727,102; Methodist, $1,835,200; Baptist, $1,625,588; Reformed, $7,668,380; Congregationalist, $5,175,202; Lutheran, $4,603,375; Jewish Congregations, $4,315,200; Universalist, $1,798,750; Unitarians, $1,117,500; Friends, $767,450, and independent congregations, $722,400. The value of church property in New York city is $54,670,000.

A strong argument will be made in favor of taxation of churches and church property. Exempting such property from taxation is merely an indirect method of granting state and municipal aid to sectarian institutions, and it is a system that cannot be successfully defended. The exemption of church property from taxation is unjust to other property owners. It means unequal taxation, and it should be abolished throughout the whole United States.

A representative of the Minneapolis Journal visited Duluth on Sunday and the result is a 2-column article in yesterday's issue on the political situation here. Naturally, owing to the imperfect survey of the situation which could be made within a few hours, the article is filled with erroneous statements. The Journal man appears to have been misled by interested people on both sides of the contest.

Carroll D. Wright, United States commissioner of labor, says in the current number of the Forum that San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and St. Louis have the largest proportions of single persons to the total population. This is somewhat astonishing, as regards Milwaukee, as it was supposed the matrimonial business was quite lively in the Wisconsin metropolis.

A soldier in the regular army was court-martialed at Fort Buford recently and sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor for refusing to blacken a sergeant's shoes. This is called discipline. A lieutenant who shot a captain is said to have been acquitted. What do they call this?

Secretary Lamont, it is said, proposes to eliminate red-tape methods from the war department. Mr. Lamont means AMUSEMENTS.

Ward and James.
Frederick Ward and Louis James opened their engagement at the Temple last evening presenting "Julius Caesar," before an audience not nearly so large as should have been given them. The Temple theater could not hold an audience such as their superb production deserves.

Not for five years has this immortal tragedy of Shakespeare been seen here and then it was played by two of the world's greatest tragedians—Booth and Barrett. The memory of that great presentation still lives and it was truly one of the grandest things of the age. Yet, impossible as it may seem, there were points and details in the Ward and James production last evening beside which that of Booth and Barrett was most certainly the weaker. It will suffice to name one instance, the most apparent. This is in the conduct of the mol of citizens in the forum scene. Without a good imitation of the populace this must fall flat even though the oratorical passages are perfect in the greatest manner. The Ward and James recognize this and the scene, and the grand climax of the whole play, is magnificently brought out. The working of the subtle mind of the wily Antony on the minds of the citizens and the frenzy of revenge into which he leads them when once they are with him are pictured in an ideal manner. The entire performance was staged with the same careful attention to detail. To call it a superb production puts it too mildly. It was a delight to the artist and student, a performance which educates as well as pleases.

Louis James was Marcus Brutus. His elocution is of the heavy, indifferent variety and finely suited to the part. It might be made a little more sympathetic but the clearness and rugged strength of his reading never allowed the true meaning to be lost. Shakespeare's Brutus was a cold man, the soul of honor and pride. Rome above all. As Antony says, "He was the noblest Roman of them all."

The St. Paul Dispatch states the case very concisely in these words: "Morning papers, history of yesterday; evening papers, history of today."

The weather was fine in Oregon yesterday and a heavy vote was polled. The result is a Republican victory.

A Great Advantage.
Afro-American: We cannot express too emphatically our wish that the Afro-American miners will continue to side with their employers, if they can succeed in establishing a reputation as reliable laborers it will give them an immense advantage over the disorderly, anarchistic foreigners who are about half the time upon either a drunk or a strike.

Which is it, Carnegie?
Minneapolis Tribune: Will Mr. Carnegie tell an anxious public whether armor plates plugged with lead come under the caption of "Triumph of Democracy" or "Success in Life?"

Hard on Amusements.
Cleveland Leader: The burning of Talmage's church and the Boston baseball buildings casts a gloom over the amusement field.

Col. Dudley Should Speak Out.
Rochester Herald: Gen. Clarkson, of Iowa, and Joe Manley, of Maine, are in a system that cannot be successfully defended. The exemption of church property from taxation is unjust to other property owners. It means unequal taxation, and it should be abolished throughout the whole United States.

Must Increase His Gail.
Philadelphia Times: Bridgebridge will have to run now as he never ran before. The women of his district are after him.

Maj. Bultz as a Warning.
Valley City, N. D. Times: The fate of Maj. Bultz is a warning to the two enterprising men who are casting about for customers before they have the price. The senate investigation has been made within a few hours, the article is filled with erroneous statements. The Journal man appears to have been misled by interested people on both sides of the contest.

Worth to Come.
St. Joseph Herald: A great many Democratic congressmen who represent industrial districts will clamor for "protection"—from indignant constituents—when the autumn nominations come around.

Extremely Natural.
Pearson's Weekly: Playright—Is her acting weekly? Manager (enthusiastically)—Natural! Why, when she appeared as the dyspeptic Miss Chapman, the insurance agent who has her life insured for $4000, and who was in audience, actually faints.

The Liberal Arts.
Philadelphia Ledger: "Gen." Artz, who is tramping Kansas at the head of the Topeka army, (forty strong), serves rations four times a day. His Weatler will come to regard him as a classic branch of the liberal Arts.

This is No Joke.
Life: Maud—What is the best way to retain a man's love? Marie—Don't return it.

The Soul in Despair.
The world rolls round for ever like a mill; It grinds out death and life and good and ill; It has no purpose, heart or mind or will.

While air of Space and Time's full river flows, The mill must blindly whirl whirling on; It may be weary out, but who can know?

Men might know one thing were his sight less dim; That he is not to suit his petty whim, That it is quite indifferent to him.

Nay, does it treat him harshly as he saith? It grinds him some slow years to bitter death, Then grinds him back into eternal death.

THE SPALDING LEASE.

Bids Will Be Opened for its Purchase on Thursday Noon.

On Thursday at 12 o'clock Receiver Silvey will open the bids for the lease of the Spalding hotel. Just how many will be received is not known just now and nobody is saying much about it. It is understood that A. Hirsch will put in a bid. This would probably be in Mr. Emerson's interest.

George H. Hopper, of Ashland, came in yesterday and it is said that he may put in a bid and be backed by Thomas Bardou, of Ashland. Mr. Hopper is from the Chequamegon hotel at that city.

It was thought that George Green, of the Hotel Metropole in New York, might have an eye on the house, but he is only here to attend the Ohio Mining company meeting. When Mr. Putney, of the Metropole, was here and persuaded John Langton to clope with him to New York, he looked over the house and was inclined to buy or lease it. He is no longer in partnership with Mr. Green, however.

The Municipal Court.

In police court this morning Joseph Eckley pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a pair of shoes from Wieland's shoe store. Twenty days in the county jail was the sentence imposed.

DOSE OF STRYCHNINE

It Gave Andrew Hogan His Quietus Last Night in an Effectual and Summary Manner.

His Own Hand Administered It and He Sought Also to End His Wife's Life.

Despondency Was the Cause But He Seemed Unusually Bright and Cheerful Last Evening.

Andrew Hogan committed suicide last night at 123 West First street. He is about 25 years of age, married and came here from Chicago about four months ago. He worked in the Stevens box factory at West Duluth but was let out. For a week past he has been threatening to commit suicide unless he received money from his relatives in Chicago. He was not in pressing need. His wife was working in a restaurant and while they were a little behind on their board, they were not in bad shape.

Last evening he was feeling exceptionally cheerful. He went up to his room with his wife about 10 o'clock and went to bed. He tried to get her to drink from a bottle but she refused. He then took a large drink himself. He finally coaxed her to drink. She took about two tablespoonfuls, but it was so bitter that it sickened her and she vomited. It afterward proved to be whiskey and strychnine.

In half an hour Hogan had a convulsion. He told his wife it was only colic. When he had another she became frightened and at 11 o'clock called some people in the house. Dr. Murray was sent for. When he arrived he found the man and woman in convulsions. He got the woman straightened out but could do nothing with the man. He at first denied taking anything, but when told he was going to die finally admitted it was strychnine.

His convulsions were terrible, the worst Dr. Murray has ever seen. In his judgment the man must have taken eight or ten grains. The dose was so large and the action so rapid that no antidotes would be of any use. During intervals between spasms he was conscious. His only regret was that he had not taken some poison which would have caused an easier death. He died about 12:30 o'clock.

Dr. Robinson was also sent for but did not arrive until after the man was dead. The body was turned over to Deputy Coroner Stocker but no inquest will be held.

The woman is out of danger but is so stiff today that she can hardly walk.

FLAMES GETTING CLOSE.

The Engine House at Hibbing Was Destroyed Saturday Evening.

Editor Smith, of the Mountain Iron Manitou, was at the local United States land office this morning. He reports that a forest fire burned the engine house at Hibbing Saturday night. The turntable, however, was saved. Hibbing has an excellent system of waterworks, but at the time of the fire there was no hose in the town. Some has been received since.

Sunday the residents of Mountain Iron were called out to fight the flames away from White's sawmill and lumber yard. No damage was done to the town, but the flames ran through the county road between Mountain Iron and Hibbing, burning quite a little timber.

THE STANFORD CLAIM.

Great Comment Created in San Francisco Over the Claim Filed by Attorney General Olney.

Senator Stanford's Estate Was Appraised at Seventeen Millions, But Many Obligations Since Been Paid.

Mrs. Stanford Will Ignore the Claim and Fight Any Suit to the Bitter End.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The claim for $15,000,000 filed against the Stanford estate by Attorney General Olney as a preliminary step to force the government's claim against the original holders of the Central Pacific grant, has caused the greatest comment. It is now learned that the government's claim was presented on May 26, but that an attempt was made to keep the proceeding secret in order that the financial operations of the state need not be embarrassed.

The late Senator Stanford's estate was recently appraised at $17,500,000. Since the appraisement heavy obligations have been met, and it is stated now that the enforcement of the government claim would practically wipe out the estate, not only leaving the widow penniless, but cutting off all beneficiaries under the senator's will, including the endowment of $5,000,000 to the Stanford university.

It is even said that the estate, after liquidation of its acknowledged debts, may not equal the amount of the claim of the government. The estate of the late Senator Stanford, which bears his name, was founded, would not stand, in the decision of the courts should be in favor of the government, and the university would necessarily be sacrificed to satisfy the judgment.

Mrs. Stanford has stated that the government's claim will be resisted to the fullest extent of her ability. She regards the proceedings in the nature of a test case and was not surprised at the filing of the claim. Further than these statements she would not talk. Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Stanford's attorney, in an interview said:

"The opinion of the attorney general of the United States is entitled to a great deal of consideration but he is proceeding on a wrong assumption. I am free to say that I do not think the government will be able to collect a thing from the estate of the late Senator Stanford. The government issued the bonds to aid in the construction of the Central Pacific railroad. Neither Mr. Stanford nor any one else ever agreed to pay the government back. The bonds operate as a second mortgage. It is not a debt, but a mortgage. The government is perfectly right in California the members of a corporation are personally responsible for the debts of the corporation. It is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt."

"You can't compel a man to pay a mortgage. If I borrow $100,000 on property valued at $500, the holder of the mortgage cannot compel me to pay it when it becomes due. He can foreclose and take the property but he can't take the property if I don't want to. In this case of the Central Pacific Railroad company the government holds a second mortgage on the company's property. The government is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt. It is not a debt, but a mortgage. The government is perfectly right in California the members of a corporation are personally responsible for the debts of the corporation. It is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt."

William F. Harris, the railroad company's chief counsel, gave a similar expression of opinion. Neither of these lawyers, however, enters into discussion of the allegations offered by Congress. Many and others loudest in the demand for prosecution of the claims against C. P. Huntington and the Stanford, Crocker, Seattles and others state.

Today is the last day under the law which Mrs. Stanford has to accept or reject the government's claim. It is believed she will simply ignore the claim which in law amounts to rejection. It will then be in order for the government to institute suit. Attorney General Olney's claim was filed in the probate court in San Francisco before Judge Coffey, where the Stanford estate is now undergoing settlement.

HAVE EVADED THE LAW.
A Shipload of Chinese Laborers Get Into This Country.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—The craft and cunning of the Chinese in this city has once more circumvented the federal authorities and the exclusion laws, and as a result of the privileges extended to them by congress in connection with the Midwinter fair, the Celestial population in the country has been swelled by the addition of another shipload of laborers who have had six months in which to scatter and conceal themselves.

When the resolution introduced by Senator Wiley, extending the same privileges to exhibitors at the Midwinter fair as had been previously granted to the Columbian exposition was adopted, the parties in this city who have been engaged in evading the exclusion laws were quick to see the opportunity to bring in another batch of Chinese under cover of bringing them to the fair, as had been done at Chicago, and as a result 257 laborers were landed, despite the opposition of Collector Wise.

Special Agent Phoenix, acting under instructions from the treasury department, visited the Chinese village last week and discovered that out of the 257 Chinese originally landed, all but twenty-seven had levanted and there is little doubt that each one of the 230 laborers who have thus slipped into the country is now safely registered, with years of residence in the United States backed up by a score of witnesses.

A resolution looking resolution resulted in placing something like $50,000 into the pockets of the Chinese company that manipulated the scheme and organized a company for the purpose of placing a Chinese exhibit at the fair.

RETURN OF A MISSING MAN.

Was Absent Twenty-seven Years and His Wife Had Married Again.

NEWARK, N. J., June 6.—When Patrick Dowd, after an absence of twenty-seven years, turned up at his home in this city, he found that his wife, believing him dead, had been married thirteen years to Thomas Higgins.

Mrs. Dowd-Higgins received a letter about fourteen years ago from the chief of police at Louisville saying her husband had been living in Kentucky and was now mourning for Dowd almost to the time she married Higgins. After her later marriage in England to Higgins they came to this country and settled in Bloomfield where Higgins purchased a house and lot and gave them to his wife.

Higgins was about to go to work when Dowd arrived. Mrs. Dowd-Higgins recognized her first husband at once and fell in a faint. When she revived, Dowd told Higgins that he was his husband did not believe the story until his wife confirmed it. Both husbands talked the matter over, which ended in Dowd telling Higgins that if he wanted to live with him, he must give up his wife. Higgins, who was personally responsible for the debts of the corporation, it is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt."

Higgins has retained a lawyer and so says Higgins, Higgins who says he will apply for a divorce from Dowd on the ground of desertion, as she is happy and contented with Higgins. Dowd says he has been living in Kentucky and his husband did not believe the story until his wife confirmed it. Both husbands talked the matter over, which ended in Dowd telling Higgins that if he wanted to live with him, he must give up his wife. Higgins, who was personally responsible for the debts of the corporation, it is wrong in assuming that the mortgage is a debt."

BOB SMITH IS MAYOR AGAIN.

St. Paul Democrats and Republicans Fighting Over the Assembly.

ST. PAUL, June 6.—Robert A. Smith was yesterday sworn in as mayor of this city and in the afternoon the common council organized. The board of aldermen organized without trouble, the Democrats having an acknowledged majority.

In the assembly both sides claimed the majority and two bodies are organized for work. The Democrats chose Mr. Van Slyke for president and the Republicans walked out to another room and organized with John Copeland as president.

The mayor's appointments were sent to the two Democratic bodies and endorsed by them. John Clark was made chief of police and John O'Connor chief of the fire department. Mr. Van Slyke was made secretary to the mayor. Costello has been an editorial writer on the Dispatch but was a Tammany Democrat when he lived in New York several years ago.

A Disgraceful Affair.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Col. Boone, the animal trainer, has not given up hope of bringing off the fight between a lion and bear which was stopped by the police recently at the Midwinter fair. A permit has been granted by the supervisor of Solano county to exhibit trained animals in feats of strength, and the plan is to have a fight between a lion and grizzly bear at the Valley fair on July 4. Twenty thousand people are expected to attend the fight.

Fatally Burned.

KANSAS CITY, June 6.—A gasoline stove explosion in Adam Long's house, No. 1006 Central, occurred last night, and two persons, Mrs. Glynne and Nora Kevel, were frightfully burned. The other girl was probably recovered.

Real merit is characteristic of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is manifested every day in the remarkable cures the medicine accomplishes.

FOR NEW BUILDINGS.

Favorable Report by the House Committee on the Erection of Fourteen New Government Buildings.

It Has Also Voted to Erect a New Printing Office, Costing Nearly Two Millions.

A Hall of Public Records to be Built and New York Appraisers' Warehouse Finished.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The remarkable record of the Fifty-second congress wherein no bill appropriating money for the erection of a public building was able to run the gauntlet of economists, is not likely to be repeated this session. Only one bill for two or three buildings in Washington for the purpose of the general government, the committee on public buildings was delayed in reaching the consideration of proposals for buildings of merely local importance.

Since it has been at work upon the minor bills, which there are many, the committee has made a fair record of approvals, and has now reported to the house in favor of the erection of fourteen postoffices and revenue buildings, ranging in cost from $30,000 to $100,000. There have been introduced this session and referred to the committee, bills for about 150 public buildings or for improvements to standing structures. But a small proportion of them have been confirmed by the committee as yet, and it is not probable that Chairman Bankhead will give this congress an opportunity to equal the record of the Fifty-first in which nearly two new government buildings were started.

A Lady's Remarkable Experience.

Why She Praises the Copeland Physicians.

Mrs. A. Guiness, a lady residing in Baldwin, Wis., recently came to Duluth for the purpose of consulting the Copeland physicians about an inability to breathe through her nose. Her nose was stopped up so air could not pass through it, and had been in that condition for almost thirteen years. Upon examination, the cause of stoppage was found to be the formation of polypous tumors in the nose—a condition that exists more often than is generally supposed. She said she was willing to submit to almost anything that would free her nose and enable her to breathe through it once more. She was told that the tumors could be removed quickly and easily and without causing the least pain or distress as the Copeland physicians use only the latest and best methods in all their procedures. Sufficient to say that in a few seconds a large tumor had been removed from her nose and subsequently several smaller ones, thus giving free passage to air on its way to and from the lungs.

When she found what was the cause of her trouble, she was so relieved that she was willing to submit to almost anything that would free her nose and enable her to breathe through it once more. HE SUES FOR LOST SKIN.

Suit Against the City of San Francisco by a Montana Banker.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Michael McGowan, a banker, who came here from Butte, Mont., and who was subsequently treated in the city hospital for an ulcerated ankle, has begun suit against the city for $25,000 damages. He sues to recover for lost skin.

His claim is that the hospital surgeons placed him under the influence of a powerful anaesthetic, and without his knowledge or consent, cut from his thighs seven strips of skin 1½ inches wide and from 4 to 8 inches long. McGowan's valued epidermis was used in a skin-grafting operation upon the face of a Frenchman and a French woman who had been badly burned.

Acquitted of Murder.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 6.—Carter Jones, a brother of Governor Thomas G. Jones, has been acquitted in the criminal case against him for the murder of a son, colored. Jones is a locomotive engineer and Jackson was his fireman. Eight years ago the two had a difficulty, when Jackson assaulted Jones, and shooting him dead. Jones was not indicted until four years afterwards. The jury was out but eleven minutes.

Indiana Whitecaps.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., June 6.—Royal Center has a sensation in an attempt to whitecap Dr. John R. Record, editor of the Royal Center Record. Burton, an affidavit charging George Conn, the town marshal, with being the ringleader in the affair, Conn has been arrested. The feeling is intense and further serious trouble is feared.

Alabama Strike Broken.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 6.—The miners' strike in Alabama is believed to be practically broken. The output of coal yesterday was 10,000 tons, about one-third of the normal output. Negro and convict labor has prevented a coal famine and thus the strike has been ineffective. The strikers' committee has issued a piteous appeal for aid for their suffering wives and children.

Reward for Mercenaries.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—President J. C. Clark, of the Mobile & Ohio road, has offered a reward of $1000 for the arrest and conviction of the persons who caused the wreck of passenger train No. 5 on that road near Fish Lake.

The Oregon Election.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6.—Nearly complete returns from sixteen counties out of thirty-two, gave Lord (Rep.) for governor, 19,337; Galloway (Dem.), 6,646; Pierce (Pop.), 11,447. Lord's plurality, 7910. Lord's plurality will not fall far from 15,000, the largest plurality ever given in Oregon.

NOW IS THE TIME

TO TREAT CATARRH

One Month's Treatment During the Summer Worth Two Months During the Winter.

It has been the custom of the Copeland physicians each spring and summer to announce the advent of the season as the most favorable for treating catarrh and all chronic diseases of a kindred nature, the results of repeated and oftentimes neglected colds.

They feel very grateful to the public for the confidence with which it accepts and responds to their printed utterances. Their many years' experience in treating all forms of catarrh and kindred diseases entitles them to speak authoritatively on the subject, and it is particularly pleasing to feel that the public appreciates and acknowledges the fact.

Therefore following the usual custom, the Copeland physicians desire to announce the advent of the present favorable season. Now is undoubtedly the time to treat catarrh. Now, we have nature to assist us in treating it instead of retarding it. A month's treatment now is worth more than two months during the winter. In fact, in some aggravated cases, it is simply impossible to effect a cure during the winter months, and in these instances patients have been advised to delay treatment until summer.

ST. LOUIS, June 6.—President J. C. Clark, of the Mobile & Ohio road, has offered a reward of $1000 for the arrest and conviction of the persons who caused the wreck of passenger train No. 5 on that road near Fish Lake.

The Oregon Election.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 6.—Nearly complete returns from sixteen counties out of thirty-two, gave Lord (Rep.) for governor, 19,337; Galloway (Dem.), 6,646; Pierce (Pop.), 11,447. Lord's plurality, 7910. Lord's plurality will not fall far from 15,000, the largest plurality ever given in Oregon.

SHERIFF'S EXECUTION SALE.

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of and under the seal of the district court of the state of Minnesota, in and for the county of Duluth, and county of St. Louis, on the 17th day of April, 1894, upon a judgment rendered and docketed in said court and county in an action thereon, wherein James Torrey was plaintiff and Mrs. A. J. Davis, defendant, in favor of said plaintiff and against said defendant, the sum of one hundred fifty-two and 30/100 ($152.30) dollars, with said execution has to me, as sheriff of said St. Louis County, been duly directed and delivered. I have levied upon and will sell at public auction, to the highest cash bidder, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county of St. Louis, on Friday the 8th day of June, 1894, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the right title and interest, that the above named judgment described on the 12th day of Oct. 1893, that being the date of the rendition of said judgment, the description of the property being as follows, to-wit:

Municipal Government.

No subject is agitating the people of this country more today than that of municipal reform. The effort to divorce city government from politics, and to conduct it on a purely business basis, is gaining ground slowly, and a few cities in the country have made an honest attempt in the new direction. Dr.
Albert Shaw, in a timely and interesting study of the government of German cities, written for the June number of the Century, says that there seems to be an almost unquerable delusion in the popular mind that our American cities are the only ones which show the phenomena of rapid growth, and that their newness excuses their failure to provide well for the common necessities of urban life. To combat this idea, Dr. Shaw quotes an array of statistics that is startling. In 1870 New York had nearly 950,
000 people, while Berlin had barely 800,
000. In 1880 Berlin had outgrown New York, and in 1890 it still maintained the lead, having 1,578,791 people, as against New York's 1,515,301. This is as fast a growth as Chicago's, and twice as fast as Philadelphia's.

In the last fifteen years Hamburg has grown three times as fast as Boston and twice as fast as Baltimore. Leipzig has outstripped San Francisco in fifteen years and has grown much more rapidly than St. Louis. Munich and Breslau have duplicated Cincinnati and Cologne has put Cleveland, Buffalo and Pittsburg in the shade, while Madgeburg, starting with a far smaller population than Detroit and Milwaukee in 1880, has now almost reached their size. The same story can be told of a score of similar German cities, whose names are hardly known to the average American, and which have yet increased far more rapidly in size than our booming American cities, proudly pointed to as instances of marvelous growth. These figures sweep away one of the commonest excuses made for our deficiencies in "municipal housekeeping."

Dr. Shaw says that to the work of modern improvement, especially in public appointments, the Germans seem to have brought more of the scientific spirit and method than any other people.
Their habits of thoroughness in research, and of patient, exhaustive treatment of any subject in hand, have fully characterized their new progress in the arts of civilized life.

Above all, the Germans had already developed a system of public administration more economical and more infallibly effective than could have been found elsewhere; and they were prepared, when the growth of their cities and the new demand for modern improvements made necessary a great increase in the number and variety of public functions, to do in the best possible way whatever it was decided to undertake. So confident were they, indeed, in the efficiency of their administrative organization, that they dared to assign to the municipalities spheres of action which elsewhere have been left to private effort and control.

It is considered a high honor in Germany to be elected to the municipal council, and merchants, professional men and scholars are usually eager to be chosen. In addition to the magistracy and the council, there is in Berlin a body of about seventy-five so-called "citizen deputies," who are selected by the council for their general fitness to serve as associates on committees charged with the oversight of various municipal interests, such as parks, schools, the care of the poor, and the sanitary services. They have no authority to vote in the council.
The burgomaster and magistrates are the most highly trained experts that a German city can secure. The burgomaster is an expert in the general art of municipal administration. Associated with him in the magistrical council are experts in education to administer the schools, experts in engineering to oversee public works of every character, experts in sanitary science, experts in public charity, experts in forestry and park management, experts in the technical and business management of water and gas supplies, and so on.

The mayor or head of the municipality is the general manager of the whole mechanism of administration, and usually the guiding spirit as well in the economic policies of the municipality. He may feel that success in the management of a smaller city will perhaps be rewarded by the prize of the mayoralty of a greater one. Thus the late Dr. Forckenbeck, mayor of Berlin, had made his reputation as mayor of Breslau, and was called to fill a vacancy in the same position at the capital. Many cities appoint their mayors for life, and some make a trial appointment for a term of years and then grant a life lease.

While it may not be advisable or possible to adopt this system of municipal government in its entirety in this country, there are many of its features which can be copied with great profit to our municipalities. One fact stands out before all others in considering wherein we can pattern our system after the German plan—we must, first of all other things, divorce our municipal government from politics.

A Danish Holiday.
Yesterday was the leading day in Denmark, it being the anniversary of the day upon which the "good king," Frederik VII, gave to his people their beloved constitution, on which account the day is called Grundlovsdagen (Constitution day).
The adoption of this constitution was a long stride forward in the direction of political and personal liberty, and King Frederik gained the love of his people by his willingness to do all that would advance their material and social welfare.

Frederik VII reached the throne in 1849, and at once dismissed the existing ministry and formed what is known as the March ministry, which included such champions of freedom as Bishop Monrad, A. W. Moltke, Otto Lehmann and Hvidt, the banker. A new election was submitted to the electors, and by its provision deputies were chosen and later convened as the rigsdag. This body assembled in October, 1848, and in short order adopted drafts of a constitution prepared by Monrad and an election law devised by Lehmann. A new ministry was formed in November of the same year, and after a few months of sharp debates the rigsdag united on a constitution. This granted suffrage to thousands who had never before possessed it, abolished many abuses and was generally "satisfactory." The king was heartily in favor of it and probably would have signed it had it been even more radical. On June 5, 1849, the document was signed and a peaceful victory was gained by the Danish people.

Should be Retained.
A petition has been extensively signed by the business men of the city requesting the mayor to retain Thomas Hayden as city detective. It is somewhat surprising that such a movement should be considered necessary, because Detective Hayden has proven himself to be an excellent man for the position and his long and efficient service entitled him to retention in office. Indeed, it is altogether improbable that Mayor Lewis, who announced upon his inauguration that he intended to run the city on business principles, has any idea of removing Mr.
Hayden.

The numerous signatures to the petition, asking that Mr. Hayden be retained, show that his removal would not be a popular act. Mayor Lewis will do well if he resists the importunities of those who are trying to oust Mr. Hayden to obtain the place for another. The city can hardly afford to lose the services of one who has such an extensive acquaintance with notorious crooks and can spot them as soon as they arrive in the city.

Henry Waterson keeps pounding away at Col. Breckinridge in the Louisville Courier-Journal. In a recent issue he says: "No congressional district in the country has held a more reputable place in the eyes of the nation than the Ashland district. We do not believe that its voters will so act this year that no district shall hold a more disreputable place." And yet the latest advices from Kentucky are that the colonel will be renominated.

According to an estimate made by a French statistician, the earth's entire population is 1,195,450,000 persons, of which 42 per cent are white, 44 per cent yellow, 11 per cent negro, 2 per cent mixed Oceanic and 1 per cent Indian.
About one-third of the whole population belongs to the various Christian sects.

Popular Preacher

Says HOOD'S Rallies the Vital Forces and Gives Strength

Rev. J. Merritt Driver, D.D.
Is widely known as pastor of the First M. E.
Church at Columbia City, Indiana, and is a powerful pulpit orator. His book, "Samson and Shylock, or a Preacher's Plea for the Workman," has received much praise from press and clergy. Dr. Driver says:
"Columbia City, Ind., June 3, 1893.
"Dear Sir:—Among the rallies of all the vital forces, I regard Hood's Sarsaparilla as the general-in-chief. Crowded and overworked, as a preacher and lecturer, I sometimes am conscious that I am not measuring up to the best that I am capable of doing.
A few doses—a bottle or two—of Hood's, however, greatly Invigorates My Body, Clarifies My Mind, and Makes me feel Like a New Man."

"In a week I am up to concert pitch again, cheerful, buoyant and ready for any work and capable of any feat of strength or endurance. To all overworked professional men Hood's Sarsaparilla is a God-send."
"Very truly yours,
"JOHN MERRITT DRIVER."

Operators and Miners to Try to Agree in Their Own Districts.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 6.—The meaning of the action of the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, as learned by general conversations with various persons representing the miners, is that the board of trustees of that church to explain his expressions of sympathy for the strikers at Cripple Creek and condemnation of the deputy sheriffs. Half the audience walked out Sunday to show their disapproval of his sentiment on the matter.

Will Not Enter Politics.
MASSILLON, Ohio, June 6.—A letter has been received here from President John McBride, of the United Mine Workers, in which he says that his relations to the miners forbid his entrance into politics.
"These considerations," he says, "will not allow me to even consider the possibility of being a congressional candidate and you may say so, publicly and privately, that I will not accept a nomination for congress this fall."

He Must Explain.
DENVER, June 6.—Rev. Myron Reed, pastor of the First Congregational church, has been summoned by the board of trustees of that church to explain his expressions of sympathy for
the strikers at Cripple Creek and condemnation of the deputy sheriffs. Half
the audience walked out Sunday to show their disapproval of his sentiment on the matter.

CITY BRIEFS.

Cullum, the dentist, for crown work. Smoke Eudion cigar. W. A. Foote & Co. Cheapest in the end, Imperial flour.

The Duluth Athletic club will give a promenade concert on Wednesday evening at the Glen Avon rink. The city band and a number of prominent soloists will take part.

Part V of the "Book of the Builders" is now ready. Each succeeding number is better than the one preceding it. Part V is an artist's dream. One coupon and 25 cents secures any part; 30 cents if sent by mail.

"Under the Spell" was presented by West Duluthians last evening at the Bethel before a good audience. Judge Powell is presiding over jury cases in the municipal court these days, while Judge Winge is doing considerable in the line of adjudicating civil cases in which no jury is required.

Albert Hanslaib was setting up the cigars today with more than usual liberality, the cause being the arrival of a young daughter at his residence this morning. The mother and child are doing well, and the father is happy over his first born.

On Thursday, of next week, Professor Ours will give a dancing party at the Masonic Temple to mark the formal opening of his dancing academy.

The Swedish Republican club meets tonight at United States hall, corner of Nineteenth avenue west and Superior street.

A party of about twenty ladies and teachers from the Hardy school went up on the Iron Range road this morning, escorted by A. H. Viole, to view the mines and other interesting sights. They will return this evening.

Dr. McNulty, dentist, has removed to Rooms 1 and 2, old Glass Block, above Simon Clark's grocery store.

The active class of the Turn Verein will hold a picnic, with field day exercises on Sunday at Braugram's gardens on the Iron Range road.

Marriage licenses have been issued to James J. Daly and Jennie Bladen, J. H. Ferguson and Annie E. Lee, Robert Armstrong and Mary A. Harmer.

First papers have been issued in the office of the district clerk to D. A. Ekman and Isaac Kallio, of Finland, and A. H. Gawley, of Canada.

Wanted, furnished house with modern conveniences: East End or Lakeside preferred. Address P. O. Box 641, City.

Lost. A note for $321 drawn in favor of Cynthia H. Fletcher, payable at the Security Bank of Duluth and endorsed by the same party. All persons are hereby notified not to negotiate or purchase said note.

MUST FIGHT CONTESTS.

MacDonald Brothers Must Upset One—They Want Mineral Laws.

MacDonald brothers, New York capitalists and mining experts, who went to Rainy Lake City on the first boat, have returned and are highly enthusiastic over the gold prospects. They say that the only thing that is holding developments back is the lack of mineral laws. They have obtained two pieces of property which they think are equal to the Little American or Sultana properties. One of the pieces is covered with a contest, however. The brothers have gone to Washington to see if something cannot be done to do away with the trouble of contests. They will leave no effort undone to interest legislators in extending the mineral laws to Minnesota.

Fred Bowman writes that his outfit is on the ground and that he expects to get out the first Rainy Lake paper by June 10. He says that everything looks well, and that people are coming in all the time.

MONEY TO LOAN—Without sending for acceptance, at lowest rates and no red tape.

TO RENT CHEAP—Steam heated flats and new houses, one with barn.

ASSAULT IS CHARGED.

James McGee Accused of Pounding Gus Redstrom—Sunday Shaving Case.

James McGee was arraigned this morning on the charge of assaulting Gus Redstrom in the third degree. He pleaded not guilty and put up $15 bail to appear June 8, at 10 a. m., to stand trial. The trouble grew out of a dispute in a sand scow over wages.

E. H. Harris, proprietor of the hotel Spalding barber shop, pleaded not guilty to keeping his place open and shaving on Sunday. He was released on his own recognizance until 2 p. m. June 8, when the trial will be held. Complaint was made by George Brown, proprietor of the Lyceum barber shop. The statement made yesterday that Brown also was arrested is incorrect.

HAS SOME NEW YARNS.

Marsal Bede is Entertaining the Boys With Anecdotes Today.

J. Adam Bede was up to the land office this morning. He said that he was there to collect all he could for advertising final proof notices in the Tower Budget, after which he would arrest the land attorneys. He stopped at police headquarters and swapped the latest yarns with the Republican chief of police. J. Adam has a yarn about Grove's mistake in sending a minister to the Sandwich Islands which is a dandy. He tells it only upon invitation, however.

Some Improvement Being Made.

The prospects for public improvements are a shade better. Considerable new sidewalk is being constructed and quite a little being reconstructed. The first of next week the contractors will begin to repave Fifth avenue west along the Spalding hotel and the Union depot. That will probably employ twenty-five or thirty men. The city will also soon commence the work of repairing holes in the street.

The Police Court.

In police court this morning Frank McCormick, Ben Henderson, John McGeller and Patsy Harrington pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness. Thomas McLaughlin and Thomas Connors entered similar pleas to the charge of vagrancy. All hands were given suspended sentences.

Money to loan at lowest rates. HOWARD & PATTERSON, First National Bank building.

WAS A BATTLE ROYAL

Grand Row This Noon Over the Possession of a House Between the McCormicks and Greens.

"Bob" Patterson Was One of the Principals in the Fray and Did Some Tall Battering.

"Uncle" John Green Was Hit With a Bed Slat and Patterson's Shoulder is Broken.

At 221 Seventh avenue west this noon was a merry matinee of a fistic nature. It was an afterclap to the trouble Uncle John Green has been having with Frank McCormick, the man to whom he sold his residence at the above mentioned number.

Last night, so Mr. Green swore in the presence of the assistant county attorney this morning, McCormick broke down the front door, entered the house, set up a bed in a chamber and proceeded to woo "nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep."

This morning Mr. Green had McCormick arrested on the charge of unlawful and forcible entry. The accused gave bail and was released until his day of trial.

Now while the legal skirmish was in progress at the city hall, a brother to McCormick entered Green's house, thrust his goods, tore up the carpets, brought in a lot of McCormick's household possessions, put them in a room and set Mrs. McCormick on top of them. When Green saw how things were, he consulted his attorney and to his advice proceeded to oust the McCormick family.

Just then "Bob" Patterson came in and told Mrs. McCormick that she need not go out unless she wished, as he would provide help to keep her inside. "I don't want to go out," said Mrs. McCormick—so far as that went, down to active business. He brought in McCormick's brother and father.

"Get out of here," said Green to Patterson. "I won't and you cannot put me out," said "Bob."

"I can," spoke up Frank Green, son of Uncle John.

Old man McCormick had just been pushed out of the door, which ended his part on the scene of action. Young Green then buckled into Patterson, boosted him out of doors and in a struggle that followed, both rolled down the terrace onto the hard sidewalk.

McCormick followed up the combatants for the evident purpose of helping Patterson. "Uncle John" followed up McCormick so as to keep him off his son Frank. The instant he stepped on to the sidewalk, Patterson said that he took under the right eye making an ugly bruise and black and blue beauty spot. Patterson followed up this blow from his fist by a blow with the heel of his hand. "Uncle John" on the side, near the small of the back, badly bruising him and making him dizzy headed.

That is the shape two policemen found him in when they came up. Frank Green battered a thumb and finger when he hit Patterson. Patterson in turn had his shoulder broken by the unceremonious roll down the terrace. He pleaded that he was unable to go to headquarters so he was left in Green's house for repairs. Green says that Patterson will be under arrest before night.

The rest of the warriors were taken to police headquarters. McCormick was locked up and the Greens will lodge a charge of assault against him. They were not looked up, but permitted to sit in behind the railing and anoint themselves freely with extract of witch hazel.

The case against Frank McCormick was to come up at 2 o'clock. Both sides have acted on the advice of attorneys. Green claims that he was to have the use of the house until July 1, when his new residence will be ready. McCormick evidently disagrees with that view of things. This afternoon Green had a couple of laborers remove his goods back into the house and putting McCormick's things out. That was the way the tide of battle stood at 2 o'clock.

THE COURT FILINGS.

State Begins a Suit to Recover for Pine Cut from State Lands.

The attorney general, H. W. Childs, by Attorney A. L. Hoppaugh, has filed a complaint on the part of the state of Minnesota against Joseph Fredette, to recover $437.50 for 285,000 feet of pine taken from state lands in St. Louis county.

Roger S. Powell has filed a demurrer to the complaint of Edmond Sherwood, his former law partner, on the ground that it does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

In the case of the city against N. W. Harris & Co., notice to the defendants to produce their transcript of proceedings of the city council relative to the bond issue, has been filed.

W. L. LaRue, assignee for the Duluth Iron Mining and Development company, yesterday filed $5,000 bonds with J. M. McClintock, G. N. Holland and W. G. LaRue as sureties.

County Committee Will Meet.

The Republican county committee will probably have a meeting some day this week for the purpose of calling a convention to name delegates to the state convention which comes off in July. It is expected by some and desired by others that delegates to the state convention, delegates to the congressional convention and the regular county ticket will all be named that day.

STATE OF OHIO.

CITY OF CLEVELAND, Lucas County.

SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS

Another Serious Charge Has Been Brought Against Thomas Clark, the County Superintendent of Poor.

The investigation of Thomas Clark, superintendent of poor, was taken up this afternoon by the county commissioners. Another and more serious matter was placed before the board, a shortage in Mr. Clark's accounts. Some time ago an investigation of the transportation account was instituted. The orders for transportation given the county auditor by Mr. Clark were taken and traced back by an expert. He went to the railroad agents and from them got the amounts paid for the tickets.

The period over which this investigation extended was from May, 1893, to January, 1894. Since that time up to three weeks ago Mr. Clark had made no report. The shortage discovered during that period was between $700 and $800.

HAS AN OPTION ON IT.

J. F. Hamblizer, of Houghton, May Purchase the Minerva Gold Mine.

J. F. Hamblizer, formerly state treasurer of Michigan and cashier of the Superior Savings Bank of Houghton, Mich., arrived in the city today on the steamer Barker, en route home from Rat Portage, Ont., where he has been to look into the gold excitement in that section. On investigation he found the showing so good that he secured an option on the Minerva mine, which lies one mile and a half south of the Sultana, for which the owners recently refused $500,000.

Capt. Williams, of the Sultana, and other mining experts state, as their opinion is that the gold is in the undeveloped properties in that country and are anxious to see it opened up. An exposure of one of the veins that crosses the island on the contact between the granite and slate formations assayed $160 per ton.

First Visit in Years.

All Merritt and H. S. Ely, of Florida, have been up the North Shore trout fishing the past few days. They returned on the steamer Barker from Chicago bay yesterday evening where they made a nice catch. This was Mr. Ely's first visit to this section since the gold excitement of '64. He formerly resided in Superior where Ely's addition was planted and owned by his father, but for the past eighteen years he has been a resident of the Southern states.

Fires at Grand Marais.

William Fisher, auditor of Cook county, is down. He reports large forest fires near Grand Marais. Many settlers are being burned out but so far as known there has been no loss of life. F. N. and Joseph Grandmaitre were hounded in and barely got out with their lives. They lost their entire outfit. One of them, Joseph, came down on the boat yesterday.

Are After Stumpage.

A number of Saginaw people are in the city now. They are buying stumpage, for which there is now a pretty brisk demand. There is no settled price, however, it bringing all the way from $1 to $5.

FRENCH & BASSETT

First Street and Third Avenue West.

Two bullfrogs found themselves in a pail of milk, from which they could not jump out. One of them was for giving up, and said to the other: "Good-bye, I sink, I die!" Said his mate, "Brace up, you duffer! Keep a-jumping, and see what turns up." So they kept jumping up and down all night, and by morning had so churned the milk that it turned to butter, and they jumped off the butter on to land.

MORAL:

If you want to get through the hard times quick, keep a-jumping. We are "a-jumpin'" hard for trade, and we find our efforts rewarded, for we are getting lots of it. There are three good reasons for this state of affairs, and we tell you what they are:

FIRST,

Our prices are lower than any house which sells for cash and from 20 to 30 per cent lower than others who sell on credit.

SECOND,

Because our stock is large, new, well selected, well shown, and contains the latest of everything.

THIRD,

OUR PARTIAL PAYMENT PLAN, which is most liberal, was originated by us in Duluth eight years ago and is applied to our LOW PRICE SYSTEM, it gives us no competition.

First street low rent makes prices so low with us that none can touch them.

TURBULENT STRIKERS

Several Drunken Men at Farmersburg, Ind., Taunt Militiamen and Start a Small Sized Skirmish.

Forty or Fifty Shots Were Fired and the Attacking Party Beat a Quick Retreat.

Cripple Creek Matters Made More Critical by Governor Waite's Orders to the Deputy Sheriffs.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 7.—A special from Shelby, Ind., says: About 1 o'clock this morning several drunken men approached the picket line around the ninety militiamen stationed at Farmersburg and taunted the guards. One man attempted to pass through the line and was brought to a halt. The intruder hurled a brick at the guard and the latter opened fire. This was the signal for a general fusillade of stones and firing by the guards. Forty or fifty shots were fired in quick succession. Col. Ebel, of Terre Haute, in command of the three companies, called to arms all his men, but they were unable to run down the attacking party, not one being found. The firing caused great excitement. A general alarm was sounded and companies D, of Washington, A, of Indianapolis, and the Second regiment of Independents under Col. Rose were ordered to Farmersburg on the double quick. Three companies under Maj. Pennington were ordered to skirmish between this place and Farmersburg. It was feared that the might be a general attack made on the small force. All the troops remaining here were held until 1 o'clock when a message to Gen. McKee from Col. Ebel at Farmersburg announced that there seemed to be no more danger. The six companies sent forward returned here at 5:45 this morning.

Miners Burning Bridges. BRIDGEPORT, Ohio, June 7.—Trainmen report that the timber and Ohio bridges have been burned near Barnesville. Troops are expected here momentarily and the coal crews have been ordered to report at the Miners are preparing to resist any effort to put coal trains through on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling, United States marshals are here to execute Judge Taft's order restraining the strikers from any interference with the trains. Coal trains will start on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad as soon as the Fourteenth regiment arrives. The miners threaten to resist the soldiers and blow up the railroad bridges and tunnels. There are 200 Winchester among the Wheeling creek miners and 100 at Laurelton. Several railroads are blocked and bloodshed is feared.

Ohio Militia Moving. KENTON, Ohio, June 7.—The Second Infantry has been ordered to report at Columbus immediately. Col. Kuert will concentrate in this city.

AKRON, Ohio, June 7.—In response to the governor's call for troops to suppress the outbreak at Cambridge, Companies F and G of the Eighth regiment left here at an early hour this morning for the scene of the trouble.

West Virginia Miners Go Out. KENOVA, W. Va., June 7.—This morning telegrams were received from Dingess, W. Va., stating that the miners at that point had joined the general strike. It is not believed the strike will affect the main portion of the Pocahontas region, as the miners farther up the road are mostly negroes and foreigners who have no sympathy with the strike.

Work Resumed at Manown. PITTSBURGH, June 7.—Work was resumed at the mines of the Youghiogheny Coal company, at Manown today, under protection of about seventy-five deputies. Nearly 300 negroes who were imported are in the mine. The strikers assembled in force about the Plymouth, but this far have committed no overt acts. The resumption at Manown was made in accordance with an agreement of the operators for the purpose of breaking the strike. Other mines will be started, if successful in resuming here.

MEN WILL BE ARRESTED. Governor Waite's Proclamation Will Not be Heeded.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., June 7.—A local newspaper publishes today what purports to be interviews with Under Sheriff Mullins and County Commissioner Boynton, who are in charge of the army of 1200 deputies camped within sight of the Bull hill. Mullins declares it is the intention to storm Bull hill, regardless of consequences. Commissioner Boynton was even more emphatic. He declared that neither Governor Waite nor any other man had any right to arbitrate out of the law. There were men on Bull hill guilty of grave crimes for whose arrests they had warrants. These men would be arrested at all hazards. He allowed that in doing this many lives would be placed in jeopardy, nevertheless the county had gone to greater expense in massing a large force to vindicate the law and this was not the time for hesitation. It is conceded that the deputies are safe from attack so long as they attempt no offensive movement. It is raining here and bitterly cold.

Reinforcement of State Troops. DENVER, June 7.—State troops numbering 320 men left here at 6 o'clock for Midland, from which point they will march to Bull hill. The troops are equipped with two Napoleon field pieces and a Gatling gun. More troops are expected during the day.

Line Repairer Fined Upon. DENVER, June 7.—All news from Cripple Creek is sent by telephone, as the deputies have cut all telegraph wires and will not allow repairs to be made. A Western Union lineman was fired on by deputies when he put spurs to his horse to avoid arrest. His horse was wounded.

KANSAS REPUBLICANS.

State Convention Adopts a Bimetallic Platform and Roasts the Present State Government.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 7.—When the Republican state convention came together today the committee on resolutions and platform, which had been out a good portion of the night, submitted the result of their deliberations, as follows: Reaffirming the Republican platform of 1892. Resolving that the constant patriotism of our party is in itself a guaranty to the nation that the interests of its defenders, their widows and orphans, will be liberally cared for, and we denounce their cruel and deliberate betrayal by the present Democratic administration. Second, We adhere to the Republican platform of protection and believe that tariff laws should protect the products of the farmer as well as of the factory. The American people favor bimetalism and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with such restrictions as may be deemed proper, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the parity of values of the two metals, and that the purchasing power of the dollar, whether gold, silver or paper, shall be at all times equal. The interests of the producers of the country, its farmers and its workmen, demand that the mints be opened to the coinage of silver in the mints of the United States and that congress should enact a law levying a tax on importations of foreign silver sufficient to fully protect the products of our own mines. Fourth, We favor national and state legislation for the encouragement of irrigation. Fifth, We denounce the present state administration for its revolutionary tendencies, its violation of the laws and contents of the constitution, the corruption and incompetency of its officials, its gross mismanagement of the state institutions, and for the discredit it has brought upon the name of the state. We pledge the Republican party nominee of this convention to a faithful and economical discharge of all public duties, to a strict observance and an honest enforcement of law and to the obedience to the mandates of the courts. Sixth, To the maintenance of these principles we invite the support of all patriotic citizens. The platform as presented by the committee was adopted without a dissenting voice. The convention proceeded to select a candidate for lieutenant governor.

James A. Troutman was nominated for lieutenant governor on the third ballot, the vote standing: Troutman, 538; Heiser, 348. QUIET AT M'KEESPORT. A Midnight Cannon Shot Causes Some Excitement. M'KEESPORT, Pa., June 7.—A comparatively quiet night was passed, but with the rising of the sun, the tube works strikers, refreshed by a good night's rest, poured from their homes and soon the streets were filled with idle people, despite the numerous proclamations of Sheriff Richards and the mayor. The largest gatherings were about the works and depots, the strikers still fearing that the firm would attempt to operate the plant or that new men or deputies would be brought in. They maintained a grim and determined silence, and the leaders say there will be no further trouble unless this is done. Great excitement was caused about midnight by the booming of a cannon on the opposite side of the river. Miners rushed out of their houses to the river front, believing the deputies had been driven away. No cause for firing the cannon could be learned and the citizens returned to their homes. This was the only exciting event of the night. The Duquesne Tube company, whose plant was raided yesterday, by the McKeesport strikers, has decided to suspend operations until the trouble at McKeesport is settled, the orders on hand being sufficient to justify the risk of running the works.

A Mysterious Outrage. RICHMOND, Va., June 7.—Dr. J. F. Stone, in company with Harry Arnold, while returning from a theater at Newport News, was attacked by a band of fifteen masked men, who covered him with tar and feathers. The victim of these outrages has received a notice through the mail that unless he left town within twenty-four hours he would be hanged. Dr. Stone is a British subject, but has lived at Newport News for some time. He declares he has no idea why the insult was offered him.

A Long Irrigation Canal. MINNEAPOLIS, June 7.—R. B. Langdon & Co., of this city, have secured a $2,000,000 canal contract in Arizona. The country to be irrigated is 400,000 acres, mostly in Maricopa county and the Verde. The canal will start above Phoenix and will be 110 miles long.

New Hungarian Cabinet. BUDA PEST, June 7.—Dr. Wekerle had a 2-hours' conference with Emperor Francis Joseph today. It is understood that Dr. Wekerle will be another interview with the emperor this afternoon and that the final composition of the new cabinet will be then announced.

Frost in Wisconsin. BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., June 7.—A heavy frost Tuesday night ruined potatoes and all early fruit but blueberries.

WAR SCARE IN SAMOA.

Small Skirmishes Have Taken Place Between Native Troops and Several People Were Killed.

APIA, Samoa, May 25, per steamer Mariposa, via San Francisco, June 7.—There is no abatement in the war scare, notwithstanding the presence of three ships of war, and there is every prospect of serious and bloody fighting at an early date. Two conflicts have occurred between small parties of rival troops, which have resulted in four being killed. Both parties have occupied a strong position. The government is entrenched on the hill which was held by the Tamassee party during the fight of 1889, while the rebels are about three-quarters of a mile distant on another hill. Both positions are almost impregnable without the aid of cannon by which they might be shelled. It is greatly feared that the government party will be beaten, as it is in a state of thorough demoralization. The German warships here, and upon its promise to the consuls, surrendered fifty guns to the government. They however refuse to fulfill other promises made by them and announce their intention of joining the Atua party of rebels. The German warship Buzard arrived May 12. There are now two German warships here and many rumors are afloat as to what their intentions are, and annexation or a German protectorate are freely spoken of amongst the German residents. The British ship Curacao is also in the harbor. The Orlando, with Admiral Bowden Smith on board, is expected in Samoa about June 15. J. H. Deane, special agent of the United States, arrived by the Monowai for the purpose of arresting Augustus G. Hagen, wanted in New York for forgery. He was a clerk in the Exchange National bank and is charged with defrauding the bank of over $300,000. Although Samoa has no extradition treaty with the states, King Malietoa had the man arrested and will hand him over today to Bennett on the Mariposa.

Damage Not Heavy. MONTREAL, June 7.—An official of the Canadian Pacific today said: Reports from all parts of the mountain and Fraser river sections of the road, up to late last night, indicate that the railway has suffered little damage aside from the detention of trains. Numerous breaks were made in the embankments where they follow the course of the rivers, and where the water is raised above the rock protection, but no important structures have been lost. It is expected that the breaks will be repaired within a short time after the subsidence of the rivers.

Two Presidential Nominations. WASHINGTON, June 7.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate: Justice—W. Oscar Hamilton, of Texas, to be attorney of the United States for the northern district of Texas. Treasury—Charles F. Stone, of New Hampshire, to be naval officer of customs in the district of Boston and Charlestown, Mass.

Opened Hay Lake Channel. SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., June 7.—The new palatial steamer North West arrived here at 12:30 today on her first trip. The steamer made the run up the new Hay Lake channel. She was met at Sault's Encampment by the government engineers.

Bank Wrecker Sentenced. INDIANAPOLIS, June 7.—Theodore P. Haughey, president of the defunct Indianapolis National bank, was this morning sentenced to six years in the penitentiary for his part in the wrecking of that institution.

Sugar Trust People Summoned. WASHINGTON, June 7.—Subpoenas directed to members of the sugar trust have been issued by the senate committee of investigation. Among those whose presence before the committee is desired are the two Havenmeyers, Reed, Seales and Matthews.

Third Regiment Under Arms. COLUMBUS, June 7.—Governor McKinley has ordered out the Second regiment Ohio National guard, headquarters at Tiffin, on account of increased mining troubles in Belmont county, near Wheeling, W. Va., and has put the Third regiment at Dayton under arms.

TACKLING THE TARIFF

Senatorial Conferences Being Held Today by Party Leaders Tending to Hasten That Result.

An Agreement to Proceed Under the Five Minute Rule Will Probably be Reached Today.

Senate Has Summoned Members of the Sugar Trust to Appear Before it at Once.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The leaders on both sides of the senate chamber have been conferring with a view to reaching some agreement so that progress will be made on the tariff. For several hours Senators Aldrich and Allison have been conferring with Senators Harris and Cockrell and each side held consultations with party friends. Senator Aldrich says that it is likely that an agreement will be reached to proceed with the schedules of the bill until wool is reached under the 5-minute rule and finish them this week so that the wool schedule can be taken up Monday. This includes the agricultural schedule, which is now under consideration. Spirits, wines and other beverages, cotton manufactures and flax, hemp and jute, in all four schedules covering twenty-seven pages of the printed bill. Mr. Aldrich says that these four schedules are not so important, but that they may be considered in that manner. As to the time of the final vote, he said that no agreement could be made, nor could he predict when the vote would come, as the discussion on wool and the income tax may require prolonged.

SMUGGLING JAPANESE GIRLS.
Four Almost Lifeless Bodies Found in Boxes.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The steamer China, which arrived yesterday from the Orient, brings a peculiar story of the methods employed by the Japanese to smuggle girls into this country for immoral purposes. While the vessel was at the wharf at Yokohama receiving her cargo, a passenger came on board and asked to have four large boxes taken to his stateroom, but was refused as the boxes were too large. The boxes were left on the wharf to be placed in the hold with the other cargo. Just as they were being hoisted up a peculiar noise issued from one of the boxes attracted the attention of the stevedores who rolled the boxes aside and called the police. Upon examination the boxes were found to contain the almost lifeless bodies of four Japanese girls who were over two feet, three inches in length and one and one-half broad and deep. There was a small airhole at one end but the boxes were laid on the wharf end up and the holes closed. The Japanese who arrived with the cargo were not apprehended. Three of the girls were destined, if they lived, to a brothel in Portland, and the other was going to Tacoma.

More Troubles for the Taylors.
LINCOLN, Mo., June 7.—In the circuit court here, R. L. Gibson and brothers have been allowed $1,000 damages with interest, against William P. Taylor for the loss of their lumber yard, which is supposed to have been burned in 1892. Taylor also forfeited a $500 bond for his absence from court yesterday. His father, it is understood, is his principal backer. A number of men left for Milan, from which place a new search for the Taylors will be organized.

He's a Son of a Prophet.
DENVER, June 7.—In an address last evening before the Union league, Rev. Myron Reed, who resigned the pastorate of the Congregational church on account of the adverse feeling caused by his expression of sympathy for the Cripple Creek strikers, said: "I am not a prophet, but I am the son of a prophet. My father foresaw the beginning of the war I see the beginning of a war now. Those men on the hill are fighting the first battle. Special advantages to none, equal opportunities to all. Under this banner we fight this fight."

Apples Are High in Chicago.
CHICAGO, June 7.—What few good apples there are in Chicago are held at $50 a barrel, which price is high beyond all precedent. As there are 400 apples in a barrel this makes the price 12½ cents each. One South Water street firm has all the stock there is in the city. Dealers have resorted to tin cans instead of barrels as a source of supply and there are other evidences of the increasing severity of the apple famine.

Relic of the Lady Elgin.
CHICAGO, June 7.—One of the crews of a drugging company while working in the wake of the foot of Madison street has raised a relic of the old boiler which belonged to the ill-fated passenger steamer Lady Elgin, and recalls one of the worst disasters ever known on the great lakes. The vessel collided with the steamer Augusta in September, 1862, and immediately sank. It estimated that over 100 persons out of the 700 passengers she carried were drowned.

Pinched by the Coal Famine.
CHICAGO, June 7.—Several railroads entering this city are beginning to feel the scarcity of coal. The Illinois Central company has posted a notice declaring that "owing to the scarcity of coal the company has found it necessary, temporarily, to discontinue certain through passenger trains."

Distinguished Philadelphian Dead.
PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—James A. Wright, head of the great shipping house of Peter Wright & Sons, died today at his home in Germantown, aged 79 years.

A CRUEL CANARD.

Reported Loss of the Boston Excursion Train Denied.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The following dispatch has just been received from C. R. Hosmer, manager of the Canadian Pacific railroad at Montreal: "There is absolutely no truth in the report of an accident to the Raymond-Whitcomb excursion party. The excursion referred to is at Field, B. C., and there has been no accident to any passenger train on the road by which loss of life occurred." Mr. Hosmer also forwards the following dispatch: "Field, B. C., June 7.—The Raymond & Whitcomb party, mentioned as having been lost in the mountains, are comfortably located at the Canadian Pacific hotel here. They are waiting for the repair of the railway west of here."

National Scotch-Irish Society.

DES MOINES, June 7.—The large audience hall of the Y. M. C. A. building was crowded to suffocation today when the sixth annual congress of the Scotch-Irish society of America was called to order by P. M. Casaday. In the audience were representative men from nearly every state and territory, Wisconsin and Minnesota being especially well represented. Prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. A. L. Frisbie, and after a musical selection by a double quartet, addresses of welcome were delivered by Col. John Scott, president of the Iowa state society, Governor Frank D. Jackson, and the mayor of the city, all of whom greeted the delegates and referred to the object and influence of the society. Appropriate responses were made by Robert Homer, of New York, president of the national society, Dr. John Hall, of New York, and other delegates. An adjournment was then taken.

Congregationalists at Omaha.

OMAHA, June 7.—The sixty-eighth annual convention of the Congregational Home Missionary society formally convened at the First Congregational church this morning. About 1200 delegates were present when Maj. Gen. O. O. Howard, of New York, called the convention to order. The opening address was delivered by Rev. W. H. Alexander, of Nebraska, and was in the nature of a welcome. The response was by Col. Howard, Dr. Miller, of Omaha, General Secretary Clark's annual report was submitted, indicating marked progress and flattering prospects for the society. A brief address by the various state secretaries of the organization closed the morning session. In the afternoon the sixty-eighth annual meeting of the Congregational church building committee was the feature. Secretary L. H. Cobb addressed the delegates in a general review of the church extension branch of the society.

Suits for Over $2,000,000.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The city of Chicago today filed twenty-eight suits against as many railroad companies for amounts aggregating more than $2,000,000 for damages resulting from the construction of viaducts over various streets. Large judgments have been obtained against the city by property owners because of damages by viaducts, and today's action is taken to compel the railroads to relieve the city of such responsibility.

Won by Reminder.

LONDON, June 7.—Today the Epsom grand prize of 2000 sovereigns for 3-year-old colts carrying 8 stone 12 pounds and fillies carrying 8 stone 7 pounds, of the city and suburban course, about about one mile and a quarter, was won by Reminder, the property of T. Cannon. Douglass Baird's Sempronius was second and Lord Howe's Farndal was third.

Ex-Governor Price Dead.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Ex-Governor Rodman M. Price, of New Jersey, died at his residence, Oakland, Bergen county, N. J., today. He was a participant in raising the American flag by Commodore Robert C. Slater, at Monterey, Cal., July 7, 1846, and also a member of the constitutional convention held at Monterey, Cal., September, 1849. He was formerly an officer of the United States navy.

CEREBRINE (HAMMOND)

Extract of the Brain of the Ox.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA.

N. Y. Neurological Society, Meeting April 4, 1893: "A case was presented of locomotor ataxia which had been treated with hypodermic injections of CEREBRINE. Six years ago the patient, a man aged forty, had begun to suffer with double vision. This, after several months of treatment, had disappeared, and for a time he had been quite well. The typical symptoms of locomotor ataxia then came on complete loss of knee-jerk; sharp pains in the legs; the patient could not stand steadily with his eyes closed; difficulty in vacinating; sense of constriction around the waist. Treatment was begun about two weeks ago, and consisted of a daily hypodermic injection of CEREBRINE (Hammond) five drops, combined with a like amount of water. Improvement very marked; sexual functions perfectly restored; complete control over bladder and bowels, and sharp pains had disappeared. General health improved; able to run up and down stairs, and could stand steadily with his eyes closed. No other treatment employed. Improvement continued and steady."

NEARLY ALL GONE.

The Docks Are Almost Bare and $3.50 Per Ton Is Charged.

The price of soft coal has been put up another notch, and vessels are now paying $3.50 a ton for their fuel here. It is not plenty at that. The Iron Range and Missabe roads have within the past week been shipping coal to the ranges, many vessels have been fueling here, and the railroads have been taking out their share. The consequence is that the docks are nearly bare. The Eastern docks are in no better condition. Chicago's docks have been clear for some time. Buffalo the other day received for the first time a cargo of coal by the lakes. It came from Cleveland on the schooner C. H. Burton and was consigned to a Buffalo manufacturing concern.

A vessel owner in Cleveland received a telegram a day or two ago announcing that there was no more coal in Duluth for the boats, having all been bought up by railroads.

HE WAS A CRANK.

But His Announced Purpose Was a Praiseworthy One.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The perennial crank turned up at the executive mansion today. He was a young man and announced that his purpose was to convert President Cleveland to ways of righteousness. This was the third time that he had been at the White House, and the patience of the watchman was exhausted and he called for the police patrol and had him transferred to the Third precinct station, where he will be held for examination. His name is Helfenstein, a converted Jew. He had been delivering extemporaneous sermons on the street corners for some time.

Denver Bank Suspends.

DENVER, June 7.—The German National bank did not open its doors today. Cashier Kuntzweiler says that the institution is compelled to go out of business. A statement will be made later in the day. The German National is one of the oldest banks in the city. The president is J. J. Reithmann, who is very wealthy.

Buffalo's New Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Postmaster General Bissell has sent to the president the name of Howard H. Baker for postmaster at Buffalo and the nomination will be sent to the senate by the president, probably today. Mr. Baker is about 50 years old and has been engaged as ship chandler.

Get Part V of the "Book of the Builders," now ready.

An Unconscionable Sarcasm.

They were two fishermen of the purely sportsmanlike type. As they were making their way to the scene of their hopes they met a boy—a small boy—with a carelessly trimmed branch from a tree thrown over his shoulder. In one hand he had a tin can, and about the branch was festooned a fishing line.

"Hello, my boy," exclaimed one of the visitors. "Going fishing?"

The lad surveyed with envious eyes their neat costumes, the handsome poles furnished with shining reels and all the rest of their equipment and replied, with a sigh:

"Nope, I ain't goin' fishin'. I'm josh goin' down ter ketch some fish."—Washington Star.

Wanted Them to Work Hard.

Mme. Parvoni—Can I get you and your orchestra to play at my soiree next Thursday night?

The Orchestra Leader—Certainly. Mme. Parvoni—Well, you may consider yourself engaged. But I want to make arrangements to hire you by the piece, do you understand? The last time I engaged you by the hour, and your men took advantage of it and played slow, soft things most of the time.—Chicago Record.

Proof.

"Who are you?" asked the housewife. "I'm the leuceman. Ye too best to collect for the tea every day as I left it."

"But you haven't left any tea this morning."

"Yes, I have, begin yer petition for contradiction. I brought it five minutes ago. Here's the wet spot on the door step to prove it."—Washington Star.

No Joke.

Clara—He wanted to know if you were joking when you told him your age.

Maudie—And what did you tell him?

Clara—I told him it was too serious a subject for you to joke about.—Brooklyn Life.

Discontented Man.

The man who, when the days are warm, says, as he heaves a long drawn sigh, "He'd like the weather snapping cold, with great big snowdrifts ten feet high. Would be the first one to indulge in lots of and Christian talk. And kick the hardest did he have to shovel off ten feet of walk."

We're never pleased with what we get—some other thing would suit us best, or brighten them and though our skies are dark or bright they cannot quiet our unrest.

For all the world is out of joint, and everything is out of rhyme.

In summer we like winter best and summer best in winter time.

THE PROMENADE CONCERT.

Delightful Musical Event at the Glen Avon Rink Last Evening.

The promenade concert at the Glen Avon rink last evening ought to be the first of many for it was delightful in every way. The audience was not as large as it should have been. The city band rendered two or three selections and the regular program was then given. Mrs. Gray sang "Springtime" by Heinebol and for an encore "Kathleen Mavourneen." Both were excellently given. Miss Essie Hunter was heard in "Within a Mile of Edinboro Town" and for the sweet manner in which she sang it was recalled. She sang a charming lullaby, "Mme. Ostrum-Renard sang with fine grace and feeling "The Last Rose of Summer" and for an encore "Home Sweet Home."

Theodore Lammer, who is a most artistic and finished singer, gave "The Two Grenadiers" and like the others received a fine encore. N. S. Murphy sang the ever popular songs "Mavourneen" and "Molly O" as only a sweet voiced Irishman can sing them. Both were received with enthusiasm.
The Schubert trio played the most classical selection of the evening "Brahms' Hungarian Dance" in D minor. It was admirably rendered. Herr Carl Riedelsberger played "Yankee Doodle" with variations, by Viextemp. The air of course was popular and simple but the selection was a difficult one.

After the program the city band played a half dozen numbers. Quite a number danced to the waltzes and schottisches.

THE WATER INVESTIGATION.

Lakeside Water Company is Having the Fluid it Furnishes Investigated.

This morning City Attorney Page Morris and Aldermen Getty, Evans and Nelson, commenced the investigation of the charges made against the water service given Lakeside by the water company. J. E. Carey street commissioner at Lakeside, submitted a whole lot of specimens of vile looking water which he took from the service pipes on various dates. He submitted his testimony in the matter as well and the water was placed in evidence.
City Engineer D. A. Reed gave testimony and the investigation was adjourned until some future date, when other witnesses will tell what they know.

THREE DAMAGE CASES

Suits For Remuneration For Personal Injuries are Occupying the Attention of Three Judges Today.

Jacob Graef's Case Against August Feddersen Contains a More Interesting Story Than the Others.

Several Indictments Returned Against Criminals Who are Languishing in the County Jail—Court Filings.

Three branches of the district court are busy today on personal injury suits. Judge Lewis in Room 2, is still hearing the case of Thomas Perry against A. M. Miller, and it will probably take up the afternoon. Judge Knigh in Room 1, is hearing the case of William Edmondson against C. H. Appel & Sons. Edmondson claims that one stormy night last February he was walking along East Superior street on his way home. He was keeping close to the building in order to shelter himself from the storm, when he fell over some boxes left in front of Appel's store and broke his knee-cap. He wants $5000.

Judge Moer in Room 3 is occupied with the case of Jacob Graef against August Feddersen. Graef asks $5000 for being beaten and shot by Feddersen. The dispute arose over an engagement ring Feddersen had given a girl who lives with her parents on First street near Fifth avenue. Feddersen was boarding with the family and in the course of time became engaged to the girl. During his absence Graef, who is a cousin of the girl's, came along and took up his residence with the family. In spite of the previous engagement, according to the family's story, Graef wanted to marry the girl.

He induced her to part with the engagement ring, and then refused to give it back. When Feddersen came back he discovered the state of affairs and there was trouble in the family thenceforth.

The two met on the Sixth avenue viaduct one day and the trouble was brought to a head. There was a lively scrap in which Graef received a couple of bullets in his anatomy. The question to be determined by the jury is who started the row, each accusing the other.
The grand jury yesterday afternoon brought in its first batch of indictments and this morning the prisoners were arraigned. John Teig, who signed another man's name to a Northern Pacific express money order for $25, was indicted for forgery in the second degree, and was given one day to plead.

William Colthurst was indicted for assault in the second degree for introducing a knife into the anatomy of one James Doss, and pleaded not guilty.
Noel St. John is accused of breaking into the store of Samuel Loeb in West Duluth and stealing therefrom some clothes. For the breaking he was indicted for burglary in the third degree, and for the taking for grand larceny in the second degree. He was given one day to plead.

Henry Davis was indicted for grand larceny in the second degree for stealing jewelry from the showcase of Hirsch & Regli, and this morning he pleaded not guilty.

Thomas McLaughlin was indicted twice for forgery. He forged two checks for $28 each, signing the name of French & Bassett. He was given one day to plead. C. O. Baldwin appeared as his attorney.

TICKET OFFICE CHANGES.

Walter Whitten to Become City Ticket Agent of the Eastern Minnesota.

After next Monday H. L. Sisler, formerly city ticket agent for the Omaha road, will assist Mr. Ross in the St. Paul & Duluth city office. Walter Whitten, who formerly occupied that position, has been appointed city ticket agent for the Eastern Minnesota, succeeding C. H. De Vault, who will remain with the company as operator.

Placed on Good Behavior.

Dominic Marratto and Mike Mainello, a couple of Italian boys charged with stealing a dozen and a half of bananas from the Simon Clark Grocery company on June 5, were up before Judge Winje. While really guilty, the youngsters were discharged and placed on their good behavior.

The McGibeny Family.

The McGibeny family will be at the Temple Sunday evening, singing "Princess Trebizonde." The New York Herald says:
"The talented McGibeny family instantly made an impression on their audience at Steinway hall last night, and the artistic efforts of these intelligent performers elicited repeated and hearty encores."

Article Charging Thomas Clark With a Shortage Not Justified.

Yesterday The Herald contained an article to the effect that the accounts of Thomas Clark, superintendent of poor, were short. This was far more than should have been said for the only foundation proves to have been a rumor. So far as can be learned no charges were made. There were some matters in connection with his accounts which the commissioners wanted explained and he appeared before them. From this grew the rumor.

Mr. Clark said this morning that he wanted no star chamber session. The differences found he readily explained. When a person is given a ticket he is also given a small sum of money to feed him on his journey. The whole sum is turned in on the transportation order.

Mr. Clark's books are now being examined and will be reported on next Friday. Until setting more definite is charged against him, no reflection should rest upon him and The Herald regrets the publicity given by the erroneous publication.

Auditor La Vague addresses the following card to The Herald:
Editor Herald—In the last issue of The Herald a statement was published that charges had been made against Thomas Clark, superintendent of the county poor; that he was short in his accounts some $200 or $300. I wish to say that this statement does Mr. Clark a great injustice, as no such charges were ever made to the board of county commissioners against him. To be sure, his accounts are being checked up, but so far, there has nothing been found that he was not able to explain in a satisfactory manner. Yours truly,
GEORGE N. LA VAGUE, County Auditor.

ARRIVED AT THE SAULT.

Steamer North West Made Quick Time and Passed Hay Lake Channel—Here at 10:30 Tomorrow.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., June 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer North West, which left Detroit at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, arrived here at 12:45 this afternoon.

She stopped at Sailor's Encampment and took on a party of government engineers who piloted her through the new Hay Lake channel. She made the run from Fort Gratiot to Detroit in 12 hours and 15 minutes.

There are a number of boats to look up ahead of her, but she will probably lock up about 3:30 this afternoon and arrive at Duluth about 10:30 tomorrow morning. She has a large passenger list.

SEVERAL BIDS RECEIVED.

G. W. Van Dusen of Minneapolis Bids Highest For the Red River Elevators.

M. J. Forbes, receiver of the Red River Valley Elevator company opened bids yesterday for the forty-eight elevators of the company along the lines of the Great Northern railroad in Minnesota and North Dakota. The bids were as follows: A. B. Robbins, Minneapolis, $143,000; St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator company, $151,000; Ernest Thompson, Minneapolis, $161,000; John W. Adams, of St. Paul, $170,000; G. W. Van Dusen, Minneapolis, $180,000. These bids will be submitted to the district court of Ramsey county. In addition to these there were bids for portions of the line, which were not considered, as it was the policy of the receiver to sell the whole line as an entirety.

The Van Dusen-Harrington company will undoubtedly get the elevators.

Athletic Club Field Day.

A number of members of the Duluth Athletic club would like to have a field day on July 4, and it is quite probable that one will be arranged. There are a number of brawny athletes in the club, and there never was a Scotchman who did not take a great interest in athletic sports and the club is full of them. Should one be decided upon a large number will undoubtedly compete.

As an investment or for a home. House, eight rooms; stone foundation under whole house, in first-class order and new. Barn 22 by 28 on rear of lot; lot graded and on the corner; two blocks from car line; one block from one of the best schools in the city. This house and barn could not be built for what I ask for house, barn and lot. It is situated in Lakeside and faces south. Do you want a home? If so call on

THE NORTH WEST

Northern Company's Big Passenger Boat Arrived at 2:30 o'Clock Today After a Quick Passage.

Whistles Screamed, Bands Played and People Shouted as the Boat Pulled Up to the Dock.

The North West Came Up From the Sault at Nearly Twenty-Two Miles an Hour.

"James J. Hill is the only man who had the nerve to project such a great enterprise as this, and he deserves the fullest credit for his enterprise and courage. I predict that he will have a rich return from his enterprise. He is a broad-minded, brilliant man and you people in the Northwest should be proud of him." The speaker was John F. Pankhurst, vice president and general manager of the Globe Iron Works company, of Cleveland, and his auditor was a representative of The Herald, the place being the hurricane deck of the steamship North West as she ploughed her way through the waters of Lake Superior shortly after bidding the town of Sault Ste. Marie adieu yesterday afternoon. It was ideal weather, and the introduction of the North West into Lake Superior was made in one of the lake's most placid moods. The departure from the Sault was greatly delayed by the number of vessels ahead of her waiting to be locked up and down the canal, and there was but faint prospect of reaching Duluth within several hours of the scheduled time. But much of the lost time would be recovered and a hope was indulged in that noon would see the greatest of lake steamships tied up at the dock at the foot of Seventh avenue, and vague hints were dropped by the officers that additional speed during the night would make up much of the lost time. Nor were these hints unfounded.

When midnight came the North West was skimming along at about twenty-two miles an hour. But you would not have known it unless you visited the engine room, saw the mighty engines making 117 revolutions a minute and discovered the rate of speed. There was not a quiver of vibration produced by the engines as this great speed was developed. The vessel hardly trembled as she dashed along at the rate of a railroad train. Her machinery is an interesting study. It is the most powerful found in any vessel outside of the large Atlantic steamships, and the North West surpasses them in the amount of power which she possesses in proportion to size. Her engines have 7000 horse-power and it is believed that she can be forced to a speed of twenty-five miles an hour. No such rate of speed will be reached this year, however, simply because no effort will be made to develop it. On board the vessel is Richard Peck, a navigation expert who makes the tests of speed for the Cramps. He is under a six months' contract with the Northern Steamship company and will gradually get the full limit of speed out of the North West. It averaged about twenty-two miles an hour during the whole of last night.

At Sault Ste. Marie, there was a large crowd gathered to witness the arrival of the steamship, and as the huge vessel put in an appearance all the tugs and the boats waiting to go through the locks screamed their loudest. For a few minutes perfect pandemonium reigned. Then there was a rush to get on board, and all who desired to inspect the vessel had an opportunity. The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Soo roads brought delegates from Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis, principally newspaper men, to make the trip to Duluth. Among others from Minneapolis were Charles A. Fessenden, General Manager Underwood of the Soo road and James S. Bell of the Washburn Crosby Milling company. No stop was made after leaving the Sault until Duluth was reached this afternoon.

General Manager Gordon was much disappointed that the unavoidable delay at Sault Ste. Marie, which was reached after the expected time owing to the necessity of running slowly through the new Hay Lake channel, when it required nearly three hours to cover seventeen miles, would prevent the carrying out of the entire program arranged for Duluth. Throughout the night the weather was superb. The lake was very smooth, and not a person on board was troubled with seasickness. The North West moved steadily ahead with less vibration than a railroad coach, and the sleep-producing air of Lake Superior was conducive to the peaceful slumber by all on board. When morning dawned, the air was clear and invigorating and the sun shone down upon the lake, making it an ideal day for traveling. The decks were soon filled with passengers who voted the trip one of the pleasantest in their experience. The guests from Duluth and the Twin Cities were delighted. The treatment which they received from General Manager John Gordon, and Assistant Manager F. P. Gordon, was of the most hospitable character. These gentlemen and the officers of the boat were unceasing in their endeavors to contribute to the comfort of their passengers.

At this point, it is not out of place to refer to the excellent cafe which the boat contains. The best restaurant in the country does not furnish better service or more choicely cooked viands than can be obtained here, while the menu contains everything that the best markets in the country afford. Every known delicacy can be obtained here. This is made possible by the North West's great refrigerating plant. This is one of the most novel and interesting features of the boat. It consists of a machine only five feet high, with a refrigerating capacity of eight tons every twenty-four hours. This is sufficient to cool all the compartments which carry perishable provisions, there being a separate room for meat, another for butter, eggs, milk, and another for other provisions. The total space cooled being 4500 cubic feet. Furthermore, the machine is arranged to manufacture 1000 pounds of ice every day for use on shore. It will also freeze ice carafes every day for use on the table and in the staterooms of passengers.

The immensity of the North West is the first thing that impresses itself upon the sides stand up as high as a modern two-story house, and her three huge smokestacks evidence the enormous propelling power. Some idea of her colossal size may be obtained from the fact that she is 383 ft long, 44 ft wide and 34 ft deep. On each round trip she consumes 600 tons of coal. Load as she was when passing through the Sault canal yesterday she drew only 13 ft, 3 in. The North West is the first of four exclusively passenger steamers to run between Buffalo and Duluth in connection with the Great Northern railroad. She was built at Cleveland by the Globe Iron works and represents a total outlay of nearly $750,000. In general outside appearance she resembles the great ocean steamers on the trans-Atlantic lines. Built of steel, with collision bulkheads and numerous watertight compartments, her general construction has been carried out with a

The Weather.
June 8.—The barometer continues lowest north of Montana, the depression central in that region yesterday morning having moved northeastward. The pressure has diminished due to two-thirds of an inch from Manitoba southward to Kansas, and has risen two-tenths of an inch over Lake Huron.

Fair weather continues in all reporting districts except Montana, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Kansas, where showers are reported.

It is somewhat warmer in the central valleys and lake region and cooler in the Rocky mountain plateau region.

Depth of water in Saint Ste. Marie canal this morning, 15 feet; forecast, stationary.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m., 69 degrees; maximum yesterday, 88 degrees; minimum yesterday, 58 degrees.

Weather June 8.—Local forecast till 8 p. m.
tomorrow: Fair; slight changes in temperature;
southerly winds becoming variable.

Problem of the Foreigner.
Under the above heading Hjalmar H.
Boyesen contributes to the Chicago Record an interesting article on the immigration question and the problem of transforming the foreigners who come here into American citizens. He points out that in the year 1850 the foreigners resident in the United States numbered 2,241,602, or 9.68 per cent of the total population. The census of 1890 reports 2,419,547 foreigners, constituting 14.7 per cent of the total population. The increase in forty years has in round numbers been 700,000, of which Germany (including Austria) has contributed about 2,250,000, Ireland a little over 1,000,000 and England and her North American colonies about 1,500,000. Then come Sweden with nearly 500,000, Norway with something over 300,000 and Scotland with upward of 200,000. The Slavonic people cut much less of a figure than, considering their prominence in the newspapers, we had been led to expect, Russia, Hungary, Bohemia and Poland aggregating but 510,625, of which all but about 300,000 is increase since 1850.
The Latin nations, including French, Spaniards, Portuguese, Italians and their American colonies, fall considerably below the half million (346,107).

If it be true, says Mr. Boyesen, as has been frequently asserted, that the most composite nations of pure Caucasian stock will be likely to develop the vital qualities which determine survival, we need not, in spite of all the problems which harass us, be troubled about our tenure of the future. The English, from their dominions all over the globe this inference has been drawn, rejoice in a compound mixture of Celtic, Norse and German blood; but they cannot in point of compositeness hold a candle to the American of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries, into whose veins all the varied elements of the above-named races shall have been diluted. This process of the gradual absorption and assimilation of the constantly increasing immigrant population will be a most interesting one to watch. But it is not to be denied that it is fraught with dangers to the state which offer many reasons the sanguine American legislator has until recently refused to recognize.

There is no constitution conceivable which is so abstractly excellent as to be applicable to all nations. Every known system of government is completely adapted only for the people which conceived it and of whose spirit and historical tradition it is legitimate expression. What is taking place in the United States today is that the alien people are taking the constitution in hand through the suffrage and gradually refashioning it to their physical and moral condition. "I cannot but believe," says Mr.
Boyesen, "that (in spite of much that points in the opposite direction) many of the sinister phenomena in our present political condition are due to the changed characters of the electorate and its lack of ability to work representative government for the greatest benefit of the greatest number. I am well aware, of course, that the wildest political heresies have found their adherents in states like Kansas, Mississippi and Colorado, which have attracted comparatively few aliens, while Wisconsin and Minnesota, which are preponderantly German and Scandinavian, are fairly well governed states, with an intelligent and wholesome conservative electorate. This fact proves only that American birth is in itself no guaranty of political maturity and that aliens of kindred blood may make very excellent American citizens. The Germanic element in our population in fact always has been a most valuable one, and furnished a needed counterpoise against the mercurial volatilities and emotional Celtic."

Mr. Boyesen condemns the Irish as in a large measure responsible for the failure of our system as applied to municipal government and points to the boss governments which they have established in our leading cities as despotism parading under the mask of democracy. But it is a question whether they are to be charged any more than the native American, who from partisan pig-headedness introduces national issues into municipal campaigns, with the perpetuation and development of this baneful system, which is now extending its influence to the state governments, and has even attempted to assert its power in national concerns.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Boyesen concludes his article by advocating the adoption of measures to restrict immigration, in order that the sternest of all problems—the pressure of our population—may be solved. Mr. Boyesen speaks emphatically on this point, and as he is himself of foreign birth and has an intimate and direct acquaintance with the question which he is discussing his opinion is entitled to weight. "Our present duty," he says, "is to assimilate and Americanize our vast alien population, and to throw every obstacle in the way of immigration until we have accomplished this difficult task. Our national domain is now nearly all occupied. No desirable land can be obtained any more in any state under the homestead law, and the result is that an even larger proportion of immigrants remain in our large cities, where they constitute a proletariat, living from hand to mouth, having no stake in the welfare of the state, and therefore ready to listen to the socialist and the anarchist and perhaps in time take a hand in revolutionary proceedings. It is largely as a defense against this class that the standing armies of Europe are maintained.
We have no military establishment worthy of the name, and it is therefore extremely reckless to permit this disproportionate increase of an element which by its mere existence weakens and undermines the foundations of social order. A man who permits the accumulation of explosive and inflammable material in his cellar should not be surprised if one day his house catches fire and is burnt over his head."

The settlement of this problem cannot be long delayed. It is a question which confronts the nation and presses for a decision. Congress must provide the solution. Such measures must be adopted as will prevent the arrival of any considerable body of immigrants until the large body of foreign-born people now in our midst have been assimilated and Americanized.

The Republican county committee at its meeting in Hotel St. Louis last evening did a wise thing in arranging for the holding of all the conventions at the same time. This conclusion was not hastily arrived at but was the direct result of preliminary caucusing between members of the Republican county committee and leading lights of the same party. Ordinarily there would be five separate conventions, namely, the congressional, state, judicial, legislative and county, but under the new rule all these will be unified, and will result in a saving of time, trouble and expense.
The deferring of action in the matter of arranging for the delegate representation until after the redistricting of Duluth and some of the smaller places, which will be done early next week, was also another wise and fair move.

The resignation of Committeeman Luther was regretfully received, but the West Duluth members of the party are fully as ably represented in the person of Committeeman Elston, elected to succeed him. The meeting was thoroughly harmonious and its action is universally commended.

The last issue of the Marine Record contains the "table of contents" of the forthcoming work on marine collisions by H. R. Spencer, of this city, and says it will furnish an epitome of admiralty decisions which has long been eagerly desired and gain the further prestige of being the only American work on this subject yet published. "The author of so eminent a work," says the Record, "must perform be widely recognized in the future as an authority on this important branch of marine law."

In Versailles, Ky., the other day, Mr.
Owens, who is Col. Breckinridge's chief opponent, won great applause by the following comment on one of the colonel's remarks: "He tells you that for two years the Ashland district has been represented in congress by men
He might add that only during the first ninety years of that time has been represented by gentlemen." Mr. Owens is evidently more than a match for the weeping colonel.

Sealed bids will be received by the board of Fresh from school, they actually believe that the friendships made in their school fraternities are going to follow them through life and serve as a powerful adjunct to success. Poor chap! The years undecieve them bitterly. One of the hard things in this human life of ours is that if a man grows at all, he is bound to grow away from friendships. Men do not keep pace with one another; some bound swiftly forward and upward; others are more deliberate in their progress; too many advance not a step beyond the point where youth and college days quitted them.

THE BANO APPROPRIATION.
Petition Being Circulated Asking the Council to Restore It.

A petition is being circulated asking the council to restore the City band appropriation of $65 per month, and it is being unanimously signed. It will probably be presented on Monday, June 18, and it is believed the council will grant the request. Several have admitted that they somewhat misunderstood the situation. The band receives so little business that it can hardly be classed as an ordinary business venture. Last year, the band of the Pavilion season, when Professor Meier figured matters out there was only about $65 a week left for himself. Mayor Lewis thinks the appropriation ought to be retained and will undoubtedly approve of a resolution restoring it.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Better Than Competition.
The grandest architectural triumph of modern times was the Columbian fair.

There were four methods originally suggested for this work: the selection of one man to design the whole, the choice of a man as the result of a competition among all architects, the choice as the result of a competition among a selected few, and (finally) the direct selection of a group of architects, each to have a congenial task assigned him, and all to be united in conferences upon the various problems and the general scheme. This latter plan having been adopted, five architectural firms outside of Chicago were chosen for the five principal buildings around the court of honor; and five Chicago architects were selected to plan the other buildings. This board of ten among the chief American architects had several interesting sessions, the most remarkable of which, presided over by Richard M. Hunt, took up an entire week. Each man hung upon the wall the sketches showing the purpose and intent of his work, thoroughly explaining them in detail, and submitting them to the criticism of his comrades. This singular and august conference, unique among artists, bore fruit in the vast and incomparable palaces of the fair, the attainment of the civilized world. The account of these events in the new illustrated popular edition of the "Book of the Builders," which is the authentic history of the World's fair, by the men who built it, (written exclusively for our reader by Directors Burnham and Millet) is as fascinating as a romance.

Many competent judges declare that the great singers series (Parts XII, XIII and XIV) of "The Marie Burroughs Art Portfolio of Stage Celebrities" are the finest numbers in that magnificent collection. All the most famous artists of the lyric stage are in these three numbers. Ten cents each with three coupons to readers of The Herald.

AN EARLY DATE FIXED

County Committee Decided Last Evening to Hold the Convention on the Second Day of July.

Delegates to the State, Congressional, Judicial and Legislative Conventions Will Be Chosen at That Time.

County Officers Will Also be Nominated—Apportionment of Delegates to be Made Next Week.

From now on there will be a lively time in county politics. The county committee met last evening and fixed upon July 2 as the date for holding the county convention. Delegates to the state, congressional, judicial and legislative conventions are to be chosen and county officers nominated. The primaries are to be held on the evening of June 23.

Some difficulty was encountered in deciding upon the basis of representation. One scheme was presented which was based on the vote in 1893, but the Duluth voting districts have been entirely changed since then. George W. Buck had figured it out and said the vote in 1892 was 54 1/2 per cent of that cast for Mayor Lewis, the first election held in the new precinct division. Using this basis the city would get sixty-four delegates to fifty five in the country districts, figuring one delegate at-large and one for each 100 voters in a precinct.

Virginia and Missabe Mountain have been redistricted and would get eight delegates. W. A. Cant found fault with this claiming that Virginia will get four delegates with only 600 votes. He also said that Duluth will redistrict at the next council meeting and thought it would be unfair not to wait until then and give an equal show with Virginia. Mr. Cant also opposed the bunching of the delegates, but there was no disagreement as to holding it within three or four weeks.

The committee finally decided to take no action regarding fixing the representation for the present. Chairman Buck said if the city redistricts each precinct ought to be entitled to representation. Another meeting will be held next week.

"GATHERING OF THE CLANS."

Brilliant Entertainment to Be Given at the Temple Tonight.

The "Gathering of the Clans" will be given at the Temple this evening. For several weeks this has been rehearsed and the dancers have all reached a fine state of perfection. This entertainment when given here eighteen months ago delighted everybody and drew big audiences. Since then there has been a great desire to have it repeated and the announcement that Clan Stewart had arranged to have Professor Walker come here again was hailed with delight. Not only will all the old features be retained, but there will be a number of new ones. Several children will come from Minneapolis and give solo dances. The Amazon march will be a wonderful thing, 200 people taking part and going through difficult evolutions. Nothing could better show the thorough training given by Professor Walker.

BASEBALL CLUB.

Elmer Halling is Manager—Games to Be Played Soon.

At a meeting held Tuesday night, Elmer Halling was chosen manager of the Duluth Baseball club. He will take vigorous action in the interest of the club and already has commenced a search for suitable grounds. Tonight, the club goes to Chippewa Falls, Wis. Tomorrow, on grounds at Eau Claire, the Duluth team plays the Chippewa Falls, Wis. team. Sunday, a second game between the two teams comes off on the grounds at Chippewa Falls.

The Duluth team for these games will be composed as follows: Joe Girard, catcher; Ed Morris, pitcher; S. J. P. Lackie, first base; Charles Delinco, second base; A. McCallum, third base; Frank Fitch, short stop; Jack Neff, right field; T. F. Brady, center field; B. D. Fitzer, short stop; Tom Connors substitute.

The boys will return Monday and on Sunday, July 17, will play the Old Superior team at Nemadji park.

BE ASHAMED OF SICKNESS!

There's No Virtue in Nonsensical Kind of Patience.

Disease is Not a Fatality When Paine's Celery Compound is Within the Reach of Every Sufferer in the Country—It is Making Thousands of People Well This Month.

Sickness is not a fatality. There is no virtue in patience with disease or weakness.

"I always feel ashamed to be sick," says a famous preacher. "In nine cases out of ten I know that it is due to carelessness; I get well as quickly as I can, almost ashamed, as if I had been caught in some culpable act."

Think of it that way if you want to live long. With the great modern remedy, Paine's celery compound, the remedy of every sufferer, there is no excuse for enquiring around with a long face, casting a shadow over the bright lives around one.

Paine's celery compound cures speedily and thoroughly diseases directly traceable to unwholesome blood and a weak nervous system.

It makes new life and courage and happiness. It has done this in thousands of cases. It will do so in thousands more. Try it.

Bernard Trainor's Death.

Bernard Trainor, the man who died at St. Luke's hospital Wednesday night, is the man who was thrown out of the Italian fruit store about two or three weeks ago. His knee cap was fractured at the time and he was taken to St. Luke's hospital. After being there a few days typhoid fever set in and he died. His death could in no way be traced to the injury. He was a member of the firm of Trainor Bros., contractors of Minneapolis. His body was taken to Minneapolis last evening and was buried there this morning.

Professor Muhlbaur's Benefit.

The concert at the Temple last evening given as a benefit for Professor Muhlbaur was not well attended. It was deserving of a better audience. An orchestra of thirty pieces under the direction of Professor Muhlbaur rendered some fine selections in a praiseworthy manner. Herr Carl Riedelsberger gave one of his excellent violin solos. Professor Tonnig was heard in a piano solo and Mrs. R. G. Bloedel gave a clever recitation.

The McGibeny Family.

On Sunday evening the McGibeny family will produce "Princess Trebizonde" at the Temple. The Nebraska City News says:

"The Standard theater was packed to suffocation last night with one of the most select audiences that has gathered in Nebraska City for many a day, to listen to the entertainment given by the famous McGibeny family. The audience was highly entertained from the rise to the fall of the curtain, and it was regretted that there were not more of the McGibeny family, for their departure, only wishing that the entertainment would last longer."

Closed the Saloon.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of nine hundred thirty and 30/100 ($930.30) dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Christ Williams (quarrel) of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, a corporation duly created by and existing under the laws of the state of Minnesota, mortgage, bearing date the twelfth day of March, 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the nineteenth day of March, 1890, at eight o'clock a. m., in Book 18 of mortgages, on page 28, and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz:

Lot 7 seven in block 19 twenty-nine in the first ward of West Duluth, according to the record plat thereof, in Saint Louis County, Mo., and state of Minnesota, with the improvements and appurtenances; which will be made by the sheriff of said Saint Louis County, Mo., at the front door of the court house, on the twentieth day of June, 1894, at 10 o'clock a. m., to pay said debt of nine hundred thirty and 30/100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes if a. m. on said premises, and fifty ($50) dollars, attorneys' fees; as stipulated in and by said mortgage, in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 4th, A. D. 1894.

NORTHWESTERN LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of twenty-one hundred forty-three and 00/100 ($2143.00) dollars, principal and interest, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage and mortgage note duly made and delivered by William Sager and Marie E. Sager, his wife, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgage, to American Loan and Trust Company, of the same place, mortgage, bearing date the 10th day of May, 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 15th day of May, 1893, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 34 of mortgages, on page 29, which mortgage and the debt thereby secured were duly assigned by said American Loan and Trust Company to the undersigned Macgregor, Loan and Trust Company, which is now the owner and holder thereof by written instrument, bearing date the 7th day of April, 1894, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 15th day of April, 1894, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., in Book 66 of mortgages, on page 29.

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which by reason of said default has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby

BURNING THE BRIDGES

Striking Coal Miners Burning the Bridges to Prevent the Movement of Any Coal Trains.

Switches Thrown and Broken, and Obstructions of Various Kinds Placed on the Railroad Tracks.

Sheriff's Deputies and the Militia Pelted With Rocks and Threated With Dynamite in Indiana.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 8.—Two attempts have been made by strikers within twenty-four hours to wreck coal and coke trains. Yesterday afternoon a Slav threw a switch open at Oliver and before the train could be stopped the engine and three cars were derailed. About midnight a frog hooked tightly over the rail was noticed at Evans station, on the Baltimore & Ohio road. A little further north, iron and ties were found piled across the rails and near the Stewart Iron company's works a switch was broken open and wedged apart by wood and stones. The discovery was made just in time to prevent the wrecking of a long coal train, hauled by three engines. A number of men were aboard the train and lives might have been sacrificed. While the companies have been fearing such work, these were the first attempts to destroy coal and coke trains. The strikers have made numerous threats and the officials of the roads are very much alarmed over the situation. The strikers seem to be determined to stop the shipment of coal and coke from the regions.

PELTED THEM WITH STONES.

Attempted Bridge Burning on the Terre Haute Railway.

SULLIVAN, Ind., June 8.—Last night at the military camp was one of tumult. Numerous assaults with stones were made upon the picket lines and as a result the city, "corporal of the guard," rang through the camp often and was usually followed by firing in the directions from which the stones came. So far known, however, no damage was done, though there was fear that the miners might with the stones, as they threatened, hurl dynamite at the soldiers. Toward morning an effort was made to burn the trestle work of the Evansville & Terre Haute road near here, but the incendiaries were driven away by the guards. This entire section is now thoroughly guarded and covered by scouts, therefore there is little fear of an outbreak, though coal shipments will continue to be made. Thirteen arrests by deputy sheriffs have been made and others are expected. A special session of the grand jury convened here today to take care of the lawbreakers.

A TRESTLE ON FIRE.

Sheriff Reads the Riot Act From a Locomotive Pilot.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., June 8.—Company M, of the Seventeenth infantry, did not get beyond Canal Dover last night. Sheriff Adams was appealed to, and at 9 o'clock read the riot act from the pilot of an engine. The respectable citizens dispersed, but about 200 miners and millmen congregated in groups to prevent the train leaving. Section men went down the track five miles and found ties, bridge timbers and rocks on the track and worst of all the trestle was burning. The car containing the soldiers was fired into. The car was stopped and William Lytle was hit on the jaw with a rock. Captain Powelson was ordered to reach Cambridge by any possible route as soon as he could. The citizens are indignant at the treatment of the guardsmen and further trouble is feared.

BURNED A BRIDGE.

McKinley Will Call Out More Troops if Necessary.

COLUMBUS, June 8.—Sheriff Scott, of Belmont county, telegraphed Governor McKinley today that the miners at Wheeling Creek this morning burned a bridge on the Cleveland, Loraine & Wheeling railroad and that about 500 men were in the mob and were still threatening lives and property. The governor wired Adj. Gen. Howe, now in Guernsey county with troops to send some of the military in his command to Belmont county. The governor also wired Howe that if more troops were needed he would call out the Fifth regiment at Cleveland. The Sixteenth regiment at Toledo has been ordered to rendezvous at Columbus to await further orders.

Couldn't Move Coal Trains.

MARTINS FERRY, O., June 8.—Early this morning an unsuccessful effort was made to run two coal trains on the Cleveland, Loraine & Wheeling railroad after a week's tie-up. Ties were placed on the track, dynamite was used and a revolver fired and knives were exhibited. Four deputy marshals and two reporters were on the train. The lives of these, together with those of the trainmen, were threatened if the train was not run back, and this was done. The mob, including women, increased from fifty to 400 in ten minutes. The bridge at Whiskey run was burned and troops have been ordered to the field.

G. A. R. Men Act as Deputies.

NEWCOMERTOWN, Ohio, June 8.—Company M started on the Cleveland & Marietta train from Canal Dover at 9:30, aided by deputy sheriffs. A large crowd was at the depot, but no resistance was offered. The deputy sheriffs, who escorted Company M, are members of the G. A. R. who are armed. At Blacktown a large number of strikers appeared but the train carrying the militia passed without trouble.

NORWEGIAN INVESTIGATION.

Official Acts of Certain Military Officers to be Investigated.

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, June 8.—The storting committee has presented an important report. It says that at the height of the conflict between the crown and the Liberal party in 1883, resulting in the impeachment of the Conservative cabinet, several high military and naval officers deliberately ruined 30,000 rifles, placed a number of batteries of artillery in readiness for immediate use and caused the warship Horten to be cleared for action. All these preparations, the report says, were made with the utmost secrecy, and Admiral Koren, Gen. Weigel and others declared that the officers referred to acted without instruction. The committee deemed these statements to be unsatisfactory and has reported similarly regarding Admiral Koren's action in 1893 in adopting secret military measures.

Houghland moved that the report be submitted to the government with the view of bringing about the prosecution of the guilty officers. Ullmann, leader of the left, moved an address to the king pointing out the danger of the situation and demanding a guarantee of constitutional freedom and independence and appealing to the king to assume the duties of supreme commander and guardian of the forces.

DISASTER TO COXEYITES.

Denver's Industrial Army Confronts Death in the Raging Waters of the Platte River—Twenty Drowned.

BRIGHTON, Col., June 8.—Twenty-five of the Coxeyites who set sail from Denver are missing as a result of their boat upsetting. It is thought about twenty were drowned. Dead bodies can be seen on sand bars and lodged in trees but cannot now be recovered. The names of the Coxeyites drowned in the attempt to navigate the Platte river cannot yet be told. The river was a raging torrent yesterday and many boats were wrecked at the bridges. Twenty-nine boats containing 185 men passed Henderson island bridge. Only twenty with less than 100 men reached Brighton. Some boats were deserted, their occupants taking to the road. On the McKay bridge several men were drowned. At Henderson island bridge twenty-one men were in the water at one time, but were rescued with ropes by Ralph Lee and Louis Brander. The body of one man from Utah, known as "Frenchy" has been recovered. Of one boat load of eight, six are said to have been lost. Most of the bodies have been washed down stream. Many of the Coxeyites believe fourteen to twenty men were drowned. Many men are clinging to the trees along the river banks and an order has been telegraphed to Denver for skiffs to take them off.

Railroad Sold for Taxes.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., June 8.—The St. Louis, Chicago & St. Paul railroad, better known as the Bluff line, has been sold by the county collector for non-payment of its taxes in Madison county. It was bid in by the Atlantic Trust company, of New York, for $131,111, the amount of delinquent taxes. Less than six miles of the Bluff line was completed at the time the 1893 taxes were levied, and only that portion of the road between Alton and the north line of the county, amounting to 31,930 feet, is embraced in the sale.

Drug Dealers in Session at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—The Western Association of Wholesale Druggists is convened in annual session here, with representatives of every prominent house south and west of Pittsburgh present. The association, which has for its aim the elevation of the standard of the articles sold by its members will be in session today.

Poisoned His Entire Family.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Mary Pocha and her three children, Mary, James and Frank, aged 3, 9 and 6 years, respectively, are lying critically ill at Mrs. Pocha's home No. 13 McMillen court. It is thought they have been poisoned and Valjeia Pocha, husband of Mrs. Pocha, but with whom she is not now living, is under arrest on suspicion of having poisoned their food.

Amiable Wins the Oaks Stakes.

LONDON, June 8.—At Epsom today the Oaks stakes, of 4,500 sovereigns, for 3-year-old fillies, carrying nine stone each, distance, about one mile and a half, was won by Amiable, brown filly, by St. Simon out of Tact, owned by the duke of Portland. Sweet Duchess, a brown filly, by Hagioscope out of Grand Duchess, the property of Sir R. W. Griffiths, was second. Samara, a brown filly, by Saraband, out of Wild Hyacinth, owned by Lord Cadogan, was third.

A Drunkard's Fatal Bonfire. ST. LOUIS, June 8.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Webster City, Iowa, says: G. W. Foval, proprietor of a large harness store and an ex-city official, was burned to a crisp here about 1:30 a. m. While intoxicated he was placed in the city jail, which he set on fire with the result noted. He has twice before attempted the same thing and third was successful.

Hasn't Suicided and Wants to Settle. BUENOS AYRES, June 8.—The report that Senor Marengo, manager of the Provincial bank of this city, had committed suicide, was incorrect. Senor Marengo returned here yesterday and has offered to surrender to his creditors valuable property in part payment of the losses they have incurred through his instrumentality. It had also been reported that irregularities had previously been discovered in his accounts to the extent of $1,300,000.

HOAR'S RESOLUTION TABLED.

Senator Cullom Discourses on the History of the Tariff Question.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Mr. Hoar's resolution to set at rest the claim of the government against the estate of the late Leland Stanford came over from yesterday and was laid before the senate at the opening of the session today. Mr. Teller suggested that the resolution be modified so as to confine the inquiry to be made simply to the advisability of releasing the Stanford estate, without in any way touching the validity of the claim, in order not to affect other claims which the government might have. Mr. Hoar agreed to modify the resolution in accordance with this suggestion. After some further discussion, Mr. Allen, of Nebraska, moved to lay the resolution on the table. The motion was carried. The tariff bill was then laid before the senate and Mr. Cullom took the floor and delivered a speech on the general historical phases of the tariff question.

LOST ON JAPAN COAST.

Six Sealing Vessels and Over a Hundred Men Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—The latest news from the Japan coast is anything but encouraging to the sealers. In addition to the four vessels known to have been lost it is reported that there are six other sealing schooners which are missing. They are the schooners Mary H. Thomas, Alton, Kattler, San Diego, Unga and Kate and Ann. Not only have they not touched at Hakodate or Yokohama, but they have not been seen by any of the vessels which have put in there. The missing sealers all sailed from San Francisco and carry crews numbering 108 men.

HAS RECEIVED PROTESTS.

Baldwin's Indemnifying Bill Does Not Gain General Approval.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representative Baldwin, has received a number of protests against his bill now in committee to reimburse settlers who went upon indemnity lands of the Northern Pacific. He is considering the advisability of introducing a new bill but must await the return of Secretary Smith, as such bills must have the approval of the secretary of the interior in order to pass congress.

ROLLED INTO THE CREEK.

Serious Accident on the Colorado Central Railroad Reported and Lot of Doctors Asked For.

GOLDEN, Col., June 8.—At 11 o'clock a message was received here saying that the passenger train on the Colorado Central railroad which left Denver at 8:35 a. m., rolled into Clark creek three miles west of this city and asking that all the doctors be sent to the scene of the accident. No particulars of the accident have been learned. It was undoubtedly caused by the bad condition of the track, and not by the driver. The Central was opened to traffic yesterday, having been blocked for a week by washouts. Usually the morning passenger train carries 150 passengers, but it is believed the number today was larger than usual.

It's Postmaster Milbrook Now.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—[Special to The Herald.]—Upon recommendation of Representative Baldwin, H. J. Milbrook today appointed postmaster at McKinley, St. Louis county, vice R. A. Lowe, removed.

Hippedromed Bicycle Races.

BUFFALO, June 8.—A special dispatch to the Courier from Onondaga says that in the bicycle races yesterday the cracks were afraid of the new quarter-mile track and figured that pedaling at extreme speed would be dangerous, so they all drew lots from a hat and thus decided upon the order of finish in each race. This was strictly followed with one exception, Coleman's carelessness losing him third prize.

Cuban Customs Duties May Shrink.

MADRID, June 8.—United States Minister Taylor has communicated a note to the Spanish government declaring that the customs duties are improperly collected in the island of Cuba, owing to misinterpretation of the treaty with the United States. As a result, the United States claims reimbursement of the sum of 25,500,000 pesetas on the ground that articles which are free of duty, according to the English text of the agreement, are not included in the Spanish copy of the agreement which was sent to Cuba for the use of the Spanish customs officials in that island. It is said that if Spain should yield in this matter the Cuban revenue under the estimates would undergo a decline of 15,000,000 pesetas.

GIRLS, AS YOU GO ALONG.

Come, all you fair young housewives and listen into me (I mean those lucky ones who are from servant bondage free). And some advice I'll give you in a simple little song. With the simple little chorus of—Girls, as you go along.

Oh, as you go along, You take a fancy for a cake, late in the afternoon. And flour, butter, sugar, eggs and milk and bowl and spoon. And other necessary adds the kitchen table through.

Don't let them stay; clear them away, girls, as you go along.

Oh, as you go along, Put each one back in its right place, girls, as you go along.

And then you'll find how easily a great deal can be done Without your being "tired to death" at setting.

And though sometimes, in spite of care, things seem to turn out wrong, 'Tis always pay to smooth the way, girls, as you go along.

Oh, as you go along, So never leave your work behind, girls, as you go along.

—Washington Star.

His Explanation.

In a certain town in Nevada there was at one time a justice of the peace who had been born in the Emerald Isle, and whose blunders occasioned many a smile to the better educated members of the community.

At one time a subpoena had been issued from his court to another Irishman to attend as witness in a case where James Smith was the plaintiff and Isaac Williams et al. were the defendants.

Michael Fennessey, the desired witness, appeared in court before the trial commenced, and during an informal preliminary conversation he asked bluntly: "Judge, who in the world is 'et al.'? That's fwa O'im wantin' to be towld."

"Well, well, Michael," exclaimed his honor in evident amazement, "O must say O'im a bit surprised that an American citizen, an man of ordinary intelligence, should not know the main of et al. But for the bluntness of the witness an any other gentleman present that might be ignorant as well as Michael Fennessey O'll explain. It is divaricated from two Latin words connected with its literal and American sense, et al., at all!"—Youth's Companion.

Unappreciated Honor.

Senator George of Mississippi speaks with a broad southern accent. Just after the organization of the Fifty-second congress the senator one day walked over to the house and proceeded to go by the doorkeepers.

One of the guardians, not knowing the Mississippi statesman, laid his hand on his arm and detained him.

"Here, sir; I say, sir, are you a representative?" he called out.

"No, sah," said the Mississippiian gravely. "I am a member, sah, of the United States senate, and I wish to see Representative Kilgo, sah."

This doorkeeper was one of Isaman Turner's appointees, who had cultivated a grim sense of humor which he was in the habit of exploiting at the expense of men with idiosyncrasies. He promptly replied:

Representative Kilgo, sah, Is not upon the flo, sah.

He then turned to the senator and said, "And won't be back no mo, sah."

A day or two after there was a sudden change of doorkeepers at that particular portal.

And the keeper of the do, sah, Was heard of no more, sah.

—Washington Post.

Rapped In Slumber.

Not Improved With Age. A traveling man dining at a restaurant ordered a chicken for his dinner. It was placed before him, and he tried in vain to make an incision with his knife and fork. Turning to the girl who had waited on him, he said:

"I was here five years ago and ordered a chicken for dinner."

"Oh, yes," answered the girl flippantly. "I remember. It was I who waited on you."

"How strange—how very strange!" remarked the man in a low, awestruck tone.

"Why is it strange?" inquired the girl.

"It's more than strange; it's wonderful—such a coincidence could hardly happen twice to the same girl, same chicken," and he looked reverently at the specimen before him, while the girl made a hasty retreat.—Exchange.

WERE NOT INDICTED

Michael O'Keefe and Fred Veitch Will Not Have to Stand Trial for Assaulting Harry Mee.

Grand Jury Adjourned This Forenoon and Returned no Indictments Against Either of Them.

Damage Suits Against Feddersen and Oppel & Sons Resulted in Verdicts for the Plaintiffs.

The grand jury failed to find indictments against Michael O'Keefe and Fred Veitch, the Tower men who were bound over for assaulting Morrison and Mee at Tower a couple of weeks ago. The two men were held to the grand jury about ten days ago.

Two out of the three personal injury suits on in the district court yesterday were knocked out by the jury. The jury in the case of William Edmondson against Oppel & Sons, remained out all night and shortly before 11 o'clock this morning returned a verdict for the defendants. In the case of Joseph Graef against August Feddersen it took the jury but fifteen minutes last night to find for the defendant.

The case of Thomas Perry against A. M. Miller was still on at noon, the plaintiff closing just before the noon adjournment. During the forenoon the jury went to the Lyceum building to look at the place in which Perry is alleged to have been hurt. They will take the case during the afternoon.

The case of Axel Johnson against Charles A. Johnson was on trial before Judge Ensign at noon. The case of John Megins against the Duluth & Iron Range to recover $600 for breach of contract was on trial at noon before Judge Meier.

The case of W. E. Neal against Frank A. Clarkson was dismissed by the plaintiff after a jury had been drawn to try the case.

The grand jury has finished its work and was discharged this morning. They visited the poor farm and found every thing in good condition.

An indictment was returned this morning against Annie Bresland for keeping a house of assignation. William Dansey was indicted for forgery in the second degree for making a $5 check purporting to be signed by C. H. Woodruff. He was given one day to plead. Victor Stearns was made his attorney.

Fred Wilson, for stealing a complete outfit of clothes from one George Keyworth, was indicted for grand larceny in the second degree. He was given one day to plead.

Mike Ryan was indicted for robbery in the second degree for forcibly taking from one John Brennan a $10 bank note. He was given one day to plead. Martin W. Watrous was appointed to defend him.

LARGE AMOUNT ASKED.

Mack, Nye & Co. Begin Suit Against the Zenith Iron Company Stockholders.

Mack, Nye & Co., of Cleveland, have begun suit in the United States court against H. M. Bradley, A. W. Bradley, E. L. Bradley, H. H. Hanford, J. L. Washburn and others. The defendants are alleged to be owners of a majority of stock of the Zenith Iron company. The plaintiffs claim to have been taken into a contract to handle the ore of the company. They were to advance $40,000 on an estimated output of 75,000 tons. They did advance $32,500 and about 12,883 tons of ore were shipped. The amount claimed to be due is $28,222.44.

Judge Nelson has filed a decree in the case of Foster Lumber company against George A. Wadsworth. The plaintiff is given title to the 1/2 of ne 1/4 section 15-59-20.

New Banking Company.

Articles of incorporation of the Northern Banking company have been filed by C. H. Clague, E. W. Watter, C. L. Lewis and W. P. Lardner, of Duluth, and M. J. Carpenter, of Chicago, who will constitute the board of directors. The capital stock is $50,000 with a limit of indebtedness of $25,000.

INTO THE DITCH

The New York Fast Mail and Express on the Vandalla Line Wrecked this Morning.

Front Trucks of the Engine Jumped a Curve and Engine and Four Cars Ditched.

Fireman Paulton Knocked Under the Tender and Crushed to Death and Several Persons Injured.

Clerk Henry Albaugh Dangerously Crushed in the Chest—Passengers More or Less Hurt.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—The New York fast mail and express of the Vandalla line, leaving here at 8:10 a. m., was wrecked one mile east of Pocahontas at 12:22 a. m., the fireman, S. A. Paulton, of Terre Haute, Ind., being crushed to death under the tender and many others injured. The train was running about forty-five miles per hour when, on a curve with a 12-foot embankment, the engineer, Thomas Manifel, felt something supposed to be the forward truck on the engine, give way. In an instant the engine, tender, two mail cars, a combination car and a coach were in the ditch. Fireman Paulton fell under the tender and was crushed to death. Mail Clerk Henry Albaugh was dangerously crushed in the chest and Thomas Manifel, engineer, slightly hurt on the hand and arm. The passengers were shaken up and many more or less injured. Wrecking trains and surgeons were sent to the wreck to care for the injured and repair the track, which was torn up for a short distance. Following is the list of dead and injured:

Dead: Fireman S. A. Paulton, Terre Haute, under wreck.
Injured: George N. Craft, Belleville, Ill., hurt inside; H. Albaugh, postal clerk, hurt in head, back and chest seriously; C. U. Niverson, postal clerk, hurt in head, hip and knee; Miss Anna B. Achuer, Indianapolis, badly scared, heart disease, dangerous; Samuel Richards, Denver, bruised in back; Oscar Vanborn, postal clerk, hurt in shoulder, head and back; F. H. Riley, postal clerk, slightly injured on the head and back; I. M. Barnett, postal clerk, arm scalded back hurt; J. Byron Humes, postal clerk, hurt in leg; Miss Lizzie Riley, slightly hurt; Conductor Trimble, fingers cut; Engineer Manifel, one finger off. The wrecked train was No. 2 and the accident occurred one mile east of Pocahontas. The front trucks jumped the curve.

MRS. SHACKLETT IS DEAD.
Now There Will be a Lively Fight Over Her Estate.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—Mrs. Catherine M. Shacklett, formerly of Alexandria, Va., the 63-year-old woman who, while under the influence of a drug, was induced to wed J. Ross Landers, of Chicago, nearly thirty years her junior, is dead.

Since the wedding in the Hotel Hanover, on April 26 and the subsequent arrest of Landers on April 28, his aged bride has been kept from him by her friends. Yesterday Landers, through his attorneys, secured a writ of habeas corpus issued to secure Mrs. Shacklett's appearance in court.

Armed with this writ, Landers went to the Presbyterian hospital, where his bride had been a patient for several weeks, but found that she was dead and that her half-sister had taken possession of the body. There is likely to be a lively contest in court for the possession of the dead woman's estate.

War in Oil Prices.
CHICAGO, June 9.—Illuminating oil, sold by the Standard Oil company, has touched the lowest point ever reached in Chicago, 4 cents, the result of a fight against outside dealers. Firms which are running oil wagons independent of the Standard Oil company, have declared that they will meet the cut, and a merry war is expected.

An Heiress Married.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 9.—Miss Hope Goddard, daughter of Col. William Goddard, of this city, and heiress to $200,000 was married to C. Oliver Iselin, son of the late millionaire banker, Iselin, of New York, today. Owing to the recent death of an uncle of the bride, the ceremony was a quiet one, though nearly 300 guests were present.

The St. Cloud Register.

THE FRAZER STILL RISING.

The Floods in British Columbia Show No Sign of Abatement.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 9.—Reports received here from the interior state that the Fraser river is still slowly rising. The rises reported range from one inch on the lower river to twelve inches at Lytton.

The steamship Queen, for Alaska, called here yesterday to take the Raymond party, who were erroneously reported to have been wrecked. The steamer sailed without them, as there were no chances of their getting through from Banff for at least a week.

Burglars and thieves have begun to ravage the flooded districts. Yesterday a safe was stolen from the offices of the Moodyville mill company. The intention was to remove the safe to the woods and rifle it. Their boat capsized and the safe and the boat were found on the flooded flats.

The Dominion government is having a careful estimate made of the losses and losers by the flood. In the municipalities corresponding to American counties it is found by the census, taken carefully as possible, that fully 15,000 people are today homeless in consequence of the flooding of the Fraser. What their losses will be or have been cannot yet be calculated.

DESTROYED BY DYNAMITE

The Tipples of the Brubaker & Coleman Mines Near Berlin, Pa., Blown Up Last Night.

SOMERSET, Pa., June 9.—Late last night the tipples of the Brubaker & Coleman mines, near Berlin, Pa., was completely destroyed by dynamite. The mines have been in operation day and night, and last night was the first time for several weeks that a force has not been working in the mines.

On account of the explosions the mines were closed today. It is supposed that the outrage was committed by strikers from Garrett, six miles south of here, who have been out since the great strike was inaugurated.

Mine owners in this vicinity have become alarmed and have asked the sheriff for protection.

QUIET IN PENNSYLVANIA.

No Disorder for Forty-Eight Hours and the Worst Probably Over.

PITTSBURGH, June 9.—The strike situation in Western Pennsylvania continues quiet. There has been no disorder at any point for forty-eight hours and the hope is expressed that the worst is over. The work is still being done by the deputies at 2 o'clock is entirely without foundation. Not a shot has been fired so far and Chief Deputy Rice wires that no trouble is anticipated. The saloons, which have been closed since the mayor's proclamation, were re-opened today.

The Duquesne plant is still closed and no work is expected there. In the coke region there have been no serious outbreaks for several days.

The Strike in Iowa.
MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—An Ottumwa, Iowa, special says: The Whitebreast Coal company propose Monday to re-open the work in the Kelt mines and trouble is anticipated. Thirty colored miners have signified their willingness to return to work if protected, and this has been promised by the sheriff. If this move is successful it will break the backbone of the strike in Iowa.

Police Officer Shot.
CHICAGO, June 9.—Joseph Oberha, a special police officer for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, was shot this evening for St. Paul, where James Hill and his party went at 6 last night. The wheat rate is still at 2½ cents to load before June 14 to avoid storage charges.

The Tur Record is in dry dock undergoing slight repairs.

Information of insanity has been lodged against Emma Winstad.

Tyran is Alive.
LONDON, June 9.—The publishers of P. J. Tynan's book, "The Irish National Invincibles and Their Times," have informed the St. James Gazette that, contrary to the statement of that newspaper yesterday, Tynan is very much alive and the publishers are prepared to prove this fact.

BAYONETS USED

Five Companies of the West Virginia State Militia are Moving Trains Today at Wheeling.

Obstructions Placed on the Track by the Strikers and the Troops Used Bayonets Threateningly.

A Bridge on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling Road Was Burned Last Night by Strikers.

They Also Tried to Blow Up Another Bridge With Powder this Morning but Failed.

BALTIMORE, June 9.—A special dispatch to the News from Wheeling, W. Va., says: Five companies of the West Virginia state militia arrived over the Ohio River railroad today and encamped south of town. They were reinforced by later arrivals and moved on the Bogg's run yards. The rioters retreated, but placed obstructions at places along the road into this city, and the troops were several hours moving the first train. No shots were fired but bayonets were used threateningly.

The Baltimore & Ohio lines are now completely under guard from Mountville to Cambridge, a distance of fifty miles. At Forty-eighth street, the Ohio county line, the troops were met by several hundred men, women and boys and a heavy volley of stones and bricks greeted the advance. One soldier was badly hurt. At a number of other points stones were thrown.

A report from Elm Grove, on the Wheeling & Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio, says the strikers have seized a coal train and blockaded the tracks. A company of militia will be sent to the scene. Gen. Spillman is in command of the West Virginia troops.

The rioters on the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling made a bold stroke in burning down bridge No. 4, just west of where they had been previously encamped and from which place they were driven by the Ohio militia last night. The destruction of the bridge is complete. The advance of the militia from Bridgeport to Flushing, which was to have occurred this morning, is temporarily blocked.

An Explosion Averted.
CLEVELAND, June 9.—A message just received at the headquarters of the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad in this city from General Manager Woodford at Bridgeport, Ohio, says: "Strikers tried to blow up a bridge early this morning. Three cans of powder were placed under the structure, but a watchman discovered and removed them in time to prevent an explosion. Two double-header coal trains were started north from Bridgeport under protection of troops and have arrived safely from Wheeling creek."

North West Left Late.
The North West did not leave until 5:35 this morning, as she was detained in order to ship coal enough for her down trip. John Gordon and party will leave this evening for St. Paul, where James Hill and his party went at 6 last night. The wheat rate is still at 2½ cents to load before June 14 to avoid storage charges.

The Tur Record is in dry dock undergoing slight repairs.

CONFIDENCE MEN BALKED.

T. E. Ebner Had Quite an Experience Coming Up from St. Paul Yesterday.

T. E. Ebner came up from St. Paul yesterday on the St. Paul & Duluth "limited" and this side of Rush City had quite an adventure with "con" men. Mr. Ebner was sitting in his seat when a stranger came up and said:

"Can you play euchre?"
"Yes," answered the attorney.
"Well, come back and join a party of us in a game."

The invitation was accepted and a company of four, composed of Mr. Ebner, an old man, a Scandinavian and a couple of strangers, one of whom was a large man and the other rather small. A couple of hands were pleasantly played when some pretty good poker hands were dealt in some way. One of the strangers remarked:

"Well, here's what I call a pretty good poker hand."

"I've got a pretty good one myself," said the other stranger.

"I'll bet $10 mine's the best," said the big man.

The result was that the man who made the bluff lost his bet. The two shook hands and the little fellow said:

"Now there's no hard feeling over this—you know you made the proposition."

"Oh, not there's no hard feelings" and they again shook hands.

Seeing how matters stood, Mr. Ebner fell out of the game but the old man kept on. At last one of the confidence men, for such the men proved to be, leaned over towards him and said, "Ain't that an elegant poker hand?"

The old fellow thought it was and said he had a fine one too.

"I'll bet $25 mine's the best," said the other stranger.

"I've got only $15," said the old man.

"I'll bet that much," said the swindler.

"All right," was the answer.

Just as the old man was pulling out his money, Ebner touched him on the arm and said:

"Don't bet on a poker hand in a euchre game."

The words were hardly out of his mouth before the small gambler jumped up excitedly and grabbed an arm. The other fellow uttered in oath, called Ebner a vile name and struck a vicious blow at the attorney. He threw up his arm and the fist went past his ear, just grazing it.

The brakeman and conductor rushed forward and interposed, so no fight followed. Mr. Ebner went back to his seat in the other car and the old man put the $15 back into his pocket. The funny thing was that after the row was over, the old fellow did not know what it was all about.

Lorain, one of the gaag of gamblers who had not been in the game, came up to Ebner and said:

"You were mighty lucky. That big man is a desperate character. It's a wonder he did not hammer you over the head with his gun. I've seen him shoot two men."

"Here's my card," said the young lawyer. "Tell that fellow that anytime he wants anything out of me, just come around."

The gambler sneaked away as soon as he looked at the card and later on a couple of them dropped off the train. Mr. Ebner calculated to have the big fellow arrested for assault, but the brakeman, who was the only eye-witness, begged off, saying that he would lose a trip and that his company would then make inquiries. Why he train men do not see that this gang of gamblers is arrested, Mr. Ebner says he cannot understand. He saw the big gambler in Duluth this morning but was not seen himself. He said that he would give a description of the swindler: to the chief of police.

THE LAST EXCURSION.

Christopher Columbus Will Take a Run Down the Shore Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the last excursion of the Christopher Columbus at Duluth will be given. The big whaleback will leave the steel barge works at 1:30 p. m. and the Northern Pacific dock in Duluth at 2:30 p. m. She will be out about four hours. A run will be taken down the south shore and the boat will get back about 8 o'clock. This is positively the last excursion. She leaves for Chicago on Monday or Tuesday to go into the summer excursion business down there.

Trouble is Expected.

BRAZIL, Ind., June 9.—The mob of miners still surrounds the jail in which the suspected murderers of Engineer Barr are confined, and although nothing has occurred, trouble is expected.

The farmers in the vicinity are preparing to assist the authorities if necessary. Nine of the twelve suspects are still in jail, three of them having been released on bonds of $300 each.

NORTHWEST HONORED

Presentation of the Set of Colors from the People of Duluth on the Excursion.

James J. Hill Responded to Col. Graves' Speech, Speaking of the Growth of Lake Traffic.

Set of Resolutions from Commercial Bodies Also Presented—Those Who Manage the Big Boat.

At exactly 3:30 yesterday the North West moved away from the Northern steamship dock with between 500 and 600 people on board. From the time of the arrival of the boat up to its departure on the promised excursion the dock back of the warehouse was crowded with people, and when the passengers were finally landed and the crowd admitted to the dock next the boat they filled the warehouse and the narrow platform to suffocation.

A great many people were under the impression that the public inspection was to be made before the excursion left, and hundreds crowded their way up to the boat only to crowd back again. Many holders of tickets had been told that the excursion would leave at 4 o'clock, and consequently when the gong was blown upon the crowd at 3:30 o'clock it closed upon a large number of invited guests. This was the one marinating feature of the day. It reduced the number to be accommodated on the boat, however, and she was only comfortably filled. The handsome boat moved easily and gracefully out of the slip and through the canal and in a few minutes was proudly plowing the waters of the lake. An opportunity was afforded the guests to inspect the handsome appointments of the boat, and many and enthusiastic were the expressions of admiration called out.

When the boat had proceeded a short distance into the lake the presentation of the set of colors was begun on the forward part of the main deck. Col. C. H. Graves made the presentation speech. "It is the most pleasant duty of my life," he said, "that I should serve as the agent of my fellow citizens to pay tribute to the enterprise and energy which has established the Northern Steamship line. Allow me to be briefly historical. Twenty years ago Duluth rejoiced in its first boat line, which consisted of two small and unhandy boats, but which marked a beginning, and those were days of beginnings. Today we see in our harbor the supreme triumph of modern marine architecture, the great ship that floats on fresh water and one of the finest that sails any sea.

"Imagine my pleasure when I see as general manager of this magnificent line the man who managed those two small craft a quarter of a century ago. I need not say I refer to John Gordon. At the same time in St. Paul an honorable working business man was enabled to add to his small business the selling of coal, his first shipments of which were received from the newly opened port of Duluth. Today that man is the greatest single-handed railway owner and manager in the United States. I refer to the creator of the Northern Steamship line—James J. Hill. (Applause.)

"It gives me great pleasure to present the set of colors. Good ship North West, may you proudly sail under these stars and stripes for many and many a year receiving in every port the hearty welcome always waiting in Duluth, and may you always be the thing of beauty and grace you are now.

After a hearty burst of applause, James J. Hill was introduced. He was greeted heartily, and then began to speak. "It gives me great pleasure to be able to receive this ship on its first trip and to meet old friends on such an occasion. It is a pleasure to receive this ship, the colors representing as it does the emblem of our country. During times of both peace and war this flag has waved over the land, and I hope it will continue to wave for many years.

"It means as much now as it ever did in the world, and the same feeling which always carried the country through will enable it to float during peace and prosperity for all time to come.

"There is represented on the shores of the lakes a greater portion of the wealth of the nation than in any other part of the country. The nation that controls the iron product of the world controls transportation and the nation that controls transportation attains the highest place in the commerce of the world."

"The position of Duluth makes it the key city of the lakes, and it must advance with the prosperity of the country. "My occupation for the past fifteen years has been to build up and develop the Northwest, and during that time of have extended our lines from the lakes to the Pacific. I hope I may say that our building is about finished. Now it has fallen to my lot to undertake the development of water transportation, and to make the first effort to build up the passenger traffic, which has resulted in the building of this ship. We have thus accomplished a means for the transportation of passengers without delay and yet giving during a passage attended by the comforts dear to the heart of man the rest needed by busy people.

"If this experiment succeeds, as I hope and think it will, we shall build more boats, equal at least to this one. There is no reason for anyone to cross the ocean for their summer outing when in a week will give 200 miles of sailing and the opportunity to hear from friends and business at least once in every twenty-four hours. Let the experiment succeed it will bring people to the shores of Lake Superior who never have seen them and who never would when they could not make the passage with comfort. The old boats were all right in their day, and they did their work well, but the world moves and it has left them behind in its advance.

"I thank you," turning to Col. Graves, "and through you the citizens of Duluth, for the interest and appreciation you have shown. While I cannot see you as often as I should like, I hope this venture will bring us closer together, and I can always assure you of a consistent friend at the head of navigation on the river down below.

John Gordon and Captain Campau

spoke a few words, after which Mayor Lewis spoke briefly and cleverly. The quartermaster took charge of the colors and in a few moments they were streaming in the breeze from the masts of the ship. During the ceremony the boat had arrived opposite Lester Park and turned, and by the time it was concluded she was well on her way back to Duluth. In an hour after the starting time she sped up at the dock again and the guests were landed.

Before the ceremony a set of resolutions was presented on behalf of the chamber of commerce, board of trade and jobbers' union, containing welcome congratulations and good wishes to the ship and her officials.

Before the officials of the steamship company and officers of the boat have friends in Duluth, and a number visited the vessel last night while she was coaling and were given a chance to inspect her.

General Manager John Gordon has many friends here, formed in the old days when he was sailing on the lake boats. Commodore Gordon, as he is now called, owing to the growing size of the Northern Steamship company's fleet, of which he is the chief, was born in Detroit, Mich., in 1840, and upon leaving school became a clerk in the Michigan Central railroad office. He was subsequently appointed stamp clerk at the postoffice and sold stamps on the day when the present government building, corner of Larned and Griswold streets, opened for business. Then he clerked on various steamers running out of Detroit, acquired interests in vessel property, and for many years past has been one of the best-known vessel owners on the lakes. During the past five years he has made his home in Buffalo, but for thirteen years before that he was resident of Chicago.

Assistant Manager F. P. Gordon is also with the boat on this trip. He was born thirty years ago on Charlotte avenue, Detroit, and began his business experience as a clerk in the Anchor line office in Chicago. He was purchasing agent of the Goodrich Transportation company from 1888 to 1901, and then purchased the Northern Steamship line before assuming his present position.

Capt. W. H. Campau, master of the North West, is also a Detroit. He was born about forty-three years ago in Ogdensburg, N. Y. When only 17 years old he was a second officer, at 19, mate, at 22 he became master of the propeller Colin Campbell and sailed her many years. He was eight years with the Ward line, acting during that time as master of six different boats. He was three years master of the Emily P. Ward, running from Buffalo to Duluth, and two years master of the Northern King, on the same line. During the past winter Capt. Campau visited England and France, studying the methods employed in handling great ocean steamships and caring for their passengers.

Among the others who came here on the North West was John F. Pankhurst, vice president of the Globe Iron works, who built the steamer, and Richard Peck, a celebrated consulting engineer employed by the Camps and other ocean shipbuilders to make the tests of boats ordered by the government. During the past year he earned $700,000 in bonuses for the ships tested in this manner.

It should be stated that Capt. Campau merely exercises a general supervision over all departments. While in supreme command, he stands no watches on all bridges and all matters of detail and discipline are looked after by the executive officer, Frank Welcome, a well-known mariner who formerly sailed the Emily Ward. Capt. Welcome, the executive officer, Capt. Tierney, second officer, and Capt. Dermott, third officer, are first-class seamen and all hold master's papers. Capt. Tierney used to sail the W. H. Stevens. The boat and his mate both hold first officer's papers, and the four quartermasters all have second officer's papers. Two lookouts and twelve crew complete what is known as the master's crew.

The engine room is in charge of Duncan Fraser, chief engineer, who has been with the Northern Steamship company since its organization. He has two first assistant engineers, and two second and two third assistant engineers, eight oilers, six water tenders and twenty-four firemen. All the first and second assistant engineers hold first engineer's papers.

The purser's department is headed by W. P. Pierce, purser, who has enjoyed a long experience at the Normandy, Brunswick, Murray Hill and other New York hotels. F. Curtis, the clerk, has occupied a similar position on the steamer India, of the Lake Superior Transportation company for some years. Frank Pierson, late of the St. James hotel, New York, is the steward; Duncan Carmichael second steward, and Mrs. Whales, the housekeeper, was formerly at the Normandy hotel in New York. Eighty-four maids are employed under the direction of the housekeeper. In the kitchen Gustave Gaston, the chef, reigns over seven cooks. There are seventy-eight maids all told in the purser's department and the total number employed on the boat is 143.

In giving the resolutions adopted by the passengers and guests of the North West, The Herald yesterday accidentally omitted to state that they were prepared by M. A. Hays of the News Tribune and presented by him to Mr. Gordon on behalf of the people on board. There were several brides on the vessel, and Mr. Hays obtained their signatures to the resolutions, which was a very happy thought and will furnish the company with advertising material that will doubtless secure many more bridal parties.

TO REACH HUDSON BAY

Congressman McCleary Has a Scheme to Connect the Gulf of Mexico With Hudson Bay.

He Wants the Government to Make a Preliminary Survey to See if it is Feasible.

Thinks the Canadians Would Remove the Obstructions that Now Exist in the Winnipeg River.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Representative McCleary, of Minnesota, who is a member of the committee on railroads and canals, has laid the foundation of a scheme to connect the Gulf of Mexico with Hudson bay. His project, which has caused more or less discussion in the Northwest and surveys for other purposes have been used in making computations of the plan. Mr. McCleary now proposes that the United States shall, in conjunction with the Canadian government, make a preliminary survey to ascertain whether, in the first place, the scheme is feasible and if so what the probable cost will be.

Mr. McCleary's plan is to have the survey made by the way of the Minnesota river, whose head waters and those of the Red river of the North nearly join through Big Stone and Lake Traverse. In high water boats of considerable size have crossed from one lake to the other, and it would not require a very large canal to connect the waters of the Red and Minnesota rivers. While the difficulty of connecting the Red and Minnesota rivers is not great, it is claimed that the rapids in the Winnipeg river have always discouraged the Canadian government from the undertaking.

There have been several conventions of citizens of Northern Minnesota, North Dakota and Winnipeg looking to the opening of the Winnipeg river, in the hope that they might find a short water outlet to the seaboard. Each of these connections has been confronted with the obstacle of the Winnipeg river, but Mr. McCleary thinks that if the United States should take some steps toward opening up a channel on this side of the boundary the Canadian government might be inclined to take some action looking to opening the Winnipeg river.

Now that a proposition has been agreed to by the committee on railroads and canals to survey a canal to connect the Ohio with the great lakes, and another has been favorably talked of to survey a canal connecting the great lakes and the Hudson river, he thinks that it is but just that another project of interest to West should be considered and he will urge it before the committee.

Scrofula Tumors

Salt Rheum, Nervousness, Other Troubles

Complication of Diseases Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: 'Dear Sirs: From childhood I had been a great sufferer from scrofula, having a tumor on my left breast and another in my stomach. I was also afflicted with salt rheum. We spent much money for medical attendance and remedies, but all to no avail. Three years ago I commenced to run down. The trouble with my stomach would not allow me to eat and even milk distressed me very much. My right hand and arm became almost paralyzed, and my stomach difficulty was fast developing into a serious female trouble.'"

Serious Female Troubles.
I became very nervous and was subject to fainting spells. Dark spots appeared before my eyes. The doctors failed to help me. In the spring I read about the wonderful cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to give it a trial. After taking it a short time I commenced to feel better, my digestion improved, and the

"TELEPHONE CLIPPINGS."

The Sheboygan, Wis., Star, in an editorial article upon the subject of the Automatic Telephone Exchange, speaks as follows:

"The Duluth News Tribune in a three-column article extolls the beauties and virtues of the new telephone company which has applied for a franchise in that city. The council's committee has favorably reported the measure and there seems to be no question as to its passage.

"It sings the situation thusly: 'As soon as the franchise is passed by the council the citizens of this city and the surrounding country will secure through the installation of a duplicity of its most prominent and enterprising citizens the establishment of a telephone system and service that represents the best efforts of the inventive genius in the telephone field, and which the promoters feel assured will far surpass the much vaunted inventions and contrivances of the old-fashioned Bell, Edison, Berliner systems. Sheboygan heard the same song about six months ago and expected to enjoy all the advantages that these new systems would afford. If these telephone people would spend their time completing the terms of the franchises already secured, instead of securing others, then promises would amount to something.

Automatic Telephones and Their Inefficiency.
"Readers of the Star will remember the series of articles published in this paper some time ago relative to the telephone controversy in this city. It will also be remembered that the assertion was made that a Strowger or automatic telephone exchange could not be put down so efficiently in a city the size of Sheboygan because of certain inherent conditions that no automatic system could overcome. Great promises have been made the public by the Strowger people as to what would be done after June 30, upon which date the patent would expire on the old hand telephone, long since discarded by the old line companies as obsolete. It has been represented to our people by the Automatic Telephone company's agents that just as soon as this patent expired by limitation their company would be in a position to guarantee satisfactory service and would be in the way of construction."

"We have not think have also clearly shown, that an automatic telephone exchange could not be made to work well here even under the most favorable conditions. In the opinion we find unexpected corroboration from some of the persons who have been taken in by the brilliant prospects and promises made by the Strowger people.

"In Canada the Strowger people have been operating for some time, having none of the patent limitations, under the Canadian law, that govern in this. This means, of course, that inasmuch as they have had no restrictions, as to the use of either the hand telephone or transmitter that they have been able to resist the attacks, have handicapped them in their operations in the States, the people there have had advantage of their 'benefit' scheme in practical operation. What has been the result?"

"At Seaford, Ont., Canada, is published the Seaford Star. The town is one of considerable importance, has a banking establishment with $600,000 capital and other large institutions. F. G. Neel-in is the chief proprietor of the Sun, and a representative of the Strowger company. A recent issue of his paper the following communication and his answer thereto, which throws a flood of light upon the one advantage obtained by a thorough trial of the automatic system under the most favorable conditions and without any of the restrictions that his friends are now rendering its operation in the States unsuccessful."

"To Editor Sun.—Dear Sir: I notice by the Sun of Jan. 5 that you have had a Bell telephone instrument placed in your office. Last spring when Mr. C. G. Verwell and yourself called upon me you represented the Strowger automatic to be the great and only telephone. I kindly give you my reason for adopting an instrument of the Bell telephone system and oblige, SUBSCRIBER."

"Mr. Subscriber:—In reply to your inquiry, I have to advise you that the Bell telephone after representing the automatic to be the better system, we would say, that at the time we represented the automatic company, we were firmly believed it to be superior to any other system known. It was claimed to be in every way ahead of the Bell system. I have discovered that it does not possess all the superior qualities claimed for it. One automatic subscriber informs us that not once out of five times does it give the proper connection. This along with other objectionable business transactions in connection with the Automatic company is why we have changed our opinion regarding the automatic system and accepted the Bell instrument. Just here we wish to state that our remarks in no way apply to or reflect upon W. R. Counter, in whose store the Automatic telephone plant is situated. We have attempted to faithfully answer the question submitted and are fully persuaded after close observation that the Bell system is superior in every respect to its rival."

EDITOR, SUN.
"It will be noted that Mr. Neel-in was the Automatic's representative at Seaford at one time, and the reasons he states for his change of base are alike creditable to his judgment, honesty and good business sense."

A news item in another part of the Sun gives a list of the names of people who have discarded the automatic and put in Bell telephones during the previous week.

In an interview with a telephone engineer of local prominence this morning The Herald representative was told of one important objection to the kind of exchange service that the automatic people propose to give in Duluth. "Taking it for granted," said the engineer, "that you can call and get your party without the aid of the 'saucy telephone girl,' yet you cannot prevent any other subscriber from calling for and talking with the same individual simultaneously. This creates, and will create in a busy exchange, great confusion and would give mischief lovers unlimited opportunities for interference with other people's business. People in country towns like Albert Lea and Sheboygan may like such crude and ancient ways because they have more time to be 'sorter neighborly' as Samantha would say, but when a wire is crossed with another in this metropolis, we generally kick until the trouble is remedied.

These applicants may tell you that they have some recent improvements that will remedy this state of affairs, but I will bet all they want cover that they cannot get around this special defect without the aid of the operator that they deem so much.

The Bell company apparatus is so simple that a child can use it and get service, while the units, tens and hundreds key board of these people would puzzle anyone not up in algebra and logarithms."

DR. CAVE APPLAUDED.

Southern Women Endorse the Sentiments Expressed at Richmond.

St. Louis, June 9.—At the meeting held last evening by the Southern Women's Historical society of this city, the oration of Dr. Cave, at the unveiling of the monument to the memory of the Confederate soldiers and sailors at Richmond, Va., was read and warmly applauded. A committee presented the following preamble, which was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, as for many years the Southern people have borne misrepresentations, slanders, abuse, sneers and jeers, hoping that time would soften the animosity of their conquerors, and that the policy of silence has not proved a shining success, therefore be it Resolved, that in our opinion the policy of silence under falsehood and abuse is unwise and should be no longer pursued; and be it further

Resolved, that we send to the Rev. Dr. Cave our heartfelt thanks for breaking that bad policy, and assure him that we also ever hold the unwavering faith that an enlightened posterity will decide that the South was in the right; and be it further

Resolved, that we herewith present to thinking people of the country a few independent facts, which the South will rest her case in the calm confidence of winning the verdict:

1. That wars of conquest are per se wrong.
2. That wars of defense are always right.
3. That from the first to the last day of the war the North fought a war of conquest.
4. That from the first to the last day of the war the South fought a war of defense.
5. That the South from the first was eager for peace—prayed for peace.
6. That the North's answer to her prayer, was the arming of 2,772,405 men to hurl on the South, to kill, desolate and conquer.
7. That at no time did the South have half (one-third) as many men to meet the invaders.
8. That in its four years' struggle to conquer the South, the North used the enormous sum of $2,714,000,000.
9. That it is not possible to resist the conquest the South had no money, but spent her heart's blood without stint.

By these and other indisputable facts the South will be judged.

A Small Dividend.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 9.—Assignee H. Hubbard, of the Union Loan and Trust company, which failed over a year ago for upwards of $7,000,000 has made a report in the district court that the company will not pay its common creditors over 5 cents on the dollar. Mr. Hubbard also assigned of D. T. Hedges and of the Hedges estate. He reports that general creditors will get about 15 cents and certain preferred creditors about 25 cents on the dollar. Mr. Hedges failed for about $1,500,000.

Another Clue to the Taylors.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 9.—The long-looked for Taylors, the murderers, are believed to have been in Taney county this week. It was said that a few days ago two men armed to the teeth camped near Cedar creek and the next day passed through the city and disappeared. Not until a day after they had gone was it suspected that they were the Taylors. Cedar creek is considered the wildest portion of the United States and it is almost impossible to find any one in that jungle.

Says He Can Clear Himself.
ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Richard Nagel, the suspected Mobile & Ohio train wrecker, will probably be taken to Waterloo, Monroe county, today. He still protests his innocence. States Attorney Wilson of Monroe county, came to East St. Louis and had a conference with Chief Walsh. The only evidence against Nagel is circumstantial. He says he can clear himself if he is given a show.

The Colorado Miners.
LOUISVILLE, Col., June 9.—At a meeting of the coal miners a letter was read saying if the Louisville mine did not quit saying if the Louisville mine did not quit work the Southern miners would come up 150,000 strong and compel them to do so. The United Coal companies' miners have notified Receiver Brooks that if their March and April wages are not paid by June 18 they will strike.

Two Sealers Captured.
SEATTLE, Wash., June 9.—The United States cutter Grant arrived here last night. She had started for Alaska but off Cape Flattery she captured two schooners, the C. C. Perkins and the Puritan, with 380 sealers. The entire lot are on the Grant.

Sentenced to Hang.
RAWLINS, Wyo., June 9.—Judge Knight sentenced Frank Howard, who killed Charles Horn at Dickson, to hang Nov. 23. Thomas Morrison, who was convicted of murder in the second degree for the killing of Albert Peterson at Carbon, was given a 25-year sentence.

Do These Questions Apply to You?

IF THEY DO YOU HAD BETTER ANSWER THEM AT ONCE BY CALLING AT THE COPELAND MEDICAL INSTITUTE IN THE LYCEUM BUILDING.

The Copeland Physicians make a specialty of treating Catarrhal troubles, charging a small fee per month, furnishing all medicines necessary. Read these symptoms carefully, mark those that apply to your case and bring them with you. If you live out of town, send them by mail, so that the doctors can diagnose your case carefully.

CATARRH OF HEAD AND THROAT.
The most prevalent form of Catarrh and results from neglected colds.
"Is the breath foul?"
"Do you sneeze up slime?"
"Do you sneeze all over?"
"Do you blow out snobs?"
"Is the nose stopped up?"
"Does your nose discharge?"
"Does the nose bleed easily?"
"Is there tickling in throat?"
"Do cramps form in the nose?"
"Is the nose sore and tender?"
"Do you sneeze a great deal?"
"Is the nose low and red?"
"Does the nose feel itchy?"
"Is there pain in front of head?"
"Is there pain near the eyes?"
"Is there a dropping in the throat?"
"Is the throat dry in the morning?"
"Are you losing your sense of taste?"
"Do you sleep with the mouth open?"
This form of Catarrh is the easiest to cure.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.
Catarrh of the stomach is usually caused by swallowing poisonous mucus, which drops down from the head and throat at night.
"Is there nausea?"
"Do you vomit?"
"Do you belch up gas?"
"Are you light-headed?"
"Do you have a watery rash?"
"Do you have a sick headache?"
"Is there pain after eating?"
"Is there disgust for breakfast?"
"Do you feel as if you had eaten something?"
"Is your throat filled with slime?"
"Is there constant bad taste in mouth?"
"Do you have raw sensation in stomach?"
"Do you feel as if you had eaten something?"
"When you get up in the morning, are you dizzy?"
"When stomach is empty do you feel faint?"
"Do you belch up material that burns throat?"
If you have these symptoms, you have Catarrh of the stomach, or what is commonly called dyspepsia.

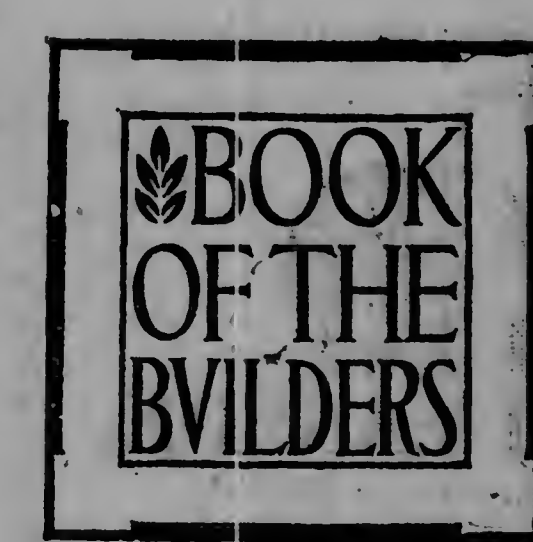

CATARRH OF BRONCHIAL TUBES.
When Catarrh of the head and throat is left unchecked it extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes and after a while attacks the lungs.
"Have you a cough?"
"Are you losing flesh?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Have you a pain in the chest?"
"Do you spit up yellow matter?"
"Do you cough on going to bed?"
"Do you cough in the morning?"
"Is your cough short and hacking?"
"Do you spit up little showy lumps?"
"Have you a disagreeable taste?"
"Is there a tickling behind the palate?"
"Have you a pain behind breast-bone?"
"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"
"Is there a burning pain in the throat?"
"Do you cough worse at night and morning?"
"Do you have to sit up at night to get breath?"
If you have these symptoms, you have Catarrh of the bronchial tubes.

CATARRH OF THE LIVER.
The liver is affected by Catarrh through the disease extending from the stomach into the tubes in the liver.
"Are you irritable?"
"Are you nervous?"
"Do you get dizzy?"
"Have you no energy?"
"Do you have cold feet?"
"Do you feel miserable?"
"Is your memory poor?"
"Do you get tired easily?"
"Do you get drowsy?"
"Can't you explain where?"
"Have you pain in the back?"
"Is your flesh soft and flabby?"
"Are you quite as fat as time?"
"Is there bloating after eating?"
"Do you have pains around the loins?"
"Do you have gurgling in bowels?"
"Do you have rumbling in bowels?"
"Is there throbbing in the stomach?"
"Do you have some of heat in bowels?"
"Do you suffer from pains in temples?"
"Do you have palpitation of the heart?"
"Is there a general feeling of lassitude?"
"Do these feelings effect your memory?"
If you have these symptoms, you have Catarrh of the liver.

Rev. George E. Keithley, the New Presbyterian Church Pastor, Was Ordained and Installed Last Evening.

Rev. T. M. Price Recalled by the Congregational Church Society Last Evening for Another Year's Service.

Church is Behind in Funds at Present—Alfred Johnson Drove Through an Ore Chute.

The ordination and installation of Rev. George E. Keithley took place at the Presbyterian church last evening. An examination of the candidate was held in the afternoon by the Duluth Presbyterian preparatory to the evening services. Rev. Mr. Carver, of Lakeside, and Rev. A. W. Ringland, of St. Paul, conducted the services of ordination and installation, after which a general hand shaking and social was indulged in by the congregation.

Congregational Church Meeting. At the annual business meeting of the Congregational church a unanimous call was extended to Rev. T. M. Price to remain as pastor another year. Whether he accepts or not will depend on the ability of the church to raise enough money to support him the coming year. A committee was appointed to make a canvass of the congregation and ascertain the amount that can be raised for this purpose.

West Duluth Briefs. An employee by the name of Alfred Johnson fell into one of the chutes at the ore docks yesterday and went clear through into the hold of the vessel. He sprained his ankle and sustained other slight injuries.

PETITION WAS DENIED

W. R. Silvey Will Continue as Receiver of the Spalding, the Court Refusing to Remove Him.

Several of the Signers of the Petition Asked to be Permitted to Withdraw Their Names.

Judge Lewis Said that He Would Decline to Take Any Notice of Antagonism in the Matter.

The petition of certain unsecured creditors of the E. P. Emerson estate asking for the removal of W. R. Silvey as receiver on the ground of incompetency and because of his relationship to R. S. Munger, one of the principal creditors, was heard before Judge Lewis in special term this morning, and the petition was denied.

Receiver Silvey filed his answer yesterday, and it was read with the other files in the case this morning. He admits his relationship to Munger, and that he did not file a report for some time after his appointment as receiver. All the rest is denied.

E. P. Emerson was employed for some time after the assignment as steward and manager. Silvey charges him with being extravagant and devoid of business ability, and says he was forced to discharge him. Out of this discharge, says Mr. Silvey, has grown this petition, which is actuated solely by malice. It is made so that Emerson may get back in his old position under a new receiver.

He goes on to say that the profits for May were $1468.20, and he expects the profits for June to be about $2500. A counter petition from the Pioneer Fuel company, Cutler & Gilbert, Panton & Watson and other creditors of the estate was read. They all professed to be satisfied with Mr. Silvey's administration in every particular. They said that they believed it to be for the best interests of the unsecured creditors that Mr. Silvey should be retained, and they therefore asked that the petition for his removal be dismissed.

Affidavits from certain creditors were read, in which they said that they had examined Mr. Silvey's statements and report, and that they believed that he was making an honest and intelligent effort to conduct the affairs of the estate for the best interests of the creditors.

Affidavits were also read from several signers of the original petition to the effect that they had been induced to give their signatures by misrepresentations made by Emerson. They stated that they had since examined the affairs and asked permission to withdraw their signatures.

Judge Lewis in making his decision said that he declined to take any notice of personal antagonism connected with the case. The matter should be decided for the best interests of the creditors. He agreed to the statements of the petitioners' attorney that a receiver should be appointed who should be entirely disinterested and who would be above any suspicion of interest. But without immediate reasons which had not been shown, he could not make an order discharging the receiver. The petition was thereupon dismissed.

The jury in the personal injury case of Thomas Perry against A. M. Miller went out yesterday afternoon, and last night returned a sealed verdict, which will be opened Monday.

Judge Moer sat in general term this morning on the case of John Megins against the Duluth & Iron Range. The demurrer to the complaint of Edmond Sherwood against R. S. Powell, was sustained by Judge Ensign. The plaintiff was given leave to file an amended complaint within twenty days.

HE USED HIS KNIFE.
K. Johnson Receives an Ugly Slash Across the Nose from Richard Frink.

There was great excitement down on Minnesota point yesterday afternoon, and when the climax ended K. Johnson was considerably the worse for wear as the result of a blow from a big knife in the hands of Richard Frink.

Last fall Johnson, who had been living in a shack down there, decided to go away for the winter, so he gave Frink permission to live in his domicile until his return. Some time ago the owner returned and desired Frink to vacate his quarters, but a prompt refusal was the only result. Frink bided his time and when the holder of the shack was absent, went in and threw his possessions outside.

When Frink returned he was exceedingly wroth and a big row was the result. In the fracas he pulled a big knife and struck Johnson a fearful blow on the bridge of the nose with the end of the handle, cutting an ugly gash and badly bruising that part of Johnson's face.

The police ran Frink in and he appeared in the police court this morning to answer to the charge of assault. He pleaded not guilty, and the trial will come off next Monday.

William Newman, who was up for drunkenness yesterday morning, and who got a suspended sentence, was back again this morning for a similar offense. Ten days in jail was the penalty this morning. Matt Shields, Anton Mosak, Anton La Groshak and John Swan were presented with suspended sentences upon pleading guilty to the charge of imbibing intoxicating liquors to excess.

Far Reaching Proposition For Celebrating the Fourth By an Aeronaut.

The following letter received at the mayor's office today speaks for itself when it comes to nerve and gall:

"Please inform me if it could be arranged to have a grand balloon ascension on the Fourth of July on a grand scale, with several of the writers for the press as passengers, a marriage in the balloon, or some scientists and photographers to write up the trip and take pictures while on the aerial voyage. A large parachute which would safely bring down two persons would be a novelty, as well as an ascent on horseback, or a horse carriage with a beautiful young lady along as a companion. I would raise the money by giving exhibitions if a committee will obtain a theater or ball free for my lectures on many subjects. I would also teach a class in my new system of training the memory which is worth $5000 to the citizens of Duluth, and I would like the amount go for the Fourth of July fund to get up the best celebration ever seen in your city."

"Please give this to your best journal and let them boom it up and the thing can be easily accomplished. I send an old bill which will give some idea of my ascent, and will also give you made more than 500 balloon ascents in visiting fifty nations in my tour of the world."

The above comes from an aeronaut who writes from St. Paul. His hand bill which accompanied the letter has on it a picture of the "professor's" "aerostat," which he claims is 175 feet in length and which he also claims to have built for the French at a cost of $5000. With such a balloon, the "professor" asserts that he could circumnavigate the globe in thirty days or reach the North pole in one week. The "professor," whose name is not given out of charity to the human family, also has a wife, so his bill says. He believes in hypnosis, mesmerism, and electrobiology, as well as gives medical treatment to the members of her sex.

It is a wonderful aggregation of human talent—and just think—Duluth has an opportunity to bring it all here on the great and glorious Fourth of July.

Will Not Stay at Home.

A little colored boy who gives his name as Alger Straus and his age at 5 years, was in charge of the matron at police headquarters this forenoon. He has been in the care of the colored servant of Mrs. Radcliffe, who says that the little fellow was given her by the boy's mother. The little chap is exceedingly bright, singing, dancing and turning handspins in a most entertaining manner, but he cannot be kept in the house and stays out late at nights on visits to the boats and all around town.

He has been turned over to Thomas Clark and if the belief that the boy has been deserted proves well founded he will be sent to one of the state schools.

Figuring on Building.

A. P. Loring, of Boston, president of the Realty company, and John V. Stone, a director, are in the city. Before they leave something will probably be done towards the erection of an addition to the St. Louis hotel.

At the Pavilion.

During the week of June 11, commencing Monday night, will appear Johnson, Riano and Bentley in the "Monkey's Frolic With the Farmer." This is the only performance of its kind in America, and was one of the leading attractions at the opening of the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Hops Deferred.

[With apologies to the public.]
As early as seven o'clock,
The clouds hurried down to the dock
To see the North West come in.
Of trips back and forth also made 'tween Several times over I swear, Before the North West came in.
'Till she was so nearly dead
That she was entitled to be dead,
When the North West came in.

Band Concert Tonight.

By mistake some locals were run in yesterday's paper saying that a band concert would be held at the Pavilion last night. The locals were intended to go in today and the evening concert mentioned was the one to be held tonight. There will be a concert this Saturday, evening.

A POPULAR ELOCUTIONIST.

Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, of Elkhon, Ohio, Restored to Health.

Mrs. Reynolds, the well-known elocutionist and authoress, says she has suffered with congestion of the lungs, catarrh of the head, and was troubled with a bad cough. She had tried a number of physicians, but they all failed to cure her. She was induced to try Pe-ru-na, and immediately a marked change took place. After using Pe-ru-na her cough ceased, and in a short time her other ailments were cured. She is now completely restored to health, and gives all the credit to Pe-ru-na.

Speaking of lung diseases, Dr. Hartman says in a recent lecture: "For the multitudes of people that I treat annually for every imaginable form of throat and lung diseases, Pe-ru-na is my invariable prescription. People come hundreds of miles at great expense to consult me for acute and chronic coughs, to return home with some advice and a bottle of Pe-ru-na, which they can continue to get at the nearest drug store, and the fame I enjoy in the treatment of such troubles comes from the use of this wonderful compound."

Excursion to South Shore.

Tomorrow will be the last opportunity to see the Christopher Columbus before leaving for Chicago. She will give an excursion to the south shore Sunday afternoon, leaving the shipyard at West Superior at 1:30 p. m. and N. P. dock, Duluth, at 2:30 p. m. sharp, returning from the trip about 6:30. Tickets for sale at principal drug and cigar stores, and at the boat. Fare, 50 cents for round trip.

Your Eyes.

When the eyes are perfectly healthy, of normal vision, the eyes balance each other, no amount of labor or use of the organ ever fatigues it. But if there is the slightest defect, it manifests itself in too soon in the eyes, and the sufferer is relieved by having F. D. Day's optician prescribe the proper glasses.

Will Not Stay at Home.

A little colored boy who gives his name as Alger Straus and his age at 5 years, was in charge of the matron at police headquarters this forenoon. He has been in the care of the colored servant of Mrs. Radcliffe, who says that the little fellow was given her by the boy's mother. The little chap is exceedingly bright, singing, dancing and turning handspins in a most entertaining manner, but he cannot be kept in the house and stays out late at nights on visits to the boats and all around town.

He has been turned over to Thomas Clark and if the belief that the boy has been deserted proves well founded he will be sent to one of the state schools.

Figuring on Building.

A. P. Loring, of Boston, president of the Realty company, and John V. Stone, a director, are in the city. Before they leave something will probably be done towards the erection of an addition to the St. Louis hotel.

At the Pavilion.

During the week of June 11, commencing Monday night, will appear Johnson, Riano and Bentley in the "Monkey's Frolic With the Farmer." This is the only performance of its kind in America, and was one of the leading attractions at the opening of the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Hops Deferred.

ICE IS A BIG WINNER.

Interesting Telephone Conversation Which Was Held with the Office of the Duluth Ice Company.

The Moral, for the Tale Has One, is "If You Want Office Sell Ice."

A Register of the Old Clark House Presents Some Interesting Matter—Some Ledger Accounts.

The Herald has a sort of hypnotic reporter—one who can read thoughts concealed in cunning men's minds, forecast the weather without the use of his rheumatism, hear conversations both ways over the telephone and, by practice, he hopes to catch the best part of the star chamber sessions of the city council without even holding his ear to a steam pipe. Yesterday, as this peculiarly constituted news-gatherer was standing in the doorway to the office of the Duluth Ice company on West Superior street, he heard a little dialogue over the telephone that not only made his sides shake but set all the delivery wagon horses around that block laughing.

"Tin-ling-ling," rang the old-fashioned Bell telephone.

An attaché of the office of the highly democratic ice barons stepped up and grabbed the receiver.

"Hello there," said the Voice at the other end of the line.

"Hello! What do you want?"

"I want to see Fred Ryan. Is he there?"

"Well, no, Mr. Ryan is not here today. In fact he's not here at all any more. You know some months ago Grover Cleveland and Majah Baldwin appointed him receiver of the United States land office. You'll find him up there measuring out homesteads to the honest settlers."

"I'm sorry," said the Voice, "I wanted to make a large contract for ice. I guess Hart will do, though. Please tell him to come to the phone."

"Mr. Hart? Well, he's not here any more either. He was appointed deputy in the custom house the other day by Collector Olund. I'm afraid you'll have to go there to see him."

"Well," exclaimed the Voice in accents most weary, "let me see Capt. Monaghan. Tell him to come to the phone."

"We-oh," said the man at the ice company's end of the telephone, "Mr. Monaghan is not in this office any more either. You see he spent two years before the mass, so his administration is still keeping him busy as inspector of bulls."

"H—!" exclaimed the Voice.

It was against the rules to use English as vigorous as that, but the telephone girl was in that deep sleep which only too often affects telephone girls, so she did not break the connection.

"Well, I guess the bookkeeper will do," said the Voice in feeble accents. "Give me the bookkeeper. Is the bookkeeper there?"

"Yes, the bookkeeper is here, but he's rather busy. Shall I call him?"

"Oh, if he's busy, I'll call him up this afternoon."

"You had better call him up this afternoon or tomorrow, for next week, he's going to take a clerkship in the post office under Mr. Helmski. He'll not be here any longer than tomorrow."

In disgust, the Voice dropped his receiver and the hypnotic reporter thought he heard the sound of sickening thud at the same time. The horses all around the block winked and laughed and the news-gatherer moved on in search of a free lunch counter. He felt the need of sustenance.

"On the evening of Oct. 28, 1880," said Alf Gillon one afternoon recently, "I came into Duluth on the tug John Martin, commanded by Capt. Alf Merritt. It was a cold, chilly day and the waters of the lake were by no means smooth. As we neared port, we saw the blaze of a burning building and the pilot steered our vessel in the light of the flames. It proved to be the old Clark house. It caught fire in the afternoon and by the time we arrived, it had nearly burned out."

"The Clark house was the leading hotel of Duluth in its day. It stood on the same spot that the Metropolitan block now occupies. It had a 3-story front on Superior street and then a long, 2-story extension running back nearly to First street. It is said that some great sights were seen at that fire, but I got in too late to see them. One fellow got drunk and had to be lowered from the top over the front by a rope. Another fellow picked up a bottle of whisky, broke off the bottom on his boot heel and then commenced to drink. A man came up, gave his hand a hard blow, with the result that the sharp edges of the broken bottle cut the bridge of his nose and a circle around the mouth, making gashes that left scars still visible."

"As I stepped up to the scene of the flames a fellow stepped up and said: 'Do you stop here?'"

"I'm going to stop in town," said I.

"Well, take this," said he, and at the same time handed me a book. It proved to be a combined register and ledger of the Clark house. I took it, no one claimed it and it has been in my possession ever since. When I became court officer I put the old book in the vault here, where it has been ever since. There it is. Look at it."

The Herald reporter looked at the ancient record book with deep interest. It is a black bound volume of 261 pages and has a dark call leather back. It does not appear to have been used regularly as a register as it bears a long number of ledger accounts of board and bar goods. It is most likely that it was brought into use when the regular registers were exhausted and a new one had not yet arrived from the book binder.

The first registry of guests bears the date of Oct. 17, 1873, "M. J. Davis, St. Paul," appears in plain letters and "C. F. Leland, Thomson," comes in not much later. October 23, of the same year, Joseph Mannheim, Village of Duluth," is inscribed in regular highly legible characters.

On Wednesday, Oct. 23, 1873, the chief guests were: "John Smith, Smithville;" "Thomas Bardon, Superior;" "S. V. R. Sherwood, Brainerd;" "D. George Morrison, Superior;" "Gen. Naw-gawub, Dayfield," appears in the hand writing of Morrison, presumably from the nature of the name an Indian friend, "Ed Severance, C. E. Dewey, Junction;" "M. Barrow, I. C. R. R.;" "N. B. Hill, Minneapolis;" also appears.

There are a few registrations bearing the date of 1873 and then nothing more appears until 1877. Most of the records for that year are ledger accounts.

"C. C. Brown, N. P. R. R.," stands at the head of one page. The yellow record shows that Duluth's veteran newspaper writer, who was then a train man, was charged $1.25 a day for the privilege of satisfying his appetite at the expense of J. J. Hull, who then was landward. Here's an extract from the record of credits:

May 31, "sandries"..... $ 85

May 11, by cash..... 15

May 11, by one bear..... 10

That was the first time the writer of these lines ever saw a man credited on his board account with a black bear, so he asked Brown about it the other day.

"Yes, I remember that," said Brown. "I got the brute at Island Lake. I paid $10 for and thirty or forty Indians from whom I got it helped load it onto the cars. I brought it in to Duluth and chained it to a post. Soon after a squad of Canadian mounted police came through, and seeing the bear, commenced to tease it by throwing stones. Bruin broke his collar and fled, eventually seeking refuge in the cellar of the Clark house. One of the dining room girls went down cellar and was nearly scared to death when the black brute savaged to take improper liberties with her by giving her a genuine bear hug. When I came in from my next trip a card was posted in the hotel, 'Bear stinks served here today.'"

The ledger is crammed with charges of "sandries." What those "sandries" were, is nowhere explained, but they were not board or meals, for those items are always plainly designated as such. Among the well-known Duluthians charged with sundries appear the names of George C. Stone, Tom Pressnell, H. C. Kendall, Walter Van Brunt, J. D. Howard, and so on ad libitum. In the month of May, 1877, "Frank Burke, Jr.," is charged $4.50 for "sandries" and then appears the charge "to two gallons of paint, $3.00."

In 1877 and 1878, the register shows boarders for not less than a month each, as follows: E. J. O'Sullivan, M. O'Brien, George Spencer, W. W. Billson, A. S. Chase, John Gordon, Thomas McGowan, Mike McCann, A. Morrison, M. Pastoret, Maj. Upham and J. C. Robinson. J. B. Sutphin, Minneapolis," appears on the transient register under date of March 27, 1877.

An Architectural Spree

is the quaint term which Frank D. Miller uses to characterize the Columbian fair at Chicago. The use of stucco as the chief building material enabled the great architects to erect at a minimum of expense, a group of buildings which no old world architect or government could ever have constructed in permanent form. The fair grounds were particularly the huge realization of a sketch, an artist's dream, with temples, colonnades, domes and towers, surpassing beauty and noble proportions, and afforded the most marvelous object lesson in architecture that the world has ever seen. No matter how familiar the visitor might be with the plans and dimensions of the buildings, their ensemble was so perfect that he was always overwhelmed with their grandeur and nobility, and this sentiment only deepened with each fresh inspection.

And now that the Vanishing City has practically disappeared from the face of the earth, it is fortunate that we have so noble and adequate a memorial of it in the "Book of the Builders," which is the authentic history of the World's fair, by the men who built it, preserving the features of the fair in detail and in combination, and giving not only their outlines, but also their richness of color, and the records of their purposes and construction. The Herald's popular edition of this classic of beauty has been prepared by Directors Burnham and Miller, and will be supplied, at a very low price, to our readers only. Such an opportunity was never before given to secure a magnificent and permanently valuable work of art.

The Why and Wherefore.

There is nothing marvelous in the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla should cure so many diseases. When you remember that the majority of the disorders "flesh is heir to" are due to impure or poisonous condition of the blood, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla is an effective and radical blood purifier, the whole thing is explained.

Besides its blood purifying qualities, Hood's Sarsaparilla also contains the best known vegetable stomach tonics, diuretics, kidney remedies and liver stimulants, and is thus an excellent specific for all disorders of these organs, as well as for low condition of the system or that tired feeling.

I have two little grand children who are teething this hot summer weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my housework. Mrs. W. L. Dugan, Bonanza, Hickman county, Tenn. For sale by all druggists.

THE LITERARY ARENA

An Encyclopedia of Current Events and a Valuable Work of Reference to Every Person.

May Forum Had an Argument Favoring Taxation of Church Property and June Has an Answer.

Symposium of Eleven United States Ex-Ministers on the Spoils System in the June Century.

It is impossible in a brief literary note even to outline the topics treated in the Cyclopedic Review of Current History. The field of the publication is world-wide, and embraces a concise and scholarly summing up of all that it is necessary for an intelligent student of the times to know regarding the most recent developments in politics, diplomacy, social and labor movements, science, music, art, literature, etc., etc. It is a veritable encyclopedia of current events, and a most valuable work of reference to which every person in every home must have frequent occasion to refer, and without which, no matter what other publications are taken, no home library can be regarded as complete.

The present number (first quarter, 1894) begins the fifth year of its historical record. It opens with an able sketch of the career of Prince Bismarck, after which are treated in length the Hawaiian, tariff and silver seigniorage questions and the business situation in the United States, the rebellion in Brazil follows a treatment of all the great international questions of the day at home and abroad. The continental divisions of the globe are then taken up, and every conceivable live topic fully presented, with special attention to the United States, Canada and Great Britain.

The various Arctic expeditions, results of astronomical progress, and other scientific matters, new musical and dramatic productions, the leading books from the recent press, etc., are next reviewed, after which are sketched the lives of the eminent dead. Altogether the work is one of the most remarkable productions of the day and cannot be too highly commended for its utility to busy people who desire a sifting of the wheat from the chaff, and an able, interesting and authoritative record of the times in which they live. (Buffalo, N. Y.: Garrettson, Cox & Co. publishers; $1.50 a year; sample copies, 25 cents; specimen pages sent on application.)

The Review of Reviews for June shows the useful flexibility of that keenly edited periodical in adapting itself to the topics of the month. In its department of leading articles it grows together a very remarkable series of digests of important recent essays on various topics pertaining to the political and social status of the world. The articles are always varied and curious collection of caricatures illustrating the history of the month is enriched by a number of cartoons from New Zealand and Australia, some recent essays on various topics pertaining to the political and social status of the world. THE WORLD OF LABOR.

The Trades Assembly Listened to a Report from the Committee to Aid the Tanners.

Statistics on the Apprentice System are Being Gathered Here by the State Labor Bureau.

James McDowell Chosen to Represent the Assembly at Meetings of the Chamber of Commerce.

The regular meeting of the Federated Trades assembly was held last evening. The committee appointed to help the tanners in their efforts to unionize the shop of the McMartin Manufacturing company made a report through Joseph Harmon. He stated that upon invitation he called upon Mr. McMartin and that there seemed a prospect of settling the trouble. Just then Mr. Patterson, a member of the company, came in and became abusive, threatening the committee with bodily injury and even laying hands on a piece of iron for a weapon. That ended the conference. The assembly continued the committee. It was also decided to boycott the Columbus block for the reason that it was built with non-union labor.

Frank Valesh, secretary of the state bureau of labor statistics, was at the meeting and gave an interesting explanation of his work here. Statistics on the apprentice system are being gathered by the bureau. Magazine articles of late have criticized the American apprentice system as barring Americans from the trades. The statistics now being gathered are to show the legislation upon this system, the length of time the apprentice serves in each trade, and the methods of instruction used. Mr. Valesh asked the co-operation of the assembly in his work.

The assembly decided to send a delegate to the chamber of commerce. James McDowell was chosen. It is expected that this step will be of great value to members of organized labor and the leading members of the assembly look upon it as a very wise step.

The working card rules were adopted and the president of the assembly was given authority to distribute them. A committee was appointed to wait upon the city council and ask that the revocation of the $65 paid monthly to Professor Metcalf, the City band, be reconsidered. The delegates from the Carpenters union reported that an open meeting will be held next Monday evening and that appropriate addresses will be made by John Arnold Keyes and Frank Valesh. Delegates from the Waiters' union were received and given the obligation, and the application of the Horse Shoe association to affiliate was acted upon favorably. A committee was also appointed to ask the Woodruff Clothing company to remove its advertisement from a non-union paper in Superior.

WHAT IS BEFORE US?

"The Times are Ripe and Rotten Ripe for Change."

Is the condition surrounding the common people of this country such as breeds uncontrollable discontent if allowed to operate to its extreme limits upon its victims? He who is familiar with the awful misery and hopelessness of the disinherited workers, who has watched the terrible look of despair creep over the faces of the men and women who sit at bare boards and before empty grates, can give but one answer to this query.

The times are ripe and rotten ripe for change. Poohpooh it as you may, there is nothing but truth in the declaration that the men and women whose industry has made this country the fairest and most fruitful on earth have been robbed of the products of their toil, and many of them are left to fight starvation in the midst of the wealth they have helped to create. They have tried in their honest, confiding way to secure protection in their rights from the legislative powers of the land and have been told that "this is not a paternal government. What you ask is in direct conflict with the spirit of our institutions. We legislate for the whole people, not for a special class." And the poor wretches have gone their weary way, hoping against hope, while the night grew darker and the storms gathered.

To come right down to the present, congress has been in session during all these months that the people's condition has gone from bad to worse until it has reached for hundreds of thousands the very worst, and not a step has been taken by that supreme power of the land to improve the situation or inspire the sinking hearts with hope. Not one starving child has been saved by act of that guardian of the people's welfare. Not one suicidal impulse has been staid. Our statesmen (?) have strutted up and down the aisles of the senate's capitol, mouthing their flapdoodle and buncombe, or pulled wires at the dictation of their plutocratic bosses, or revelled in the cheap excitement of a sham tariff battle, all the time drawing their salaries with scrupulous punctuality, while the people, whose servants they are supposed to be, were crying, "Do something, for God's sake, to aid us in unloading the terrible burden of misery we are carrying."

Is it any wonder that confidence in a government whose direct representatives have proved so indifferent or recalcitrant is weakened till there is little if any of it left? The feeling that those who have control of the machinery of state are either faithless or incompetent is not confined to the poorer classes. Disgust is shown on the countenances of those who see beyond the immediate direful effects of the do nothing policy of our statesmen when the American congress is mentioned. Only the Shyllocks wear the smile of contentment. No work is their work. Can you wonder, then, that there is dissatisfaction with the existing order—disorder—and that there are mutterings which are full of portent? Veterans whose scars were gained in battling for the old flag, sons whose fathers died to perpetuate this Union, are tramping the land sanctified by the blood of the common people, who are the only sure resort in the hour of attack from an enemy. These men are studying the Declaration of American Independence, and of late the following from that grand document has sunk deep into their minds:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident—that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

Says one honest old soldier in a recent letter to the writer, "At times I have serious doubts about there ever being another election of the old bunko style." In another place he says: "Two contingents for Coxe's army have already been sent from here. The third and most formidable movement, containing more than 2,000 determined men, is now in full swing. We are thoroughly organized and drilling every night." This information comes from a western city, and there is much more of the same kind that the people of the east know nothing about.

It would be as foolish to say that the Coxe "army" is a fair index of the feeling throughout the country as to believe that Coxe himself is the appointed spokesman of the discontented. Coxe and his "army" were just as much surprised to the great masses of the dissatisfied as to the well-to-do citizens, and the novelty of their proceedings lasted just as long with the former as with the latter. But as John Brown's little band was, by force of circumstances, afterward adopted as the advance guard in the antislavery movement by those who considered him necessary for the cause as criminally absurd, so may the Coxe "army" be recorded by future historians as the thin edge of the wedge which was driven home by the herculean blows delivered by the millions who struck for freedom from their plutocratic masters.

Already have ridicule and indifference turned to pity and sympathy for the marching fragments of the "army of peace." The poor devil who has been tricked and bamboozled when he turned to the powers that be for help must necessarily feel an admiration for the humble man from his own ranks who faces the scoffs and scourgings of a bribed press and truculent civil and military authority to voice the wrongs of the poor and oppressed.

Think you the masses will be satisfied to begin with sympathy and end with admiration while the conditions which made the "commonweal" possible change only to become worse? Has human nature taken on a new form just now to fit it for some submission to wrongs against which man has always revolted, or do the shackles of the oppressor bruise the flesh and goad the spirit as they have ever done?

Unless a change comes shortly, one way or the other, the summer and autumn just in front of us will find a people in want that there have been during the terrible winter we have passed through, and the destitution and misery of next winter will exceed in their horror all previous records. The power of prophecy is not needed to foresee this awful picture. The people feel what is in store for them if something is not done, and that quick! Will they crawl back tamely into their miserable surroundings if Congress refuses to heed the petitions that are being presented to it, or will they take up arms against a sea of trouble, and, by opposing, end them?—J. B. BUCHANAN in New York Press.

POVERTY AND WEALTH.

The Man Who Controls Another's Labor Is Master of His Life.

Poverty, instead of being mainly the fault of the weak, has in all ages been the consequence of the unrestricted exercise of power by the strong. Wealth has sometimes resulted from the legal establishment of privileged classes. Monarchy and nobility are the outcome of a king's rule because he has secured control of the political power of a realm. A hereditary nobility results always from the fact that there has been some combination of individuals who have been able to wrest from the body of the people some portion of the power that rightfully belongs in an equal degree to each.

This division of society into legalized classes of varying right and distinctive privileges is merely the result of unrestricted physical or political competition, but the inevitable consequences of perpetuating such inequalities by grant or prescription is ultimately to destroy competition.

What is true of hereditary rank is also true of wealth, which is merely the control of accumulated surplus. One man has the capacity and the luck to make large accumulations. Another, of more power in other directions perhaps, is deficient in that quality. The one acquires the power which capital gives. Adam Smith aptly defines wealth to be "the power to control the labor of the country," and the man who controls another's labor controls the life of him who has no other convertible possession. This power society in a hundred ways perpetuates, so that conditions become permanent even in a republic to almost the same degree as rank in a monarchy, and we have a rich and a poor class. Men rise, it is true, out of the one into the other or fall back from wealth into poverty. The same was true in feudal times. Lords rose and fell with every change of monarchical fortune and as the result of feudal strife. But as or-dermost rank became less frequent and the rise to legal privilege more difficult and infrequent. In like manner, as civilization increases, the transformation of the worker into the employer, or of the poor man into a rich man, becomes more and more infrequent.—Albion W. Tounge.

Squeezing Them Down.

The Brooklyn Elevated Railroad company has just another reduction in the wages of its employees by cutting down the hours of work. Nearly all the stations are in charge of women agents in the daytime, and they have worked from 5 a. m. to 5 p. m. for $10 a week. Hereafter they will work from 5 a. m. to 3 p. m. and get $8.40 a week. The men have worked from 5 p. m. to 5 a. m. for $14 a week, or $3 a day. They will now work from 3 p. m. to 1 a. m. and get $1.07 a day. From 1 a. m. to 5 a. m. the stations will be in charge of the porters, and no tickets will be sold. The conductors will collect fares.

One of the employees said that they must stand the cut in wages or resign, as there were hundreds of men who were ready to take their pay cut down from $2.40 a day to $2, with the understanding that as soon as business picked up there would be an increase. Then a few women were appointed day agents at $10 a week, and now all the day agents were women. It was probable that women would soon be put on as night agents also, since they would not have to work after 1 a. m. The station porters get $1 a day. All the employees complain that they are underpaid, and that, even at the meager rates, it is seldom that a full week's work is done so as to secure a full week's pay.

Human Labor at Great Altitudes.

Investigation among the workmen on the Peruvian Central railroad has brought some curious facts to light concerning the capabilities of men to labor in rarefied atmosphere. The line starts at Lima, in latitude 12 degrees, and the highest point reached by the road is at the summit of Galera, which is 15,645 feet above the sea level. From deductions made by the investigators it appears that the men were able to perform a fair "sea level" day's work at any place along the route where the altitude was not greater than 8,000 or 10,000 feet, providing they had gradually worked up to that height from lower levels. At altitudes above 10,000 feet and under 12,000 the amount of work performed by each man showed a sudden falling off of from one-fourth to one-third, and at 13,000 to 15,000 feet 100 men would do no more work than 50 would do at sea level.

The commonweal movement, if it is "insignificant," "bound to be a fizzle," as said, still occupies considerable space in every daily newspaper, with news from different parts of the country where various divisions are progressing—reminding one of the war news so eagerly read 30 years ago—and editorials as to the whys and wherefores of the question. Still it is scarcely safe to expect to write about anything but a daily. Before this reaches your readers some unlooked for and important event may have transpired which will put a new phase on the matter, or the legions, discouraged and disheartened with suffering, may be scattering, sinking away from a prominent, collective, purposeful misery to an obscure, isolated, despairing one. But at this writing the various countries are in a state of hope and hopefulness and more patient and enduring than any moving body of men since the days of the crusades. I thought of those old, simple hearted devotees starting on their vague mission, so ill equipped, so ignorant of the distance and the dangers before them, when we watched Randall's band of men silently walking out of the city. Nothing more impressive than that still, sad march ever occurred here. Uniformed knights, princesses with appropriately magnificent following, conquering heroes and World's fair ceremonies have filled the city with noise, motion and color, but all these quickly pass from one's memory. That strange procession of joyless men—men with rugged faces and pallid eyes, their very worn clothing and broken shoes telling of a sad dignity, marching with a sort of hopeless determination to meet they knew not what, to a goal they can scarcely define, without a tap of drum or ringing note of music to mark their steps, not a cheer or shout, only a quiet salute when they passed the women who had befriended them—was a sight never to be forgotten. Its memory will go with a few of the spectators to deepen their sympathies and devotion while they live.

And elsewhere the deep determination, the quiet endurance of every hard fate which characterize these men are making a deep impression on the hearts of the people. Instances of quiet heroism are already numerous. That third day's march of Randall's men—think of it, you who hurry home to a warm fire and dry clothing, if caught in a light shower—all day the steady tramp continued under a pouring rain, over heavy roads, until every poor man was drenched through and through; then a night on a bleak hill sheltered by a few stunted oaks, with no supper, no fire, not a dry thread of clothing or bedding, only a resting place under the dark, weeping elms, on the sodden earth. Men who can uncomplainingly go on their way after such an experience are either endowed with a dauntless courage and purpose, or they know there is nothing better to return to, and in either case there is no answer that can be given them.

Men laboriously moving along on poorly constructed, open flatbeds, men marching sore footed through tedious highways, men arrested for stealing the use of a train, men thrown into jail for walking into a crowd, leaders imprisoned for stepping on grass and for wearing a badge, peace soldiers forced to camp in malarious marshes, armies springing up everywhere and starting empty handed toward one central point, depending on a misinformed, often prejudiced, people for food to keep life within them—this is the monotonous situation as I write. And no one knows what a day may bring forth.

Who or what was it set this tremendous ball rolling? The time was ripe for it, or it would not have shaken the poised rocks as it has. Was it not Joseph R. Buchanan who first raised the cry of "On to Washington!" a cry that was taken up here, there and everywhere until the continent rang with the echoes? While brave Coxe was the primo mover, it was this cry that thrilled the pulses of hopeless men from ocean to ocean and set them all marching in a crusade this modern world never expected to see? After this it was too late to call them back, to denounce the movement as vain and impractical, to check them with epithets and misrepresentations.

The time had come when some movement was necessary. Under the strong tension in which people were waiting with struggles, strikes, idleness and starvation on every hand, it was evident that something must happen. Happily that something was this, or it might have been something a great deal worse. "Fanatical, vain, foolish," though it has been pronounced, it was one alternative. It was the least of a variety of evils. It was the inevitable "next step." Had not this popular appeal to government been made, or later men grown desperate by waiting would have leaped over this stage and gone direct to that more desperate and terrible remedy which may now be avoided if our statesmen are wise.

The movement is even yet misunderstood. Many of the towns, years back of the age, run behind their locked doors and refuse to obey Christ's command to feed the hungry. They send their constables to arrest or scare the army away, or they tightly grip out from their strongholds: "Oh, go away! Why don't you disband and go home? You can't do yourselves any good doing this way. Do, please, go home."

They cannot be made to realize the seriousness of the situation; that these men have no home to go to.

Sometime ago I was troubled with an attack of rheumatism. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and was completely cured. I have since advised many of my friends and customers to try the remedy and all speak highly of it. Simon Goldbaum, San Luis Rey, Cal. For sale by all druggists.

CARDINE

(HAMMOND.)

The Extract of the Heart of the Ox

Prepared according to the formula of Dr. Wm. A. Hammond.

In his laboratory at

WASHINGTON, D. C.

"In the heart beat was feeble and irregular, and there was a constant trembling, shivering, or even while in standing position. In this case the relief was equally prompt. He remained under my care only three days, being summoned home by telegram by sickness in his family, after making arrangements to procure a sufficient quantity of Cardine for home use, and I advised him to take it for at least a month. He arrived home before the Cardine reached him, and feeling the need of it, he at once telegraphed for it to be sent to him as soon as possible. He informed me that the effect upon his system was most beneficial, and that he was able to walk even a few steps for fear of fainting, and that he was able to sleep. He was able to walk as much as he pleased for four or five hours afterwards."

GROW OLD GRACEFULLY

There is no Reason Why You May Not Do So.

WHAT SCIENCE HAS DONE.

It is Now Possible to Live a Great Many Years, and Still be Young in Spirit and Vigorous in Body.

"He doesn't look half his age," said a lady recently when she was told that a bright, active business man was nearly 70 years old. "I have seen many a young man who was much older in manner than he is."

It was a wise woman who made this remark, for old age is not a disease. There are thousands of aged men and women who daily prove the truth of this by their splendid health and sound constitutions. There are just as many young people who appear old before their time. Some people are full of ambition and physical strength; others, for no apparent reason, are weak and gloomy. There is a secret in it, of course, and this secret has been discovered. Many people have found it out, and the knowledge has endowed them with health, strength and vitality.

Ex-Governor Thomas Alford, of Syracuse, N. Y., is one of those fortunate persons over 80 years of age who find themselves strong and vigorous late in life. He was lately asked to tell the secret of his wonderful constitution, unimpaired by age or infirmities. In reply he said:

"A number of years ago I first in my life felt tired and literally worn out. I felt a sense of weight and fulness in the lower part of the body, followed by a dull, throbbing pain, and accompanied with a sensation of feverish heat, or a chilly shudder. At times fever seemed to establish itself, then all the symptoms of a general reaction would manifest themselves. I suffered from a general weakness and an effort to move my limbs or body was attended with a feeling of weariness and exhaustion."

"My whole organization, in fact, seemed to be going on strike. I was unable to obtain relief, except by lying flat upon my back, and even this relief was only temporary. I was really in a very serious condition, being not only unable to move, but to my bed the greater part of the time."

"I determined to take my case into my own hands, and therefore procured a scientific remedy of which I had heard a great deal. I seemed to be benefited by its use, and I continued until now I am completely restored to health by its means. I am satisfied that for physical ailments, and especially those incident to declining years, there is nothing equal to Warner's Safe Cure, which restored and has preserved my health."

Mrs. Sarah R. Aiken is one of the oldest settlers in Carlisle, Ind., where she is highly esteemed and respected. This lady recently said:

"In my opinion Warner's Safe Cure is the king of all remedies. It worked wonders for me. Of course, it cannot restore youth for I am now 74 years old, but it has made the latter end of my life worth living. For six years previous to 1880 I suffered with disease of the liver and kidneys, general debility, a tired feeling and more or less backache. I took quite a number of bottles of the Safe Cure, and as stated above, it made my life worth living by completely curing me. I now take it for every kind of sickness and keep it in the house all the time. My husband died of typhoid fever and his death's disease eleven years ago, and I have since regretted that I did not get the Safe Cure for him, as there is no question in my mind that he would have been alive today had I done so."

Can you not see how easy it is to preserve the vitality even to the later years of life and are you not desirous of doing so?

BICYCLIST A. H. BARNETT.

Ten Thousand People Saw Him Win the Irvington-Milburn Road Race.

A. H. Barnett of the Elizabeth (N. J.) Wheelmen is the swift young man who recently won on record as the winner of the great Irvington-Milburn road race for 1894. Ten thousand people saw him flash by the judges and in an instant leap from obscurity to cycling fame. His victory was doubly meritorious, for he not only captured the race, but in the best time over 100 course, and thus won the time prize. The total value of his winnings is about $100.

Barnett covered the 23 miles in 1 hour 11 minutes and 18 seconds, breaking the record made last year by G. M. Murphy by four minutes and clipping 10 seconds.

from the alleged world's record made in the Lincoln road race not long ago by Nat Butler. The time made by Barnett shows him to be a remarkably hardy rider and proves, too, that he could have beaten many of the men who gave him the benefit of handicaps had he ridden on equal terms with them. He rode from the four minute mark.

Barnett ascribes his success in part to the fact that he was not overtrained. Last year he trained very hard for the race and could get no better than thirty-fifth place. This year he was only about two-thirds trained and pedaled home a winner. He did not reach the head of the procession until the last mile, and for quite a distance rode opposite the leading man, W. C. Boone, who started from the eight minute mark. A quarter of a mile from home Barnett spurred, winning by five lengths from H. A. Allen of Ashbury Park, N. J.

AT THE PLAYHOUSE

McGibeny Family, Musical and Dramatic Artists, at the Temple Tomorrow in "Princess of Trebizond."

Corse Payton's Dramatic Company Will Fill Next Week at the Temple, Presenting Society Dramas.

"The Blackmailers," by Two Young Disciples of Oscar Wilde, is Reported Tedious and Purposeless.

Tomorrow night the McGibeny family will present the "Princess Trebizond" at the Temple. The Indianapolis Journal says:

"The McGibeny family are all of one household, and each is a musical phenomenon. There is no instrument too difficult for them to play, or too exciting for them to sing, and all done with the most marvelous effect and correct execution. They play on brass instruments, on reed instruments and string instruments, both as a band and individually, and they play all grades and classes of music from the simple plaintive little 'Old Oaken Bucket' to selections from Wagner's 'Die Gotterdammerung' and 'Nibelungen.' They range in ages from the little 5-year-old tot, who thumps the big brass drum, to the father, it is a performance that every husband should take his wife to, every father his children and every young man his sweetheart. All lovers of first-class music will find it a genuine treat and will be sure to tell their neighbors of it."

A WEEK OF DRAMA.

Corse Payton and His Company Will Present Society Comedies.

The comedian, singer and dancer, Cyre Payton, assisted by a competent company of players, including the beautiful and talented actress, Miss Etta Reed, will commence a week's engagement at the Temple Opera house on Monday next in the society comedy-drama in five acts entitled "The Prussian Princess," with Miss Reed in the title role, in which she shows remarkable versatility as an actress. Mr. Payton has the long comedy which furnishes amusement by its inimitable songs and dances. The supporting company is said to be first class and includes Miss Grace, Edna, Miss Doris, James F. Fulton, Will A. Howatt, Boston Williams, Ashley Rush, Frank M. Baldwin, Walter Dauphin and David J. Ramage. The company carries special scenery, handsome stage decorations, bric-a-brac, etc., and is the only company playing at cheap prices that carries its own calcium light plant and uses it at every performance.

A new play will be produced each evening with the same family Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. "East Linn," or "The Elopement" will be the bill for Wednesday afternoon and "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" on Thursday. On Monday evening ladies will be admitted free when accompanied by a 30-cent ticket if purchased before 6 p. m. of that day.

AT THE LONDON THEATERS.

"The Blackmailers," a Play by Two Young Disciples of Oscar Wilde.

[Copyrighted, 1894, by the Associated Press.] LONDON, June 9.—Charles Thurbury gave his expected special matinee at the Prince of Wales theater on Thursday, and produced the new play of the two youthful members of the Oscar Wilde school, John Grey and Andre Raffo- vich, entitled "The Blackmailers." The play, in its preliminary announcements, was described as being of "strong dramatic interest," and turning upon the vagaries of a young man who, under the influence of blackmailers, is driven to crime. The performance, however, turned out to be a most tedious and purposeless presentation. The repulsive story outlined by the disciples of Oscar Wilde was without merit of any kind. The authors of "The Blackmailers" were called before the curtain at the close of the play, but they did not appear, being apparently very distrustful of the spirit of the compliment intended for them.

The run of "Utopia, Limited" at R. d'Oyley Carte's Savoy theater comes to an end. The new opera which is to follow "Utopia, Limited," at the Savoy will probably be produced on June 10 or June 23. The title at present selected is that of "Mirette." The libretto, which has been done into English by Fred Weatherly and Harry Greenbank, is the work of M. Michel Carré, author of "L'Enfant Prodigue." The music is by M. Andre Messager of "La Basochie" fame.

The princess of Wales and daughters and other members of the royal family were present at the charming presentation of Jonotha's concert, at the Daly's theater on Tuesday. Hobbes and Morris' "Journeys End in Love's Meeting" was exquisitely acted by Ellen Terry, Forbes Roberson and William Terris, and met with an enthusiastic reception. Two pretty songs, the words by Lord Beaconsfield and the music by Princess Beatrice (Princess Henry of Battenberg) were sung by Amy Sherwin and Antonette Sterling.

Mme. Melba has created a furore at Covent Garden in "Faust" and "Lucia di Lammermoor." The latter was revived specially for Mme. Melba. Verdi's new production will be a departure consisting of a series of eight prayers to the madonna for chorus and orchestra words by Dotti. They will be presented at a full mass, to be celebrated upon the occasion of the festival of San Antonio, at Padua, next year.

"Little Ruby" Johnson, the baby dancer from New England, has taken the honors of Old England's royalty by storm and is the leading attraction of the small army of infantile wonders at present before the British public. The tiny American wonder has already had the honor of appearing at Marlborough house before the prince and princess of Wales, and before the duke and duchess of Teck and other members of the royal family, in addition to delighting crowds of members of the aristocracy in the most distinguished salons of the metropolis.

There has been a perfect glut of concerts this season, with the result that artists other than those of the Patti, Padreczewski and Joachim order stand very little chance of receiving more than casual notice in the papers.

The "infant phenomenon" has been very much to the front recently and recitals by performers under 10 years old are of almost daily occurrence. Of future concerts, two of the most interesting are to be given by Hayden Coffin and Arthur Somervell on June 18 and June 20. The first of these takes place at St. James hall and Mr. Coffin will have the assistance of Miss Marguerite Hall, Miss Agnes Jansen and Edward Lloyd, Plunkett Green, Lawrence Kellic and the little "cellist" Jean Gerard.

Arthur Somervell, who is well known as a composer of graceful songs, will be assisted at his concert by Miss Fanny Davis, Mrs. Henschel, Miss Marguerite Hall, Leonard Berwick and Mr. Shakespear.

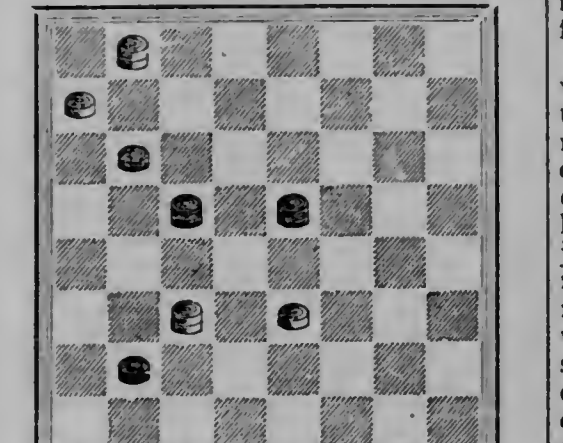

The manager of the Independent Theater society announces a play for next season by Edward Fordham Spence, the dramatic critic of the Westminster Gazette and other papers. The play deals with the marital relations of a young girl who is driven into marriage with a wealthy old man, and the subject is kindled with some audacity in a realistic style. There may possibly be a little difficulty with the censor, but Mr. Spence has no objection to the play. A "Consecrated Bargain" will doubtless get through. The author is one of the young school of critics and has reached an important position rapidly. He is the son of the late James Spence, of Liverpool, whose book on the great civil war, entitled "The American Union," excited immense discussion, and resulted in his appointment with the late Beresford Hope as the English representative of the Confederates.

His son, after being called to the bar, took up dramatic criticism while waiting for briefs. He first represented Society at the theater and then the Daily Graphic, and the Pall Mall Gazette. On the purchase of the last named paper by William Waldorf Astor, Mr. Spence followed the fortunes of his old editor and went on the Westminster Gazette. His wife has also become a journalist since her marriage and her work signed "Binocle" sometimes appears in the sketch side by side with that of her husband's pseudonym "Monocle."

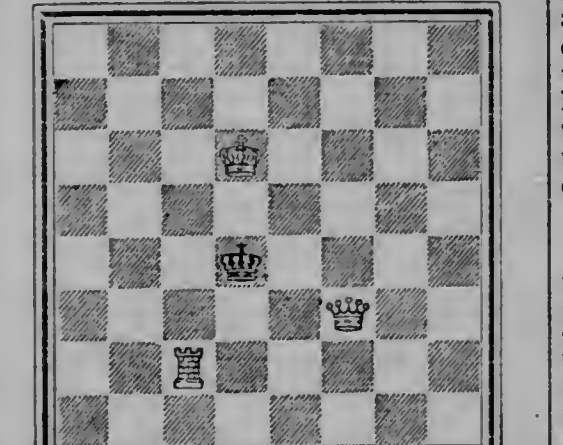

On June 21 a matinee in aid of the Theatrical Choralists association is to be given at the Lyric theater, which has been kindly lent for the occasion by Horace Sedgwick.
